Marriage and Values in Public Policy Elizabeth van Acker, 2017-01-20 Marriage is a site of political conflict It is a controversial issue in the UK Australia and the US where there is a clash of values between neoliberal governments and diverse groups either strongly opposing or supporting marriage In the meantime fewer couples are marrying while other family forms are more widely accepted This book explores this disconnect by examining policy issues such as class divides ethnicity religion same sex marriage gender relations and romantic expectations A top down approach explores different government policy responses to marriage In all three countries there are differences and similarities in how governments react to the changes in family formations but values or conceptions of the desirable play a significant role Enhancing stability and commitment as well as personal responsibility are important for policymakers who aim to keep the family intact and thereby lower the burden on the public purse It is difficult for political actors to respond to conflicting and changing values surrounding the diversity in relationships or to translate them into policies There is a strong case to be made for increased policy attention to adult relationships and a much weaker case for marriage Rich evidence is drawn from interviews with key stakeholders as well as politicians speeches government departmental reports stakeholders documents and responses to government policies and media articles
