The Mouse Merchant Arshia Sattar, 2015-05-22 Even in ancient India money is always a good thing and everyone wants it The stories in The Mouse Merchant selected from the Sanskrit universe from the period of the late Rig Veda to the twelfth century tell us how money was dealt with in everyday life in ancient and medieval Indian society At the heart of these tales is the merchant Sometimes gullible sometimes greedy ingenious at some moments dim witted at others and hopelessly in love with courtesans but also loyal to their wives our merchant heroes show how innovation in business is sometimes more important than capital The Mouse Merchant puts these stories into the context of Indian business history giving not only rare insights into the romance of the ancient seafaring life but also great wisdom about money

Social Dramas David A. Postles, 2010-11-22 How the repeated social tropes and paradigms of the City comedies give us an in depth look into everyday London society in the early 17th century Although literature is often assumed to belong to the sphere of representation rather than constituting an accurate reflection of social reality early modern English drama can tell us much about social attitudes in the early seventeenth century The City comedies were in particular composed by authors who were embedded in the mundane social existence of London in its quotidian transactions and exchanges in its less salubrious contexts of debt drinking death and incarceration To elucidate the complex social attitudes of the City urban elite five particular themes are explored the symbolism of attire matrimonial talk the use of money coin as metaphor and metonymy over exuberance towards the opportunity of the New World and continuing differences of speech and customary language use Although the dramatists had slightly differing allegiances their commentaries all illuminate middling society in the City of London This new work by David Postles raises important questions in an innovative manner It will certainly be welcomed by the historical community Bernard Capp FBA Dept of History University of Warwick David Postles is one of the most innovative social historians writing today Nigel Goose Professor of Social and Economic History University of Hertfordshire This book will be significant reading for all those working in the field It will be warmly received by readers and reviewers and will remain a work of reference for scholars and students for the future Greg Walker Regius Professor of Rhetoric and English Literature
