Personality and Individual Differences Michael Eysenck, 2012-02-09 This book presents an introduction to the study of personality and individual differences but it is not a textbook in the usual sense As we shall point out in some detail later typically textbooks on personality and individual differences either deal with statistical and psychometric problems methodology and the technical issues of measurement or else they present the different theories of personality associated with various authors such as Maslow Cattell Freud Jung Murray Rogers Rotter or to whomever the various eponymous chapters may be dedicated The theories are presented together with a brief mention of some empirical studies but the student is not enlightened as to the weight to be given to the supporting evidence nor is any comparison attempted between the different theories formulating judgments regarding completeness criteria adopted or validity in terms of experimental proof It is small wonder that philosophers of science have concluded that the social sciences unlike the hard sciences suffer from the lack of a paradigm Kuhn 1970 this defect is more noticeable perhaps in the study of personality and individual differences than in any other part of psychology except perhaps in clinical and abnormal psychology where an equal lack of consensus rules
