Preparing to Deliver the 14-19 Education Reforms in England Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2008 The 14 19 education reform programme aims to increase young people s participation in education and training beyond age 16 and raise their educational attainment Central to the programme are new Diploma qualifications being introduced between September 2008 and 2013 in 14 different occupational areas that offer a blend of academic and vocational learning This report examines giving all young people access to Diplomas reducing complexity and communicating simply and having the capability to deliver the reforms The Department for Children Schools and Families the Department has involved universities and employers in designing the Diplomas and developing their content As new qualifications there is still much work to be done to convince parents employers and universities that Diplomas are a credible alternative to existing qualifications To help make the qualifications more understandable the Department and its partners need to demonstrate clearly how Diplomas will help young people progress into further learning and employment By 2013 the Department is aiming for all young people in England to have access to all 14 Diplomas at three different skill levels The Department has spent 590 million on the programme It has not yet established cost estimates built up from the local level for delivering Diplomas and has only just begun surveying local authorities to assess their capital requirements
