Meyerson,Daniel Thiery,Oren Falk,2015-03-27 A great effusion of blood was a phrase used frequently throughout medieval Europe as shorthand to describe the effects of immoderate interpersonal violence Yet the ambiguity of this phrase poses numerous problems for modern readers and scholars in interpreting violence in medieval society and culture and its effect on medieval people Understanding medieval violence is made even more complex by the multiplicity of views that need to be reconciled those of modern scholars regarding the psychology and comportment of medieval people those of the medieval persons themselves as perpetrators or victims of violence those of medieval writers describing the acts and those of medieval readers the audience for these accounts Using historical records artistic representation and theoretical articulation the contributors to this volume attempt to bring together these views and fashion a comprehensive understanding of medieval conceptions of violence Exploring the issue from both historical and literary perspectives the contributors examine violence in a broad variety of genres places and times such as the Late Antique lives of the martyrs Islamic historiography Anglo Saxon poetry and Norse sagas canon law and chronicles English and Scottish ballads the criminal records of fifteenth century Spain and more Taken together the essays offer fresh ways of analysing medieval violence and its representations and bring us closer to an understanding of how it was experienced by the people who lived it A History of the Church through its Buildings Allan Doig,2020-12-10 The History of the Church through its Buildings takes the reader to meet people who lived through momentous religious changes in the very spaces where the story of the Church took shape Buildings are about people the people who conceived designed financed and used them Their stories become embedded in the very fabric itself and as the fabric is changed through time in response to changing use relationships and beliefs the architecture becomes the standing history of passing waves of humanity This process takes on special significance in churches where the arrangement of the space places members of the community in relationship with one another for the performance of the church's rites and ceremonies Moreover architectural forms and building materials can be used to establish relationships with other buildings in other places and other times Coordinated systems of signs symbols and images proclaim beliefs and doctrine and in a wider sense carry extended narratives of the people and their faith Looking at the history of the church through its buildings allows us to establish a tangible connection to the lives of the people involved in some of the key moments and movements that shaped that history and perhaps even a degree of intimacy with them Standing in the same place where the worshippers of the past preached and taught or in a space they built as a memorial touching the stone they placed or marking their final resting place holding a keepsake they treasured or seeing a relic they venerated probably comes as close to a shared experience with these people as it is possible to come Perhaps for a fleeting moment at such times their faces may come more clearly into focus Generations of Feeling Barbara H.

Tiner, 2006-01-01

Since the appearance of the first volume in 1979 the Records of Early English Drama REED series has made available an accurate and useable transcription of all surviving documentary evidence of dramatic ceremonial and minstrel activity in Great Britain up to the closing of the theatres in 1642 Although they are immensely valuable to scholars the REED volumes sometimes prove difficult for students to use without considerable assistance With this book Elza Tiner aims to make the records accessible for classroom use The contributors to the volume describe the various ways in which students can learn from working with these documents Divided into five sections the volume illustrates how specific disciplines can use the

Records to provide resources for students including ways to teach the historical documents of early English drama training students in acting and producing historical contexts for the interpretation of literature as well as the study of local history women's studies and historical linguistics As a practical and much needed companion to the REED volumes Teaching with the Records of Early English Drama will prove invaluable to both students and teachers of Medieval English Drama The Cambridge Companion to Medieval Women's Writing Carolyn Dinshaw, David Wallace, 2003-05-22 The Cambridge Companion to Medieval Women's Writing seeks to recover the lives and particular experiences of medieval women by concentrating on various kinds of texts the texts they wrote themselves as well as texts that attempted to shape limit or expand their lives The first section investigates the roles traditionally assigned to medieval women as virgins widows and wives it also considers female childhood and relations between women The second section explores social spaces including textuality itself for every surviving medieval manuscript bespeaks collaborative effort It considers women as authors as anchoresses dead to the world and as preachers and teachers in the world staking claims to authority without entering a pulpit The final section considers the lives and writings of remarkable women including Marie de France Heloise Joan of Arc Julian of Norwich Margery Kempe and female lyricists and romancers whose names are lost but whose texts survive Fashion and Fetishism David Kunzle, 2006-08-24 Presenting the history of corsetry and body sculpture this edition shows how the relationship between fashion and sex is closely bound up with sexual self expression It demonstrates how the use of the corset rejected the role of the passive maternal woman so that in Victorian times it was seen as a scandalous threat to the social order
