predicted the end of the romance of ocean travel Steam abridges time and space to such a degree that the world grows rapidly prosaic Countries once distant and little known are at this day near and familiar Railways on land and steamships on the ocean will transport us at frequent and regular intervals around the entire globe From New York to San Francisco and thence to our antipodes in Japan and China one may travel in defiance of propitious breezes formerly so essential to an ocean voyage The same untiring power that bears us thither will bring us home again by way of Suez and Gibraltar to any desired port on the Atlantic coast Scarcely more than a hundred days will be required for such a voyage a dozen changes of conveyance and a land travel of less than a single week We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience
