An Ethic of Mutual Respect Bruce Morito, 2012-08-30 Over the course of a century until the late 1700s the British Crown the Iroquois and other Aboriginal groups of eastern North America developed an alliance and treaty system known as the Covenant Chain Bruce Morito offers a philosophical re reading of the historical record of negotiations showing that the parties developed an ethic of mutually recognized respect This ethic Morito argues remains relevant to current debates over Aboriginal and treaty rights because it is neither culturally nor historically bound Real change is possible if efforts can be shifted from piecemeal legal and political disputes to the development of an intercultural ethic based on trust respect and solidarity

The ethics of consumption Helena Röcklinsberg, Per Sandin, 2013-11-05 We are all consumers What we consume how and how much has consequences of great moral importance for humans animals and the environment Great challenges lie ahead as we are facing population growth and climate change and reduced availability of fossil fuels It is often argued that key to meeting those challenges is changing consumption patterns among individual as well as institutions for instance through reducing meat consumption switching to organic or fair trade products boycotting or buycotting certain products or consuming less overall There is considerable disagreement regarding how to bring this about whose responsibility it is and even whether it is desirable Is it a question of political initiatives producer responsibility the virtues and vices of individual consumers in the developed world or something else Many of these issues pose profound intellectual challenges at the intersection of ethics political philosophy economics and several other fields This publication brings together contributions from scholars in numerous disciplines including philosophy law economics sociology and animal welfare who explore the theme of the ethics of consumption from different angles

Ethical Intuitionism M. Huemer, 2007-12-14 A defence of ethical intuitionism where i there are objective moral truths ii we know these through an immediate intellectual awareness or intuition and iii knowing them gives us reasons to act independent of our desires The author rebuts the major objections to this theory and shows the difficulties in alternative theories of ethics
