New Social Ties Contemporary Connections In A Fragmented Society:

New Social Ties Deborah Chambers, 2006-10-12 Deborah Chambers draws on the metaphor of friendship as a strategy for exploring contemporary changes in informal social ties. She traces the shift from fixed and permanent ties of family, neighbourhood and community to fluid and transient ties typified by computer-mediated communication. Personal Relationships and Intimacy in the Age of Social Media Cristina Miguel, 2018-11-11 This book examines how intimate relationships are built, negotiated and maintained through social media. The study takes a cross-platform approach, analysing three social media platforms of different genres: Badoo, Couchsurfing and Facebook, and exploring two interactive forces that shape the way people communicate through social media: the platforms' architecture and policies and actual practices of use. Combining analysis of the political economy of social media with users' perspectives of their own practices as well as exploring the tensions between the two, the book provides a detailed picture of intimacy as a complex structure of continuity and change. Social Media and Personal Relationships D. Chambers, 2013-02-21 This book explores how digital communication generates new intimacies and meanings of friendship in a networked society, developing a theory of mediated intimacies to explain how social media contributes to dramatic changes in our ideas about personal relationships through themes of self, youth, families, digital dating and online social capital. Among Friends? Agnes Brandt, 2013 By tracing out people's friendship worlds in their wider societal context, the author takes up current debates surrounding issues of identity and sociality, indigeneity and diversity. By furthering our understanding of the social dynamics of friendship in New Zealand, the study not only contributes to the growing field of friendship studies. Infertility and Intimacy in an Online Community Paulina Billett, Anne-Maree Sawyer, 2018-09-29 This book explores an online support group for women who are infertile. Offering a close-up view of the women's identities and emotions as they navigate the roller coaster world of infertility, a range of questions are addressed: How do the women seek support? How do they offer support to one another? How are intimacies produced in the online space? Through narrative analysis of online journals and posts, the authors examine the impact of infertility on women's perceptions of their bodies, their struggles with medical professionals on their relationships with family and friends, and the challenges that a diagnosis of infertility presents to couples. Infertility and Intimacy in an Online Community will appeal to social scientists, students from a range of health science disciplines, counsellors and health professionals, and women and men who are dealing with infertility. Personal Media and Everyday Life T. Rasmussen, 2014-05-26 This book addresses the widespread use of digital personal media in daily life. With a sociological and historical perspective, it explores the media-enhanced individualization and rationalization of the lifeworld, discussing the dramatic mediatization of daily life and calling on theorists such as McLuhan, Habermas and Goffman. Algorithms, Artificial Intelligence and Beyond Dariusz Brzeziński, Kamil Filipek, Kuba Piwowar, Malgorzata Winiarska-Brodowska, 2024-12-11 This volume brings together eminent scholars from various parts of the world representing different fields of knowledge in order to explore the social cultural political and economic effects of the development of new technologies On the one hand the book contextualises the discussion of algorithms and artificial intelligence AI within the broader framework of the digital revolution on the other it also examines individual experiences and practices Moreover in light of the speed at which algorithms and AI are being incorporated into various aspects of life contributors also question the ethical implications of their development The widespread development of AI and algorithmic solutions is one of the most important contemporary phenomena It has an overwhelming impact on the social and cultural life of the 21st century In this context one can point to both exciting examples of the application of algorithms and AI in business and popular culture as well as the challenges of widening social inequality or the expanding scope of surveillance The scope of the impact of algorithms and AI makes the formation of new theoretical frameworks vital This is the aim of this book which will be of interest to academics within the humanities and social sciences with an interest in technology and the impact of algorithms and AI on society and culture

Social Work with Older People Ann McDonald, 2010-03-08 Social Work with Older People provides an authoritative and practical guide to working with older people in a range of settings It addresses the complexities of individual work with older people as well as work with families groups and the wider community and is not afraid to tackle the challenges as well as opportunities of practice in this area The book begins by explaining the demographic changes that have led to a greying of the general population It goes on to discuss the diversity in experiences of ageing across society and the range of issues which confront older people and those who wish to work proactively with them Clear attention is paid to the processes of assessment care planning and review with readers encouraged to reflect on developing good practice through case studies and exercises Although it has a strong practical emphasis the book also stresses the value of theoretical perspectives with insights from fields such as sociology and psychology woven throughout the book Clear links are also made to policy guidelines and organizational standards without losing sight of the deeper often more complex issues that arise when working with older people Social Work with Older People will be essential reading for social work students and practitioners but also for others who are interested in the development of practice with older people as citizens and service users

Keyboard Warriors Graham Edward Geddes,2016-08-17 The far right English Defence League EDL is a strange product of global and local dynamics most prominently the War on Terror While the EDL has become well known for its high profile Islamophobic demonstrations within local communities the bulk of its day to day activity occurs online within its social networking sites between supporters referred to as keyboard warriors Keyboard warriors activities are confined to the virtual realm and they are unlikely to attend EDL events in physical space such as demonstrations This book explores the kind of Islamophobic identity that is produced by EDL supporters within the networking sites and focuses on how this identity is constructed around insecurities that are central to the lives of this population EDL supporters can be identified as members of the working class that have experienced significant ontological insecurity since the 1980s as a consequence of globalisation and related deindustrialisation Working class identity has been weakened in contrast to the post war era when stronger roles could be located for such groups Adrift in a post industrial landscape located in an ethno religious war attached to feelings of class and national pride and now mediated by new social networking systems the insecurities of these sections of the white working class have become attached to a construct of Islamic identity that is defined as essentially immoral and dangerous This attribution of otherness however is not restricted merely to Muslims but is applied to any perceived anti EDL agent including the government and the police which are aggregated into a hegemonic foe that persecutes the English nation and facilitates Islamic expansionism The central theme of the book is that new media systems have become critical to an understanding of extreme political identities and the expansion of worldviews in which inter group conflict is amplified while also offering a sense of meaning and self esteem for those involved

Gifts Malin Akerstrom, 2017-09-08 Gifts have been given and received in all eras and societies gifts are part of a universal human exchange The importance of creating and sustaining social bonds with the help of gifts is widely acknowledged by social scientists not only from anthropological but also from economic sociological and political science perspectives Contemporary anti corruption campaigns however have led gifts to be viewed with ever increasing suspicion because it is feared that the social bonds created by gift giving may contaminate professional decision making Suspicious Gifts investigates the sensitive issue of gift exchanges and how they become an object of contention Malin akerstro m considers the moral dilemmas presented by bribes and gift giving as experienced by Swedish aid workers and professionals working in the public sector business and adoption agencies She also deals with professionals interaction with foreign officials or contractors Often a gift is just that although sometimes the gift giving may be seen by others as a bribe akerstro m highlights the tensions between strict regulations designed to prevent corruption with the human affection for the institution of gift giving She argues that bribes and gifts are important social phenomena because they are windows into classic sociological and anthropological research issues concerning interaction social control exchange and rituals This unique analysis will be of keen interest to all sociologists public officials and professionals
