Gregor Mendel was an Austrian monk famous for his laws and predictions describing inheritance through sexual reproduction. To better understand how and which traits are passed from parent to offspring, many observations were necessary. To visualize the results of multiple matings, Mendel needed a sexual organism that produced many offspring. His choice was the pea plant.

Many plants (including peas) are sexual reproducers. To fully appreciate Mendel's techniques and findings, it is important to understand the sexual structures, gametes and reproductive strategies of flowering plants. A thorough flower dissection will reveal many of these.

A dissection is meant to afford an opportunity to get a first-hand look at how a living thing is put together. Drawings will be necessary. Labeled sketches are an important method for confirming observations. The purpose of the drawings is to show how the main structures of the organism relate to each other. Drawings do not need to be of "art" quality, but they must be neatly done and labeled.

Background Information:

Every flower consists of a set of adaptations that help to ensure successful reproduction. For example, flowers often have bright colors, attractive shapes, and pleasing aromas. These traits help them attract insects and other animals that will carry pollen grains from flower to flower. Pollination also occurs by means other than animals carrying the pollen. For some flowering plants, the wind plays an important role in transferring pollen from plant to plant. The seed-bearing plants that produce flowers are angiosperms. The flower produces the seeds, each of which contains a new plant embryo. The parts of the flower are usually found in whorls, or rings. Petals are one of the sets of whorls. They attract pollinators. Sepals lie outside the petals. They protect the bud.

The reproductive organs, the stamens and pistils, lie inside the petals. A stamen is a male reproductive part. It consists of an anther that is held up by a filament. The anther produces pollen grains. A pistil is a female reproductive part. Its top is called the stigma. It is sticky to ensure that when pollen grains land on it, they stick to it. The middle supporting structure is the style, and the large base is the ovary, where the eggs are produced.

Kennedy, 2012-12-06 This book concerns the use of the drug qat in North Yemen Yemen Arab Republic a country lying on the southwestern corner of the Arabian Peninsula However because this substance is so interwoven into the fabric of society and culture it is also necessarily about Yemen itself The history and culture of South Arabia are still relatively unknown to the rest of the world and the drug qat so widely used there is equally unknown Thus the material we present here should be of interest to all of those concerned with drug use those who wish to understand more about Yemen and the Middle East and to the Yemenis themselves Another purpose is to develop some general understandings about substance uses and their effects which are less clouded by the mass hysteria and political considerations which often obscure drug issues in our own society Examination of drug use patterns in a country where millions of people are users on a regular basis and where there has been familiarity with the drug for several hundred years offers an opportunity to achieve perspectives not possible in countries with different attitudes and without such histories I am not sanguine about the prospects of our abilities to learn from others or from the past but I do not think we should abandon hope of doing so Preparing Agriculture and Agriscience Educators for the Classroom Thoron, Andrew C.,Barrick, R. Kirby,2022-06-24 The preparation of school based agriculture teachers has been a part of public education for over 100 years However there is a lack of texts available that address the components of teacher education in agriculture including teacher preparation and related activities Further study that goes beyond concepts to include practice and applications is required in order to further develop educators in this sector Preparing Agriculture and Agriscience Educators for the Classroom provides an up to date consideration of the best practices for developing and enhancing a complete teacher preparation program and highlights and showcases concepts and applications It is a mainstay for teacher education and teacher preparation in agriculture and is applicable anywhere in the world where teaching agriculture exists Covering a range of topics such as field experiences and student learning this reference work is ideal for researchers scholars practitioners academicians administrators instructors and students
