Pacific Troller Francis E. Caldwell, 1978 This always readable and immensely popular account of the offshore salmon and albacore troller's life is in its 4th printing      Making Seafood Sustainable Mansel G. Blackford, 2011-12-30 In the spring of 2007 National Geographic warned The oceans are in deep blue trouble From the northernmost reaches of the Greenland Sea to the swirl of the Antarctic Circle we are gutting our seas of fish There were legitimate grounds for concern After increasing more than fourfold between 1950 and 1994 the global wild fish catch reached a plateau and stagnated despite exponential growth in the fishing industry As numerous scientific reports showed many fish stocks around the world collapsed creating a genuine global overfishing crisis Making Seafood Sustainable analyzes the ramifications of overfishing for the United States by investigating how fishers seafood processors retailers government officials and others have worked together to respond to the crisis Historian Mansel G Blackford examines how these players took steps to make fishing in some American waters especially in Alaskan waters sustainable Critical to these efforts Blackford argues has been government and industry collaboration in formulating and enforcing regulations What can be learned from these successful experiences Are they applicable elsewhere What are the drawbacks Making Seafood Sustainable addresses these questions and suggests that sustainable seafood management can be made to work The economic and social costs incurred in achieving sustainable resource usage are significant but there are ways to mitigate them More broadly this study illustrates ways to manage commonly held natural resources around the world land water oil and so on in sustainable ways      Narratives of Loneliness Olivia Sagan, Eric Miller, 2017-09-28 Rising life expectancies and declining social capital in the developed world mean that an increasing number of people are likely to experience some form of loneliness in their lifetimes than ever before Narratives of Loneliness tackles some of the most pressing issues related to loneliness showing that whilst recent policies on social integration community building and volunteering may go some way to giving an illusion of not being alone ultimately they offer a rhetoric of togetherness that may be more seductive than ameliorative as the condition and experience of loneliness is far more complex than commonly perceived Containing thought provoking contributions from researchers and commentators in several countries this important work challenges us to rethink some of the burning issues of our day with specific reference to the causes and consequences of loneliness Topics include the loneliness and mental health of military personnel loneliness and social media loneliness and sexuality urban loneliness and the experiences of transnational movement and adopted children This book therefore makes an overdue multidisciplinary contribution to the emerging debate about how best to deal with loneliness in a world that combines greater and faster connectedness on the one hand with more intensely experienced isolation on the other Since mile Durkheim first claimed that the structure of society could have a strong bearing on psychological health in the 1890s researchers in a range of disciplines have explored the probable impact of social context on mental health and wellbeing Interdisciplinary in approach Narratives of Loneliness will therefore be of great interest to
