

Precourse self-assessment

Are you ready for the course?
The objective of the precourse self-assessment is to evaluate your ability to integrate both rhythm interpretation and the use of pharmacologic agents.

For some, this will be a review and refresher exercise.

For others, you will learn that more preparation is needed before proceeding with the course.

Welcome to the Precourse Self-Assessment

The PALS Precourse Self-Assessment is designed to identify gaps in your knowledge of ECG rhythm recognition, pharmacology, and the PALS algorithms and flowcharts, because the PALS Provider Course does not teach these topics.

The Precourse Self-Assessment consists of 3 self-assessment tests: ECG Rhythm Identification, Pharmacology, and Practical Application. You will receive immediate feedback after you answer each question.

Use the summary of your test results to identify any deficiencies in your knowledge. Increase your knowledge by studying applicable content in the PALS Provider Manual, the 2010 Handbook of Emergency Cardiovascular Care for Healthcare Providers, or other supplementary resources.

This is a SAMPLE of the pretest you can access with your AHA PALS Course Manual at Heart.org/Eccstudent using your personal code that comes with your PALS Course Manual
