Creatively ambitious and sexually precocious at twenty-five, she was a poet, aspiring novelist, and muse on the peripheries of Melbourne's bohemian salons until one night in 1930 she was brutally slain by an unknown killer in a laneway while walking home. Her family was implicated. Those in her circle, including her acclaimed artist lover Colin Colahan, were shamed. Her memory was anxiously suppressed. Yet the mystery of her death rendered more mysterious her life, and Mollie's story lingered, incorporated into memoir, literature, television, theatre, and song, most notably in George Johnston's classic My Brother Jack. In A Scandal in Bohemia, Gideon Haigh explodes the true crime genre with a murder story about life as well as death. Armed with only a single photograph and echoes of Mollie's voice, he has reassembled the precarious life of a talented woman without a room of her own, a true outsider excluded by the very world that celebrated her in its art. In this work of restorative justice, Mollie Dean emerges as a tenacious, charismatic, independent woman for whom society had no place and whom everybody tried to forget but nobody could. Haigh's narrative takes shape through powerful layers of association as much a portrait of Mollie's life and death as it is a portrayal of the city and the society in which she lived. Australian Book Review In this latest addition to his true crime oeuvre, Melbourne journalist and polymath Gideon Haigh attempts to uncover Dean's life as well as her death; the book is a fascinating exploration. The Saturday Paper Meanjin Vol 83, No 2 Esther Anatolitis, 2024-06-14 Meanjin writers diagnose an Australian democracy in trouble, challenging us to activate as critical thinkers and citizens and playing with our expectations of what comes next. Not one constitution but three constitutions in a trenchcoat is an incisive essay by constitutional and international law experts Emily Crawford and Elisa Arcioni. Michelle Soweby looks at developing children's critical thinking. Patrick Marlborough exposes the precarious role of freelance journalism in holding power to account. Gerald Roche addresses the suppression of Indigenous language rights while Aidan Hookey takes us to Uluḷu and wonders why the local signage treats even First Peoples as tourists. Teaching Australian Literature Brenton Doecke, Larissa McLean Davies, Philip Mead, 2011

What role should Australian literature play in the school curriculum What principles should guide our selection of Australian texts To what extent should concepts of the nation and a national identity frame the study of Australian writing What do we imagine Australian literature to be How do English teachers go about engaging their students in reading Australian texts This volume brings together teachers teacher educators creative writers and literary scholars in a joint inquiry that takes a fresh look at what it means to teach Australian literature The immediate occasion for the publication of these essays is the implementation of The Australian Curriculum English which several contributors subject to critical scrutiny In doing so they question the way that literature teaching is currently being constructed by standards based reforms not only in Australia but elsewhere The essays assembled in this volume transcend the divisions that have sometimes marred debates about the place of Australian literature in the school curriculum They all recognise the complexity of what secondary English teachers do in their efforts to engage young people in a rich and meaningful curriculum They also highlight the need for both secondary and tertiary educators to cultivate an awareness of the cultural and intellectual traditions that mediate their professional practice and to encourage a critically responsive pedagogy

The Sirens Song Kristel

Thornell, 2022-09-07 A beautiful novel from award winning writer Kristel Thornell The Siren Song is about the haunting force of love and desire that ricochets between lives across generations and through time It is a portrait of Australian longing Katoomba early 1990s Heather and David are two young people on the brink of adulthood drawn together by their study of Italian David is smitten with Heather but has no idea how she feels about him They have something in common besides Italian both children of struggling single mothers who have raised them through a series of grungy share houses in the inner west of Sydney before moving to the Blue Mountains At a festive evening to celebrate Heather s final exam something happens that will change their lives forever Sydney early 1970s Jan the unconfident daughter of working class parents and the first in her family to go to university strikes up a friendship with bohemian assured Alicia They quickly become close But one night down by the Blackwattle Bay the night of Gough Whitlam s dismissal things go badly awry A tender and poignant novel about longing and the way in which it echoes down the generations The Siren Song tells of desire how it haunts and affects us and how from generation to generation there are echoes overlaps and intersections in how we love who we love and why we love as we repeat the same patterns around love desire longing and compulsion over and over again like moths
