with the time honored problem of the change that is induced when money enters into the economy As far back as Aristotle Politics pp 1135 1143 the still unanswered question regarding the dichotomy of the real exchange and the monetary economy was raised He contrasted Oeconomic where people strive to obtain real utilities household management to Chrematistic where they use money to make more money art of wealth acquisition The true wealth consists of such values in use for the quantity of possession of this kind capable of making life pleasant is not unlimited There is however a second mode of acquiring things to which we may by preference and with correctness give the name of Chrematistic and in this case there appear to be no limits to riches and possessions Trade does not in its nature belong to Chrematistic for here the exchange has reference only to what is necessary to themselves In the case of Chrematistic circulation is the source of riches And it appears to revolve about money for money is the beginning and end of this kind of exchange Therefore also riches such as Chrematistic strives for are unlimited Oeconomic not Chrematistic has a limit the object of the former is something different from money of the latter the augmentation of money
