Over Stating The Arab State Over Stating The Arab State:

The Muslim Brotherhood and its Quest for Hegemony in Egypt Annette Ranko, 2014-12-26 Annette Ranko analyses the Muslim Brotherhood's challenging of the Mubarak regime and the ensuing struggle between the two from 1981 to 2011. She furthermore traces how the group evolved throughout the process of that struggle. She studies how the Brotherhood's portrayal of itself as an attractive alternative to the regime provoked the Mubarak regime to level anti-Brotherhood propaganda in the state-run media in order to contain the group's appeal amongst the public. The author shows how the regime's portrayal of the Brotherhood and the Brotherhood's engagement with it have evolved over time and how this ideational interplay has combined with structural institutional aspects in shaping the group's behaviour and ideology. The Arab State Adham Saouli, 2012-03-29 This book explores the conditions of state formation and survival in the Middle East. Based on Historical Sociology it provides a model for study of the state in the Arab world and a theory to explain its survival. Examining states as a process the author argues that what emerged in the Middle East in the beginning of the twentieth century are social fields where states form and deform and not states as defined by Max Weber. He explores the constitutions of these fields their cultural material and political structures and identifies three stages of state development in which different cases can be located. Capturing the dilemmas that late-forming states face as regimes within them cope with domestic and international pressure the author illustrates several Middle East cases and presents a detailed analysis of state developments in Saudi Arabia and Iraq. He maintains that more than the domestic characteristics of individual states state survival in the Middle East is also a function of the anarchic nature of the international and by extension the regional states system. The first to raise the question on the survivability of the territorial states in the Middle East while engaging with both International Relations and Comparative Politics theories this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Middle East politics. Comparative Politics and International Relations Beyond the Arab Spring Mehran Kamrava, 2014-12-15 The Arab Spring occurred within the context of the unravelling of the dominant ruling bargain that emerged across the Middle East in the 1950s. This is being replaced by a new and inchoate system that redefines sources of authority and legitimacy through various devices such as constitutions experiences and processes mass protests civil wars and elections by reassessing the roles functions and at times the structures of institutions political parties and organisations the armed forces the executive and by the initiative of key personalities and actors agency. Across the Arab world and the Middle East authority and political legitimacy are in flux. Where power will ultimately reside depends largely on the shape voracity and staying power of these new emerging conceptions of authority. The contributors to this book examine the nature and evolution of ruling bargains the political systems to which they gave rise the steady unravelling of the old systems and the structural consequences thereof and the uprisings that have engulfed much of the Middle East since December 2010. The Foreign Policies of Middle East States Raymond A. Women in the Mediterranean Leila Simona Talani, Serena Giusti, 2019-12-18 The book addresses the challenges faced by women on the two shores of the Mediterranean from a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary perspective While in the European Union s EU Mediterranean countries inequality is mostly linked to the social sphere and in particular refers to labour market dynamics in the Middle East and Northern Africa MENA area the situation is more complicated as the social and private spheres are blended and cultural and religious factors have a great impact on women autonomy and opportunities beyond the family perimeter The different challenges women are facing on the two sides of the Mediterranean have sometimes originated incomprehension and misperceptions Western supported policies devoted to fill the gap between men and women in the MENA area have overlooked countries peculiarities simply exporting models tailored for EU s member states The EU s attempts to strengthen relations with the Mediterranean countries on a multilevel basis have not rescued women from marginalisation Nevertheless during the 2011 awakening women played an important role in activating civil society They are still considered as a key part of the fight against terrorism and radicalisation although in some countries their condition has worsened after secular regimes have been downturned The number of migrant women has increased and not differently from men they are looking for opportunities and better conditions of life while Western media tend to present them in a stereotyped way either as traumatized victim and or as caring mother There are other misleading common places which need to be better conceptualised and understood such as the alleged incompatibility between Islam and women rights Unfortunately women s rights are still under attack even in European countries where they are considered consolidated The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of the Journal of the Balkans and Near Eastern Studies

Social Movements in Egypt and Iran T. Povey, 2016-02-09 This book analyses the reform movement in Iran and the Egyptian opposition movement since the early 1990s in their historical contexts It argues that the contemporary movements seen on the streets of the regions today represent the culmination of over twenty years of mobilisation by social movements

Smugglers and States Max Gallien, 2024-02-27 Winner 2025 Theodore J Lowi First Book

Award International Political Science Association American Political Science Association Smuggling is typically thought of as furtive and hidden taking place under the radar and beyond the reach of the state But in many cases governments tacitly permit illicit cross border commerce or even devise informal arrangements to regulate it Drawing on extensive fieldwork in the borderlands of Tunisia and Morocco Max Gallien explains why states have long tolerated illegal trade across their borders and develops new ways to understand the political economy of smuggling This book examines the rules and agreements that govern smuggling in North Africa tracing the involvement of states in these practices and their consequences for borderland communities Gallien demonstrates that contrary to common assumptions about the effects of informal economies smuggling can promote both state and social stability States not only turn a blind eye to smuggling they rely on it to secure political acquiescence and maintain order because it provides income for otherwise neglected border communities More recently however the securitization of borders wars political change and the pandemic have put these arrangements under pressure Gallien explores the renegotiation of the role of smuggling showing how stability turns into vulnerability and why some groups have been able to thrive while others have been pushed further to the margins With both rich empirical detail and novel theoretical contributions Smugglers and States offers important insights into security and stability in North Africa and the prospects for economic inclusion in a context where many livelihoods exist outside of the law

Coalition Defection Avi Kober, 2002-11-30 Since the creation of Israel during both wartime and peacetime many Arab coalitions have formed Every one of these anti Israel coalitions has failed to achieve its goals due to the defection of one or more major parties Kober explores the forces behind the dissemination of these alliances to determine why Arab states chose defection whether or not a distinction can be made between defection patterns in times of war and patterns related to peace processes and possible explanations for different behavior patterns The multi polar structure of the Arab subsystem the decisions of pivotal members and the negative reputations earned by such coalitions have always made defection an easy alternative The choice to defect was Kober contends nurtured by a sense of military weakness and by the priority that coalition members attached to their particular interests over general Arab concerns Kober finds that defection in time of war has arisen mainly through evasion passive avoidance of coalition obligations with the hope of escaping or minimizing expected losses Defection from military coalitions often deprived the defector of maximizing gains all the while weakening the remaining coalition members However defection during the peace process served not only to optimize the defector's utilities but eventually proved beneficial for the parties left behind Kober determines that the peace process mainly due to superpower involvement transformed the scenario from a zero sum to a non zero sum game by rewarding the parties for signing treaties with Israel Also the first defectors such as Egypt established pay off precedents creating the foundation for future negotiations between the Arab players and Israel

Statebuilding in the Middle East and North Africa Irene Costantini, 2018-03-26 This book examines the regime changes in Iraq and Libya to unravel the complexity of statebuilding in countries emerging from authoritarianism and conflict in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region Framed in a comparative study of post 2003 Iraq and post 2011 Libya the book examines changes in key state dimensions representation and political authority security and wealth creation and distribution in a continuous dialogue with past trajectories in these two countries To grasp the nature and degree of these changes the mechanisms of state formation are explored in light of a statebuilding agenda that in its application from Iraq to Libya has adapted to different political prerogatives The analysis of Iraq and Libya serves the book s ultimate goal to address the debate on statebuilding from a regional MENA perspective and to lay the ground for the study of other contemporary cases undergoing radical and violent process of changes such as in Syria and Yemen The book grapples with problems associated with the difficult process of transition from authoritarianism through conflict and towards peace by focusing on the state its structure and function The work is informed by a large quantity of materials collected over the past five years including secondary literature policy papers and reports and semi structured interviews with key informants on Iraq and Libya This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding Middle Eastern studies peace and conflict studies and International Relations in general

Houses built on sand Simon Mabon, 2020-02-28 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license The events of the Arab Uprisings posed an existential challenge to sovereign power across the Middle East Whilst popular movements resulted in the toppling of authoritarian rule in Tunisia Egypt and Yemen other regimes were able to withstand these pressures This book questions why some regimes fell whilst others were able to survive Drawing on the work of political theorists such as Agamben and Arendt Mabon explores the ways in which sovereign power is contested resulting in the fragmentation of political projects across the region Combining an innovative theoretical approach with interviews with people across the region and beyond Mabon paints a picture of Middle Eastern politics dominated by elites seeking to maintain power and wealth seemingly at whatever cost This for Mabon is a consequence of the emergence and development of particular visions of political projects that harness or marginalise identities communities ideologies and faiths as mechanisms designed to ensure their survival This book is essential reading for those interested in understanding why the uprisings took place their geopolitical consequences and why they are likely to happen again

The Return of the Past Uzi Rabi, 2019-11-04 This book argues that the Arab Spring brought to the forefront numerous societal political and historical problems in the Middle East that scholars and practitioners throughout the 20th century and into the 21st century have continually glossed over or reduced in their analysis and analytical frameworks when studying the Middle East These include the prevalent and persistent impact of Islam on political life an impact of transnational and subnational identities including sect tribe and regional identity as well as the overuse of the state as the fundamental unit of analysis when studying the region As a result this book asserts that primordial identities including religion sect and tribe have and will continue to have a significant impact on the conduct of politics in the Middle East

Globalization and the Gulf John W. Fox, Nada Mourtada-Sabbah, Mohammed Al Mutawa, 2006-09-27 For centuries the Arabian Gulf has been a crossroads where seafaring people and Bedouins alike travelled great distances transacting business Events of the past few years both good and bad have directed the world's attention to the Arabian Peninsula where a rich cultural tradition is rapidly incorporating the latest innovations from around the world This is the process of globalization New economies create enormous potential but it will require great care for the people of the region to steer through a period of profound change Political and economic interests intent on maintaining the flow of petroleum products on one hand and people in the Gulf region who assess their own interests from quite a different perspective on the other exert pressures from conflicting directions Reconciling these interests in a time of rapid globalization poses enormous challenges This timely volume brings together the work of scholars from both the Middle East and the West who have the expertise to evaluate the interaction of new ideas new technologies and new economies Brought together by the American University of Sharjah and the Sociological Association of the UAE the contributors reflect on both the process of globalism and on the traditions of Gulf society and culture offering views on how these trends interact within the global system
