What I Don't Know about Animals Jenny Diski, 2011-01-01 What does novelist essayist and memoirist Jenny Diski know about animals She wasn't really sure as she began to write this book and she may not be sure now But of this she is certain our relationships with and attitudes toward animals are really worth thinking about In What I Don't Know About Animals she shows why Diski sets out on her wide ranging investigation by remembering the stuffed cuddly creatures from her childhood the animal books she read the cartoons she watched the strays she found She considers the animals who have lived and still live with her most especially Bunty the cat animals she has encountered close up and those she has feared She examines human beings too and how they have looked at studied treated and written about the non human creatures of our shared planet Ranging still further the author interviews scientists discusses Derrida and his cat and observes elephants in Kenya always seeking the key to the complex relationship we in the modern West have with animals Subtle intelligent and always engaging this book is a brilliant exploration of what it means to be human and what it means to be animal and the uncertainty of what we can know about either

Simple Faith Stephen W. Hiemstra, 2019-04-26 As Christians how do we know what we know This simple question challenges the nature of information how we learn decision making who we are and who this God is that we worship If this challenge appears optional it is not our post Christian culture questions every faith assumption Simple Faith examines these questions and discusses implications for faith and life An important implication of this study is that faith plays a critical role into how we think learn and make decisions in the context of limited resources and an uncertain future Even scientific inquiry requires faith which normally gets hidden in untested assumptions and presumptions about what is interesting to investigate Often the critical arguments driving our decisions are not cold hard facts but the stories that we tell in the midst of complex decision environments The timing of this inquiry is critical The movement from modern to postmodern thinking has upended most institutions but especially the Christian church The separation of heart and mind which characterizes modern thinking eroded faith leaving the church in a weak position to adapt to the rapid changes accompanying postmodernism Ironically postmodern thinking that values storytelling favors Christian faith because the Gospel of Jesus Christ is the best story around

Welfare to Work Amir Paz-Fuchs, 2008-02-14 Welfare to work programmes aim to assist the long term unemployed in finding work increasing labour market flexibility eliminating dependency and tackling social exclusion They have been implemented in many Western countries This book focuses on an important and novel feature of these programmes they replace the rights based entitlements that have characterized the welfare state for decades with conditional rights dependent on the fulfilment of obligations conditions are attached to the benefits received This new type of social contract between the claimant and the State carries with it a new construction of the relationship between rights and responsibilities and a new interpretation of citizenship Paz Fuchs examines the theoretical underpinnings of welfare to work programmes incorporating a comparative analysis of the UK and USA where the ideal of social citizenship is being curtailed through welfare reforms He argues that when the rhetoric of the social contract is used to imply a continuous contract between citizens and the state a vast array of conditions on welfare can be legitimated including workfare the obligation to accept any job offer and moral and social preconditions that are based on a vague notion of reciprocity Paz Fuchs argues by contrast that conditional welfare undermines civil rights such as the right to privacy and family life by requiring welfare claimants to change their behaviour He contends that strengthening welfare rights and relaxing preconditions on entitlement would better serve the objectives that welfare to work programmes are supposed to advance

Dealing with Death Oliver Nahm, 2017 Any sentence that begins All societies have is either baseless or banal Oliver Nahm sets out to disprove this statement made by the renowned anthropologist Clifford Geertz Analyzing the beliefs myths and legends of different religious groups surrounding death and dying author Nahm shows that behind the facade of diversity there lie the same needs which are in turn met by similar solutions With an interdisciplinary approach Nahm uncovers important commonalities between diverse societies and demonstrates that such findings are neither baseless nor banal Dissertation Series Studies in interdisciplinary Thanatology Studien zur interdisziplinären Thanatologie Vol 14

Knowledge Kirsten Hastrup, Peter Hervik, 2003-12-16 Anthropology poses an explicit challenge to standard notions of scientific knowledge It claims to produce genuine insights into the workings of culture in general on the basis of individual social experience in the field Social Experience and Anthropological Knowledge traces the process from the ethnographic experience to the analytical results showing how fieldwork enables the ethnographer to arrive at an understanding not only of culture and society but also of the processes by which cultures and societies are transformed The contributors challenge the distinction between subjectivity and objectivity redefine what we should mean by empirical and demonstrate the complexity of present day epistemological problems through concrete examples By demystifying subjectivity in the ethnographic process and re-emphasizing the vital position of fieldwork they do much to renew confidence in the anthropological project of comprehending the world Making Sense of God Timothy Keller, 2018-03-20 We live in an age of skepticism Our society places such faith in empirical reason historical progress and heartfelt emotion that it is easy to wonder Why should anyone believe in Christianity What role can faith and religion play in our modern lives In this thoughtful and inspiring new book pastor and New York Times bestselling author Timothy Keller invites skeptics to consider that Christianity is more relevant now than ever As human beings we cannot live without meaning satisfaction freedom identity justice and hope Christianity provides us with unsurpassed resources to meet these needs Written for both the ardent believer and the skeptic Making Sense of God shines a light on the profound value and importance of Christianity in our lives

The Meaning of Terrorism C. A. J. Coady, 2021 C. A. J. Coady offers to clear up confusion about what terrorism is His tactical definition focuses on terrorist acts as violent attacks upon non-combatants He discusses what it means to be a non-combatant considers various philosophical attempts to defend terrorism and examines the idea of a connection between religion and terrorism

Thinking Through Twentieth-Century Architecture Nicholas Ray, 2023-02-08 Shortlisted for the Architectural Book Awards 2024 Thinking Through Twentieth-Century Architecture connects the practice of architecture with its recent history and its theoretical origins those philosophical ideas that lay behind modernism and its aftermath By analyzing in straightforward and jargon-free language the genesis of modernism and the complex reactions to it the book clarifies a continuing debate It has been specifically written to connect issues of theory history and contemporary practice and to allow students to make these connections easily This is a history of twentieth-century architecture written with close critical attention to the theories that lie behind the works described. Importantly unlike other historical accounts it does not take sides and urge the reader to identify with one strand of thinking or style of architecture at the expense of others but it presents a dispassionate view with persuasive arguments on behalf of different positions. It pursues the history of European and American architecture chronologically but the history is interwoven with the philosophical ideas that informed both writers and architects and are essential for its understanding. The book is relevant to current issues of contemporary practice and education showing that philosophical issues are fundamental and those relating to design decisions never go away. It includes 200 illustrations and will appeal to all those interested in twentieth century architecture and to architectural students.

Blind Visitor Experiences at Art Museums Simon J. Hayhoe, 2017-05-30 Blind Visitor Experiences at Art Museums seeks to answer two questions. Given the guiding principle of visual art being understood only by sight, what do people understand when sight is diminished or not there? Moreover, given the experience of blindness, what are the effects of vision loss or no vision on a cultural identity in art? It does this by exploring seven in depth case studies of visitors to the education department at the Metropolitan Museum of Art New York and the experiences of leading groups by two teachers. In addition, this book includes findings from participant observations in classes and touch tours for blind and visually impaired people at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. After reading this book, readers will understand both passive and active social exclusion from the museum's facilities. Active exclusion is defined as a deliberate act of exclusion based on the belief that blind people are incapable of understanding visual art, whereas passive exclusion is defined as exclusion resulting from an aspect of miseducation such as inappropriate building design or learning materials or a lack of training, knowledge, resources, access, materials or buildings.

Bioethics Megan-Jane Johnstone, 2008-09-01 The 5th edition of Bioethics provides nursing students with the necessary knowledge and understanding of the ethical issues affecting nursing practice. Groundbreaking in its first edition, Bioethics continues its role as a vital component of nursing education and provides a framework for students to understand the obligations, responsibilities and ethical challenges they will be presented with throughout their careers. This latest edition responds to new and emerging developments in the field and marks a significant turning point in nursing ethics in that it serves not only to inform but also to revitalise and progress debate on the issues presented.

Causation: The Basics Stuart Glennan, 2024-04-22 Causation: The Basics explores questions about what causes are and how we come to know them, describe them and put them to use. The book begins with an introduction to the history of philosophical thinking about causation, followed by a series of chapters introducing important contemporary accounts of causation. It concludes with chapters on causation and agency, causal discovery and causal explanation. Key questions explored in the book include: What distinguishes correlation from causation? How are the causes of singular events related to more general patterns of cause and effect? How are commonsense, scientific and legal conceptions of causation related? Can certain occurrences be singled out as the main or principle causes of some effect? Is there a place in the world's causal structure for human agency and free will?

While introducing the major philosophical debates about the nature of causation Causation The Basics emphasizes the uses and challenges of causal reasoning as it occurs in the sciences engineering medicine and other areas of human life With a glossary of key terms and suggestions for further reading the book provides readers with a clear and concise introduction to both theoretical and practical questions about causation

Mortal Questions Thomas Nagel, 2012-03-26 Thomas Nagel's Mortal Questions explores some fundamental issues concerning the meaning nature and value of human life Questions about our attitudes to death sexual behaviour social inequality war and political power are shown to lead to more obviously philosophical problems about personal identity consciousness freedom and value This original and illuminating book aims at a form of understanding that is both theoretical and personal in its lively engagement with what are literally issues of life and death

Constitutionalising Secession David Haljan, 2014-11-01 Constitutionalising Secession proceeds from the question What if anything does the law have to say about a secession crisis But rather than approaching secession through the optic of political or nationalist institutional accommodation this book focuses on the underpinnings to a constitutional order as a law making community underpinnings laid bare by secession pressures Relying on the corrosive effects of secession it explores the deep structure of a constitutional order and the motive forces creating and sustaining that order A core idea is that the normativity of law is best understood through a constitutional optic as an integrative associative force Constitutionalising Secession critically analyses conceptions of constitutional order implicit in the leading models of secession and takes as a leading case study the judicial and legislative response to secession in Canada The book therefore develops a concept of constitutionalism and law making associative constitutionalism to describe their deep structure as a continuing integrative process of association This model of a dynamic process of value formation can address both the association and the disassociation of constitutional systems

Made in the Image of God Michael Fuller, David Jasper, 2021-05-15 What does it mean to be human and made in the image of God This collection of essays explores the question from a wide range of theological and philosophical perspectives

Liberalism and Value Pluralism George Crowder, 2002-05-01 Value pluralism is the idea associated with the late Isaiah Berlin that fundamental human values are irreducibly plural and incommensurable Ends like liberty equality and community are intrinsic goods which can neither be ranked in an absolute hierarchy nor translated into units of a common denominator If that is true how can we choose among such values when they come into conflict in particular cases In particular what reason is there to justify the value ranking characteristic of liberal democracy favouring personal autonomy and toleration Recent commentators have seen value pluralism as undermining the traditional claims of liberalism to universal authority rendering it at best no more than one political form among others with no greater claim to legitimacy Against that view George Crowder argues that a strong distinctive case for liberalism as a universal project is implied by value pluralism itself Reflection on the elements of value pluralism yields a set of ethical principles including respect for universal values rejection of political utopianism promotion of value diversity accommodation of reasonable disagreement and cultivation of civic virtues Those principles are best satisfied by a liberal form of politics characterised by a strong commitment to personal autonomy by policies of moderate redistribution and multiculturalism and by constitutional restraints on democratic politics This is the first book length defence of liberalism on the basis of value pluralism complementing and extending the work of Berlin and others God, Money, and Politics Simon Hayhoe, 2008-05-01 Note Author Simon Hayhoe was interviewed on BBC Radio 4 in August 2008 Click here for the transcript Our book examines the role of three factors God Money and Politics in the epistemological theory of blindness the theory of the construction of knowledge on blindness and touch by social and cultural change This book also illustrates this development has in the main been motivated by an attempt to assert or gain power and why the study of blindness in conventional academic subjects such as psychology history and sociology is so important We do this by presenting the main theories of disability and blindness that have informed the writing of this book and a frame of reference for the historical story Which places the book in the broad context of theories of disability and blindness within an academic and symbolic context of physical impairment and the social mythologies that accompany such understanding
