Bilingualism offers an up to date view of the leading research questions in the study of bilingualism today Languages in Africa Elizabeth C. Zsiga,One Tlale Boyer,Ruth Kramer,2015-03-03 People in many African communities live within a series of concentric circles when it comes to language In a small group a speaker uses an often unwritten and endangered mother tongue that is rarely used in school A national indigenous language written widespread sometimes used in school surrounds it An international language like French or English a vestige of colonialism carries prestige is used in higher education and promises mobility and yet it will not be well known by its users The essays in Languages in Africa explore the layers of African multilingualism as they affect language policy and education Through case studies ranging across the continent the contributors consider multilingualism in the classroom as well as in domains ranging from music and film to politics and figurative language The contributors report on the widespread devaluing and even death of indigenous languages They also investigate how poor teacher training leads to language related failures in education At the same time they demonstrate that education in a mother tongue can work linguists can use their expertise to provoke changes in language policies and linguistic creativity thrives in these multilingual communities The Handbook of Bilingualism Tej K. Bhatia,William C. Ritchie,2008-06-09 The Handbook of Bilingualism provides state of the art treatments of the central issues that arise in consideration of the phenomena of bilingualism ranging from the representation of the two languages in the bilingual individual s brain to the various forms of bilingual education including the status of bilingualism in each area of the world Provides state of the art coverage of a wide variety of topics ranging from neuro and psycho linguistic research to studies of media and psychological counseling Includes latest assessment of the global linguistic situation with particular emphasis on those geographical areas which are centers of global conflict and commerce Explores new topics such as global media and mobile and electronic language learning Includes contributions by internationally renowned researchers from different disciplines genders and ethnicities Cognate Vocabulary in Language Acquisition and Use Agnieszka Otwinowska,2016 This book brings together linguistic psycholinguistic and educational perspectives on the phenomenon of cognate vocabulary across languages It discusses extensive qualitative and quantitative data on Polish English cognates and their use by learners users of English to show the importance of cognates in language acquisition and learning Cognitive Perspectives on Bilingualism Monika Reif,Justyna A. Robinson,2016-04-25 Only 15 years ago bilingualism was somewhat outside the main debates in cognitive linguistics Cognitive linguistics had to a large extent taken for granted the fact that language is embodied in our experience However not much attention was given to questions of whether any changes to our language repertoire alter the way we perceive the world around us A growing body of recent research suggests that one cannot understand the cognitive foundations of language without looking at bi and multilingual speakers In this vein the present book aims to contribute to the existing debate of the relationship between language culture and cognition by assessing differences and similarities between monolingual and bilingual language acquisition and use In particular it investigates the effect of conceptual semantic and pragmatic properties of constructions on code choice and code switching as well as the impact of bilingual and bicultural education on speakers cognitive development This collective volume systematises reviews and promotes a range of theoretical perspectives and research techniques that currently inform work across the disciplines of bilingualism and code switching

Portraits of the L2 User Vivian Cook,2002 Portraits of the L2 User treats second language users in their own right rather than as failed native speakers It describes a range of psychological and linguistic approaches to diverse topics about L2 users It thus provides an overview of current second language acquisition theories results and methods seen from a common perspective Jacket

Cross-Linguistic Structures in Simultaneous Bilingualism Susanne Döpke,2001-02-12 This volume explores the implications of cross linguistic structures in simultaneous bilingualism It aims to find cognitive explanations for the presence or absence of cross linguistic structures that go beyond the debate of one system or two The contributors present syntactic morphological and phonological features that are found in bilingual children but are untypical of monolingual development and discuss pertinent methodological issues The orientation of this volume stands out from competing volumes in the field in that the focus is not limited to similarities between monolingual and bilingual first language acquisition The volume will be of interest to researchers in the field of bilingualism and primary language acquisition language theorists and professionals working with bilingual populations

Facing Diversity in Child Foreign Language Education Joanna Rokita-Jaśkow,Agata Wolanin,2021-04-29 This edited book uses the concept of diversity in child foreign language education as a major organizing principle Since a foreign language most typically English is taught globally to an increasing number of children the variability in the process and varied learning outcomes are inescapable phenomena This book has been constructed on the premise that heterogeneity first concerns young language learners who due to the disparity in the pace of development need appropriately tailored educational solutions and second it refers to a diversity of contexts in which learning takes place The contexts can be defined on a macroscale e g different countries mesoscale e g different institutions and microscale e g specific learner groups The book consists of four thematic strands In Part One the learner internal causes of heterogeneity of young language learners are clarified Part Two presents a sample of classroom studies in which learner variables such as gender learner preferences and special needs are taken into account Part Three looks at teaching materials and how they meet learners needs Finally Part Four highlights diversity issues that teachers should be prepared to face

Individual Differences in Second Language Learning Leah Roberts,Antje

Meyer,2012-09-25 Every teacher knows that learners are notoriously variable in how successful they are at acquiring a new language This interdisciplinary volume questions what it is that makes each of us good or bad at learning a second language Offers a broad overview of current theories key findings and methodological approaches in the field Brings together research from language teaching and assessment psycholinguistics and the neurobiology of language Provides a sound empirical basis for the development of assessment tools and teaching strategies and sheds new light on the language learning process Investigates how people differ from each other in how they approach language learning and in doing so goes beyond other studies which focus primarily on the behavior of groups of learners

The Multilingual Lexicon Jasone Cenoz,Britta Hufeisen,U. Jessner,2007-05-28 This book is unique because it explores the multilingual lexicon by providing insights from research studies conducted in psycholinguistics applied linguistics and neurolinguistics It goes beyond the use of two languages and thus concentrates on a new and developing area in linguistic research The different perspectives provide a link to the mainstream work on the lexicon and vocabulary acquisition and will stimulate further debate in these areas and in the study of multilingualism
