Antiheroines of Contemporary Media Melanie Haas, N. A. Pierce, Gretchen Busl, 2020-12-02 This volume of essays provides a critical foray into the methods used to construct narratives which foreground antiheroines a trope which has become increasingly popular within literary media film and television Antiheroine characters engage constructions of motherhood womanhood femininity and selfhood as mediated by the structures that socially prescribe boundaries of gender sex and sexuality Within this collection scholars of literary cultural media and gender studies address the complications of representing agency autonomy and self determination within narrative texts complicated by age class race sexuality and a spectrum of privilege that reflects the complexities of scripting women on and off screen within and beyond the page This collection offers perspectives on the alternate narratives engendered through the motivations actions and agendas of the antiheroine while engaging with the discourses of how such narratives are employed both as potentially feminist interventions and critiques of access hierarchy and power

Mediating Moms Elizabeth Podnieks, 2012 Women's studies cultural studies Maternal Narratives in Public Contexts Catherine A. Dobris, Rachel Davidson, Kim White-Mills, 2024-12-15 Maternal Narratives in Public Contexts Shaping Perspectives and Enacting Identities brings together critical research on the construction and enactment of mothering and motherhood in public spheres The book is divided into two parts in the first part authors examine how prevailing ideals of motherhood influence twenty first century culture by exploring iterations of maternal identity in various media forms from Dr Spock's self help guide to film and small screen entertainment In the second part the authors investigate how tropes of motherhood manifest and operate in academia the workplace and in political spheres Ultimately this book explores how maternal identities are both formed and articulated in public discourse arguing that rhetorical influences inform the ways in which we define recognize and enact maternal identities and the sociocultural ramifications that result within communication contexts Scholars of communication media studies film and television studies cultural studies rhetoric and women's and gender studies will find this book of particular interest Monstrous Children and Childish Monsters Markus P.J. Bohlmann, Sean Moreland, 2015-03-06 Perhaps because of the wisdom received from our Romantic forbears about the purity of the child depictions of children as monsters have held a tremendous fascination for film audiences for decades Numerous social factors have influenced the popularity and longevity of the monster child trope but its appeal is also rooted in the dual concepts of the child like innocent angelic and the childish selfish mischievous This collection of fresh essays discusses the representation of monstrous children in popular cinema since the 1950s with a focus on the relationship between monstrosity and childness a term whose implications the contributors explore Bad Mothers: Regulations, Representatives and Resistance Hughes Michelle Miller, 2017-03-01 While the image or construct of the good mother has been the focus of many research projects the bad mother as a discursive construct and also mothers who do bad things as complicated agentic social actors have been quite neglected despite the prevalence of the image of the bad mother across late modern societies The few researchers who address this powerful social image point out that bad mothers are culturally identified by what they do yet they are also socially recognized by who they are Mothers become potentially bad when they behave or express opinions that diverge from or challenge social or gender norms or when they deviate from mainstream white middle class heterosexual nondisabled normativity When suspected of being bad mothers women are surveilled and may be disciplined punished or otherwise excluded by various official agents i.e. legal medical and welfare institutions as well as by their relatives friends and communities Too often women are judged and punished without clear evidence that they are neglecting or abusing their children Frequently they are blamed for the marginal sociocultural context in which they are mothering This anthology presents empirical theoretical and creative works that address the construct of the bad mother and the lived realities of mothers labeled as bad Throughout the volume the editors consider voices and acts of resistance to bad mother constructions demonstrating that mothers across time and across domains have individually and collectively taken a stand against this destructive label The Absent Mother in the Cultural Imagination Berit Åström,2017-07-11 This anthology explores the recurring trope of the dead or absent mother in Western cultural productions Across historical periods and genres this dialogue has been employed to articulate and debate questions of politics and religion social and cultural change as well as issues of power and authority within the family str m seeks to investigate the many functions and meanings of the dialogue by covering extensive material from the 1200s to 2014 including hagiography romances folktales plays novels children s literature and graphic novels as well as film and television This is achieved by looking at the discourse both as products of the time and culture that produced the various narratives and as part of an on going cultural conversation that spans the centuries resulting in an innovative text that will be of great interest to all scholars of gender feminist and media studies

A Companion to Popular Culture Gary Burns,2016-03-08 A Companion to Popular Culture is a landmark survey of contemporary research in popular culture studies that offers a comprehensive and engaging introduction to the field Includes over two dozen essays covering the spectrum of popular culture studies from food to folklore and from TV to technology Features contributions from established and up and coming scholars from a range of disciplines Offers a detailed history of the study of popular culture Balances new perspectives on the politics of culture with in depth analysis of topics at the forefront of popular culture studies Screening Motherhood in Contemporary World Cinema Asma Sayed,2016-02-01

Using a variety of critical and theoretical approaches the contributing scholars to this collection analyze culturally specific and globally held attitudes about mothers and mothering as represented in world cinema Examining films from a range of countries including Afghanistan India Iran Eastern Europe Canada and the United States the various chapters contextualize the socio cultural realities of motherhood as they are represented on screen and explore the maternal figure as she has been glamorized and celebrated while simultaneously subjected to public scrutiny Collectively this scholarly investigation provides insights into where women s struggles converge while also highlighting the dramatically different realities of women around the globe

Mothering and Psychoanalysis: Clinical, Sociological and Feminist Perspectives Petra Bueskens,2014-07-01 Imagining Motherhood in the Twenty-First Century Valerie Heffernan,Gay Wilgus,2020-12-17

Images representations and constructions of mothers have historically shaped and continue to shape the way we imagine the institution of motherhood and the experience of mothering The various contributions included in this volume consider the diversity of maternal images and narratives that circulate in literature the arts and popular culture and analyse how they reflect on and influence the cultural meaning of motherhood in the contemporary era Mindful of the fact that the images of motherhood that we see in popular media on television and in literature are not mere background noise to our daily lives the various chapters explore how they influence our understanding of what it means to be a mother affect our expectations of motherhood and of mothers frame our experience of mothering and even inform our reproductive decisions Including insights from media studies cultural studies literary studies and the performing and visual arts this book explores how engaging with diverse representations of mothers and mothering contributes to a broader and deeper interdisciplinary understanding of how motherhood is constructed in our time The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Women A Cultural Review

Motherhood in the Media Barbara Barnett,2016-02-19 This book examines contemporary media stories about women who kill their children By analyzing media texts motherhood blogs and journalistic interviews the book seeks to understand better maternal violence and the factors that lead women to harm their children The central thesis of this book is that media practices have changed dramatically during the past 50 years as has society's views on appropriate feminine behavior yet definitions of characteristics of good mothers remain largely defined by 1950s sitcoms Victorian ideals and Christian theology The book contends that in spite of media saturation in American society and the media's increased opportunities to tell complex and nuanced stories news media narratives continue to situate maternal violence as rare unfathomable and unpredictable The news media's shift in focus from public service to profit making industry has encouraged superficial coverage of maternal violence as reporters look for stories that sell not stories that explain Motherhood blogs in contrast offer an opportunity for women to tell their own stories about motherhood based on experience Interviews with journalists offer insights into how the structure of their jobs dictates media coverage of this intimate form of violence
