Risk assessment of Food Allergens - Part 3: Review and establish precautionary labelling in foods of the priority allergens Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2023-05-19 FAO and WHO reconvened a third meeting to review and evaluate the evidence in support of precautionary allergen labelling to address unintended allergen presence in foods The Expert Committee at the third meeting reviewed the data on the current status and uses of the precautionary allergen labelling PAL and unanimously agreed that current PAL systems used in many countries needed to be improved as they were neither uniform nor informative and were not consistently risk based on amount and frequency of UAP found in food products The Expert Committee also found that current PAL approaches led to widespread PAL that diminished information and value for consumers The Expert Committee reviewed again the principles and basis of RfD from the second meeting and reached a consensus that the RfD for each priority allergen as described by the HBGV and safety objectives was a valid risk assessment endpoint for determining when sporadic or unexpected UAP posed more than appreciable risk to consumers and needed to be communicated to consumers by PAL Cooperative Design, Visualization, and Engineering Yuhua Luo, 2016-10-13 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th International Conference on Cooperative
