Perspectives on Motivation Richard Dienstbier, Richard A. Dienstbier, 1991-01-01 Appearing on the hundredth anniversary of the teaching of psychology at the University of Nebraska this volume represents a return to an earlier preoccupation with motivation and reflects a resurgence of interest in it Eight professionals in psychology discuss the many sides of motivation Mortimer Appley president emeritus of Clark University sees equilibrium or homeostasis as the fundamental motivational process Douglas Derryberry and Don M Tucker of the University of Oregon present a broad and basic model of motivation viewing it as a product of the evolution and neural architecture of the human brain Carole S Dweck of Columbia University approaches personality development through motivational concepts in particular goals related to self image Bernard Weiner of the University of California Los Angeles discusses the importance of one's perception of control over the causes of a situation or problem and over its management or solution Albert Bandura of Stanford University is concerned with short and long term goals as they are affected by emotional states and a sense of self efficacy Similarly Edward L Deci and Richard M Ryan of the University of Rochester consider the bearing of self determination on motivation and achievement

Motivational Perspectives on Chronic Pain Paul Karoly, Geert Crombez, 2018-08-07 Motivational Perspectives on Chronic Pain summarizes contemporary motivational conceptions of chronic pain and presents readers with an up to date compendium of cutting edge research and clinical application This volume highlights the integrative power of models of goal guided self regulation as viewed across multiple analytic levels including the neural the behavioral the affective and the interpersonal

Cross-cultural Differences in Perspectives on the Self Virginia Murphy-Berman, John J. Berman, 2003 Cross Cultural Difference in Perspectives on the Self features the latest research in a dynamic area of inquiry and practice Considered in these pages are cross cultural differences in the idea of the person and in models of balancing obligations to the self family and community Revisiting and questioning the concepts of self and self worth the authors investigate the extent to which factors traditionally associated with psychological effectiveness intrinsic motivation assuming personal responsibility for one's actions and feeling in control unique hopeful and optimistic are culturally bound Hazel Markus and Shinobu Kitayama consider cultural differences in models of psychological agency Joan Miller critiques the meaning of the term agency analyzing the extent to which many popular theories in psychology rest on rather narrow Western models of behavior and effective functioning Steven Heine calls into question the presumed universality of some forms of cognitive processing Sheena Iyengar and Sanford DeVoe apply a cross cultural perspective to better understand intrinsic and extrinsic motivation and the value of choice Kuo shu Yang questions the universality of the pervasive and popular theory of self actualization formulated by Abraham Maslow and finally Ype Poortinga reexamines not only the cultural boundaries of theory but also the very meaning of the concept of culture itself Virginia Murphy Berman is a visiting professor of psychology at Skidmore College John J Berman is a professor of psychology at Skidmore College and the editor of the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation Volume 37 Cross Cultural Perspectives Nebraska 1990      Developmental Perspectives on Motivation Janis E. Jacobs, 1993 Some of the best current work on the development of motivation is presented in this fortieth volume of the Nebraska Symposium on Motivation The diverse approaches for conceptualizing and studying motivational development psychology that extends the traditional area of achievement motivation Some major themes emerge the conceptualization of the self the internal and external factors that affect development of motivations and the choices that result from one's motivations Richard Ryan's opening chapter places the entire work in context by describing historical and theoretical perspectives on developmental and psychosocial models used to understand motivation Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi and Kevin Rathunde also focus on intrinsic motivation but with a greater focus on flow the experience of full involvement with an activity Susan Harter discusses the roles of the I self and the me self research models Jacquelynne S Eccles stresses the link between the social contexts of family and school and the motivational constructs related to achievement and choice of activity Laura L Carstensen maintains Eccles's focus on the importance of choice of activity but concentrates on the later stages in life when social contact declines as a result of changing social and emotional motivations The volume concludes with a summary analyzing the contributors' descriptions of the diverse but complementary aspects of developmental processes and theory      Perspectives on Motivation Richard A. Dienstbier, 1991 Appearing on the hundredth anniversary of the teaching of psychology at the University of Nebraska this volume represents a return to an earlier preoccupation with motivation and reflects a resurgence of interest in it Eight professionals in psychology discuss the many sides of motivation Mortimer Appley president emeritus of Clark University sees equilibrium or homeostasis as the fundamental motivational process Douglas Derryberry and Don M Tucker of the University of Oregon present a broad and basic model of motivation viewing it as a product of the evolution and neural architecture of the human brain Carole S Dweck of Columbia University approaches personality development through motivational concepts in particular goals related to self image Bernard Weiner of the University of California Los Angeles discusses the importance of one's perception of control over the causes of a situation or problem and over its management or solution Albert Bandura of Stanford University is concerned with short and long term goals as they are affected by emotional states and a sense of self efficacy Similarly Edward L Deci and Richard M Ryan of the University of Rochester consider the bearing of self determination on motivation and achievement      Cognitive Perspectives on Emotion and Motivation V. Hamilton, Gordon H. Bower, Nico H. Frijda, 2012-12-06 This book presents the contributions of the members of an Advanced Research Workshop on Cognitive Science Perspectives on Emotion Motivation and Cognition The Workshop funded mainly by the NATO Scientific Affairs Division together with a contribution from the British Economic and Social Research Council was conducted at Il Ciocco Tuscany Italy 21-27 June 1987 The venue for our discussions was ideal a quiet holiday hotel 500m high in the Apennine mountain range approached by a mile of perilously steep winding narrow road The isolation was conducive to concentrated discussions on the topics of the Workshop The reason for the Workshop was a felt need for researchers from disparate but related approaches to cognition emotion and motivation to communicate their perspectives and arguments to one another To take just one example the framework of information processing and the metaphor of mind as a computer has wrought a major revolution in psychological theories of cognition That framework has radically altered the way psychologists conceptualize perception memory language thought and action Those advances have formed the intellectual substrate for the cognitive science perspective on mental life

Perspectives of Psychology Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-03-13 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels      Multidisciplinary Research Perspectives in Education Indika Liyanage, Badeng Nima, 2016-07-27 The editors of this extraordinary book Indika Liyanage and Badeng Nima have brought together a wonderfully wide ranging collection of chapters The breadth and depth of the studies of education issues in China and Australia are impressive The topics encompass important questions concerning education policies curricula pedagogy equality parental engagement cultural heritage and anti drug education The scope of the book includes Chinese and Australian settings that range from kindergartens to higher education and from rural to urban environments The diversity of the book strengthens rather than weakens its coherence because the golden thread running through all the chapters is a portrayal of the complexity of education provision when global national and local forces interact Written by academics with hands on experience the chapters provide evidence based discussions of practical conundrums enriched by the sophisticated use of interdisciplinary approaches As a result this book is powerful challenging and ground breaking Bob Adamson UNESCO Chairholder in TVET and Lifelong Learning Education University of Hong Kong      Nebraska Symposium on Motivation Nebraska Symposium on Motivation, William J. Arnold, 1990      Motivation in Online Education Maggie Hartnett, 2016-03-08 This work explores and explicates learner motivation in online learning environments More specifically it uses a case study approach to examine undergraduate students motivation within two formal and separate online learning contexts In doing so it recognizes the mutually constitutive relationship of the learner and the learning environment in relation to motivation This is distinctive from other approaches that tend to focus on designing and creating motivating environments or alternatively concentrate on motivation as a stable learner characteristic In particular this book identifies a range of factors that can support or undermine learner motivation and discusses each in detail By unraveling the complexity of learner motivation in such environments it provides useful guidelines for teachers instructional designers and academic advisors tasked with building and teaching within online educational contexts      A 150 years' celebration of darwin's book on human evolution and sexual selection: Its legacy and future prospects Marco Antonio Correa Varella, Jaroslava Varella Valentova, Catherine Salmon, Barnaby James Wyld Dixon, Marina Butovskaya, Anabela Pinto Pinto, Boguslaw Pawlowski, Carol Cronin Weisfeld, 2023-07-06      Learner Autonomy Across Cultures D. Palfreyman, R. Smith, 2003-11-03 What does autonomy mean within language learning Should it be enhanced within national institutional or small group culture and if so how can that be done A variety of new theoretical perspectives are here firmly anchored in research data from projects worldwide By foregrounding cultural issues and thus explicitly addressing the concerns of many educators on the appropriateness and feasibility of developing learner autonomy in practice this book fills a gap in the literature and offers practical benefits to language teachers      Handbook of Reading Research, Volume III Michael L. Kamil, Peter B. Mosenthal, P. David Pearson, Rebecca Barr, 2016-11-18 In Volume III as in Volumes I and II the classic topics of reading are included from vocabulary and comprehension to reading instruction in the classroom and in addition each contributor was asked to include a brief history that chronicles the legacies within each of the volume s many topics However on the whole Volume III is not about tradition Rather it explores the verges of reading research between the time Volume II was published in 1991 and the research conducted after this date The editors identified two broad themes as representing the myriad of verges that have emerged since Volumes I and II were published 1 broadening the definition of reading and 2 broadening the reading research program The particulars of these new themes and topics are addressed      The Social Psychology of Education Robert Stephen Feldman, Robert S. Feldman, 1990-07-27 This book examines the ways in which the theory and data of social psychology can be applied to teaching learning and other experiences in schools Its focus ranges in level from the individual e g student attitudes and attributions to the teacher student interaction to the impact of society e g racial and cultural influences on school performance The editor and distinguished contributors have two major purposes The first is to illustrate the scope and sophistication of the emerging field known as the social psychology of education The second is to provide solid informed suggestions to educators for the amelioration of current educational problems To that end each author explicitly discusses implications for educational practice
