country In scholarly literature these intellectuals are often understood as complicit agents in US Cold War liberalism By focusing on the human dimensions of the intellectuals lives and careers Unpredictable Agents resists such a deterministic account of complicity while recognizing the relationship between power and knowledge and the historical and structural conditions in which these scholars and their work emerged How did these scholars encounter America in the first place and what exactly constitutes the America they have experienced How did they come to be Americanists and what does being Americanists mean for them In short what are the actual experiences of Japan s Americanists and what are their relationships to America Reflecting both the interlocked web of politics economics and academics as well as the evolving contours of Japan s Americanists the essays highlight the diverse paths through which these individuals have come to be Americanists and the complex meanings that identity carries for them The stories reveal the obvious yet often neglected fact that Japanese scholars neither come from the same backgrounds nor occupy similar identities solely because of their shared ethnicity and citizenship The authors were born in the period ranging from the 1940s to the 1980s in different parts of Japan from Hokkaido to Okinawa and raised in diverse familial and cultural environments which shaped their identities as Japanese and their encounters with America in quite different ways Together the essays illustrate the complex positionalities fluid identities ambivalent embrace and unpredictable agency of Japan s Americanists who continue to chart their own course in and across the Pacific

Literature and Ethnicity in the Cultural Borderlands, 2016-08-29 This volume stems from the idea that the notion of borders and borderlines as clear cut frontiers separating not only political and geographical areas but also cultural linguistic and semiotic spaces does not fully address the complexity of contemporary cultural encounters Centering on a whole range of literary works from the United States and the Caribbean the contributors suggest and discuss different theoretical and methodological grounds to address the literary production taking place across the lines in North American and Caribbean culture The volume represents a pioneering attempt at proposing the concept of the border as a useful paradigm not only for the study of Chicano literature but also for the other American literatures The works presented in the volume illustrate various aspects and manifestations of the textual border lands and explore the double voiced discourse of border texts by writers like Harriet E Wilson Rudolfo Anaya Toni Morrison Cormac McCarthy Louise Erdrich Helena Viramontes Paule Marshall and Monica Sone among others This book is of interest for scholars and researchers in the field of comparative American studies and ethnic studies
