Agroforestry for the Management of Waterlogged Saline Soils and Poor-Quality Waters Jagdish Chander Dagar, Paramjit Minhas, 2016-02-11 Land degradation caused by salinity and waterlogging is a global problem afflicting about one billion hectares and endangering the food security of at least 75 countries. Since the social, economic, and environmental costs of on and off farm reclamation techniques are high, agroforestry is now emerging as a potential tool not only for arresting salinity and waterlogging but also for other environmental services like mitigating climate change, sequestering carbon, and restoring biodiversity. This publication addresses the vital issues, principles, and practices related to rehabilitation using agroforestry and includes many site-specific case studies from a number of the world's typical catchments. Written by leading researchers, the book is a must not only for scientists whose research interests lie in soil salinity, waterlogging, and poor quality waters but also for policy makers, environmentalists, students, and educationists alike. More importantly, it contributes to reversing the salinity trends and ensuring the livelihoods of resource-poor farming families living in these harsh agro-ecosystems.
