Palliative Care In Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis From Diagnosis To Bereavement:

Palliative Care in Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis David Oliver, Gian Domenico Borasio, Wendy Johnston, 2014-03-20

Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis ALS or motor neurone disease is a progressive neurodegenerative disease that can cause profound suffering for both the patient and their family Whilst new treatments for ALS are being developed these are not curative and offer only the potential to slow its progression Palliative care must therefore be integral to the clinical approach to the disease Palliative Care in Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis From diagnosis to bereavement reflects the wide scope of this care it must cover not just the terminal phase but support the patient and their family from the onset of the disease Both the multidisciplinary palliative care team and the neurology team are essential in providing a high standard of care and allowing quality of life both patient and carer to be maintained Clear guidelines are provided to address care throughout the disease process Control of symptoms is covered alongside the psychosocial care of patients and their families Case studies are used to emphasise the complexity of the care needs and involvement of the patient and family culminating in discussion of bereavement Different models of care are explored and this new edition utilizes the increase in both the evidence base and available literature on the subject New topics discussed include complementary therapies personal and family experiences of ALS new genetics research and updated guidelines for patient care to ensure this new edition remains the essential guide to palliative care in ALS

Palliative Care in Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (motor Neurone Disease) David Oliver, Gian Domenico Borasio, Declan Walsh, 2000 Although new treatments for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis motor neurone disease are being developed these at present offer only the potential to slow the disease process Therefore a palliative care approach to the care of the patient and their family is at the center of good clinical practice in ALS MND This book aims to provide an evidence based guide to the care of people with ALS MND including the control of symptoms the psychosocial care of patients and their families and care in bereavement The palliative care approach to the care of ALS MND is outlined and the role of the multidisciplinary team emphasized The international authorship are from many different disciplines and are all closely involved in the care of ALS patients giving a depth of practical knowledge and experience and allowing a comparison of the differences across cultures social circumstances health care systems and nations All contributors are clinicians involved in the care of people with ALS MND and they are able to provide clear guidelines of the care throughout the disease process from telling of the diagnosis to death The experience of patients and families are considered and case studies are provided to show the practical applications of the theoretical knowledge An evidence based approach grounded in day to day care of patients is used Different models of care are explored and the interaction of palliative care with other treatment regimes is addressed as the experience from the

Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis ALS is a devastating neurodegenerative disorder with a progressive and fatal course with no known medical therapies that can reverse the disease or halt its progression Palliative care is the mainstay of disease management aimed at maximizing Quality Of Life QOL for the patient and caregiver Clinicians caring for patients with ALS need to understand complex psychological issues in the patient and caregiver including depression anxiety hopelessness and wish for hastened death physician assisted suicide They also need to confront the psychological implications of rapidly advancing genetic research the impact of cognitive and behavioural dysfunction in a sizable minority of ALS patients and caregiver burnout Healthcare providers can optimize care by better understanding not only these factors but by learning how to facilitate their management with problem solving coping techniques and with psychologically based approaches such as mindfulness and other non pharmacological approaches aimed at maximizing QOL Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis
