CHAPTER 5

DATA COLLECTION: EXPLORATORY AND CONCLUSIVE RESEARCH

CHAPTER OUTLINE

Qualitative Techniques for Exploratory Research

pg 218

Exploratory research involves collecting information from primary or secondary sources in order to provide insight into the management problem and identify potential courses of action, if necessary, early in the research process.

Qualitative Techniques

Qualitative research techniques are unstructured techniques, generally used to complement conclusive, quantitative or survey-based research, where the respondent is queried directly and allowed to answer in their own words.

- often small convenience samples
- query respondents' motivations, beliefs, feelings, and attitudes
- intuitive, subjective approach used in gathering data
- data collection format is open-ended
- not intended to provide statistically accurate data, but to guide further investigation
- techniques are primarily depth interviews and focus groups

Consumer Dilemma to Purchase Hybrid Car Kooi Chung Leng, Tooi Ai Chin, Abu Bakar A Hamid, 2020-06-30 As industrialisation continues to evolve exacerbating environmental problems such as global warming and climate change have raised the concern across the globe Road transport is primarily the most notable source of pollution in the world With the sophistication in environmental technology a variety of environmentally friendly products have been introduced in the market and hybrid vehicle is highly recommended However in Malaysia automotive market demand for hybrid vehicle is still considered very low compared to non hybrid vehicles and thus to conduct a study on consumer's adoption toward hybrid car is timely. The study investigated the relationships between marketing mix 4Ps, environmental concern, governmental incentive, and purchase intention of hybrid car in Malaysia. A total of 372 valid samples were collected using convenience sampling technique. The Structural Equation Modelling (SEM) by using Smart PLS was employed to investigate the significance of individual path correlations, measurement model, and overall fit of structural model. The results of the study revealed that marketing mix 4Ps, governmental incentive, attitude, subject norm, and perceived behavioural control showed a significant and positive relationship with hybrid car purchase intention. In addition, environmental concern exhibits the moderation effect among those relationships.

The use of consumer neuroscience in aroma marketing J. Berčík, J. Gálová, A. Pavelka, 2023-09-14. Smell is one of the most sensitive senses and is closely connected with emotions. Everyone has experienced a moment where a scent changed their mood and brought up memories. In this book, monitoring of the effect of aromas on consumer emotions is described. It starts with a general overview of the role of scents in marketing and the use of neuroscience tools in monitoring the impact of the stimuli on consumer emotions. Tools used by the authors are a consumer neuroscience tool, electroencephalography (EEG), a biometric method that monitors the galvanic skin response or skin perspiration (GSR), and a traditional data collection method, a questionnaire. With these tools, consumer response to three selected scents was monitored. One of the initial scents was selected and tested under normal restaurant conditions. The authors describe how the information was obtained and how the effect on consumer emotions was determined. The use of consumer neuroscience in aroma marketing concludes with recommendations to improve the effectiveness of aromatisation in practice.
