Invisible Martyrs Farhana Qazi, 2018-09-25 Farhana Qazi draws on her background as a pioneering counterterrorism professional and a devout Muslim to offer an insider s view of what drives girls and women to join radical Islamic movements and how we can keep them from making this terrible choice The first Muslim woman to work for the US government s Counterterrorism Center Qazi found herself fascinated even obsessed by the phenomenon of female extremists Why she wondered would a girl from Denver join ISIS a radical movement known for its mistreatment of women Why would a teenage Iraqi girl strap on a suicide bomb and detonate it From Kashmir to Iraq to Afghanistan to Colorado to London she discovered women of different backgrounds who all had their own reason for joining these movements Some were confused others had been taken advantage of and some were just as radical and dedicated as their male counterparts But in each case Qazi found their choices were driven by a complex interaction of culture context and capability that was unique to each woman This book reframes their stories so readers can see these girls and women as they truly are females exploited by men Through hearing their voices and sharing their journeys Qazi gained powerful insights not only into what motivated these women but also into the most effective ways to combat terrorism and about herself as well Through them Qazi writes I discovered intervention strategies that are slowly helping women hold on to faith as they struggle with versions of orthodox Islam polluted by extremist interpretations And in the process I discovered a gentle Islam and more about myself as a woman of faith

Buddhist-Based Universities in the United States Tanya Storch, 2015-05-05 Buddhist Based Universities in the United States Searching for a New Model in Higher Education investigates in depth four American Buddhist universities namely the Dharma Realm Buddhist University the University of the West the Soka University of America and the Naropa University all of which offer degrees in liberal arts and professional fields and at the same time educate their students in the philosophy and practices of Buddhism Buddhist universities in the United States are unique because there are no comparable universities based on the philosophy and practices of other Asian religions also popular in the United States such as

Hinduism Confucianism or Sikhism Even the Jewish community has created only two universities in which professional skills and liberal arts are taught from the position of the moral philosophical principles of Judaism This book presents the institutional history and academic programs of four Buddhist universities in America and analyzes Buddhist based pedagogical principles as well as teaching and learning techniques which can be very useful for other colleges and universities in the United States

The New Domestic Automakers in the United States and Canada A.J. Jacobs, 2015-12-16 Over the past forty years state provincial and local governments in the United States and Canada have provided foreign automakers with approximately 4

80 billion in incentives in order to lure light vehicles assembly plants to their areas This has included tax abatements infrastructure construction land giveaways job training programs and other subsidies As of early 2015 ten foreign vehicle makers operated 20 light vehicles in developed North America Despite the fact that all ten of these automakers have pursued a similar pattern first exporting vehicles into the United States and Canada before launching vehicle plants in developed North America each has followed its own specific historical development path and has created its own unique growth trajectory This book provides a unique historical and qualitative review of these ten vehicle makers from their early beginnings to their export entry into the United States and or Canada through early 2015 In addition it chronicles the histories of more than a dozen former automakers and potential future foreign light motor vehicle assembly plants in the United States and Canada This includes the first foreign automaker to build its cars in the United States De Dion Bouton of France in July 1900 the early 20th Century endeavors of Fiat Mercedes and Rolls Royce and the present day hopes of Chinese and Indian automakers In the process the text also provides an assessment of the top competing states and sites for any future plants the possible incentives packages governments may offer to attract such facilities and an estimated incentive value for each automaker Overall the goal of this book is to expand the knowledge of policymakers at all tiers of government in the United States and Canada and to help them take a more holistic look at the pros and cons of attracting Automobile Manufacturing FDI It is hoped that this will enable them to make more informed decisions when pursuing a new foreign motor vehicle assembly plant Its findings should also prove informative to urban and regional planning political science sociology economics labor and international development scholars and students in North America and worldwide Unreal

City Judith Nies, 2014-04-08 An epic struggle over land water and power is erupting in the American West and the halls of Washington DC It began when a 4 000 square mile area of Arizona desert called Black Mesa was divided between the Hopi and Navajo tribes To the outside world it was a land struggle between two fractious Indian tribes to political insiders and energy corporations it was a divide and conquer play for the 21 billion tons of coal beneath Black Mesa Today that coal powers cheap electricity for Los Angeles a new water aqueduct into Phoenix and the neon dazzle of Las Vegas Journalist and historian Judith Nies has been tracking this story for nearly four decades She follows the money and tells us the true story of wealth and water mendacity and corruption at the highest levels of business and government Amid the backdrop of the breathtaking desert landscape Unreal City shows five cultures colliding Hopi Navajo global energy corporations Mormons and US government agencies resulting in a battle over resources and the future of the West Las Vegas may attract 39 million visitors a year but the tourists mesmerized by the dancing water fountains at the Bellagio don t ask where the water comes from They don t see a city with the nation s highest rates of foreclosure unemployment and suicide They don t see the astonishing drop in the water level of Lake Mead where Sin City gets 90 percent of its water supply Nies shows how the struggle over Black Mesa lands is an example of a global phenomenon in which giant transnational corporations have the power to separate indigenous people from their energy rich lands with the help of host governments Unreal City explores how and why resources have been taken from native lands what it means in an era of climate change and why in this city divorced from nature the only thing more powerful than money is water
