World Bank Staff Working Paper ,1984 The Journal of Developing Areas ,1976 Trials of Convergence Arthur van Riel,2021-06-22 For over a century now historians have debated the causes of the lagged industrialization of the Dutch economy during the nineteenth century To this debate Trials of Convergence brings the analytical perspective of prices factor costs and the functioning of markets Its critical insight is that only an approach based on the integrated incentive structure of the economy allows us to delimit the role of alternative explanations Using statistical reconstruction and microdata it shows that the retarded transition resulted from a confluence of forces These ranged from open economy effects and natural endowments to the resilient influence of the institutions of the former Dutch Republic and the fiscal policy adopted in response to Belgian secession At the height of the British Industrial Revolution the Dutch economy slowed triggering a return to the problems of eighteenth century stagnation All this meant that the transition to modern economic growth after 1860 came about only in a changed international context and after a period of politico economic reform

We introduce a new suite of macroeconomic models that extend and complement the Debt Investment and Growth DIG model widely used at the IMF since 2012 The new DIG Labor models feature segmented labor markets efficiency wages and open unemployment and an informal non agricultural sector These features allow for a deeper examination of macroeconomic and fiscal policy programs and their impact on labor market outcomes inequality and poverty The paper illustrates the model s properties by analyzing the growth debt and distributional consequences of big push public investment programs with different mixes of investment in human capital and infrastructure We show that investment in human capital is much more effective than investment in infrastructure in promoting long run economic development when investments earn their average estimated returns The decision about how much to invest in human capital versus infrastructure involves however an acute intertemporal trade off Because investment in education affects labor productivity with a long lag it takes 15 years before net national income the private capital stock real wages for the poor and formal sector employment surpass their counterparts in a program that invests mainly in infrastructure The ranking of alternative investment programs depends on the policymakers social discount rate and on the weight of distributional objectives in the social welfare function
