Wilbur, 1998 Talking the Walk Hunter Cutting, 2006 The essential activist guide for navigating the minefield of media and race powerful analysis and tools Handbook of Research on the Global Impact of Media on Migration Issues Okorie, Nelson, Ojebuyi, Babatunde Raphael, Macharia, Juliet Wambui, 2019-10-25 In today s culture media outlets have as much influence on the general public as ever Migration is an issue that has sparked commentary throughout the globe leading to many dissimilar viewpoints These news systems have the ability to convey mass messages regarding these disputes which could lead to a wide range of socio cultural implications depending on the intent and nature of these reports The Handbook of Research on the Global Impact of Media on Migration Issues provides emerging research exploring the theoretical and practical aspects of media structures and implications of media institutions tackling migration issues and related problems Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as human trafficking global peace and modern slavery this book is ideally designed for reporters journalists policymakers government officials communication specialists industry professionals students and scholars seeking current research on the modern development of migration Community and Public Health Education Methods Bensley, 2017-12-22 Updated and revised to keep pace with changes in the field the fourth edition of Community Health Education Methods A Practical Guide teaches students to effectively communicate health education messages and positively influence the norms and behaviors of both individuals and communities This text explores the methods used by health educators including didactic techniques designed to guide others toward the pursuit of a healthy lifestyle Demographic Changes, a View from California Institute of Medicine, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Roundtable on the Promotion of Health Equity and the Elimination of Health Disparities, 2010-06-23 The IOM held a workshop on July 28 2008 to examine strategies for discussing health disparities in ways that engage the public and motivate change Speakers focused on health disparities in California which continues to see dramatic demographic shifts Community Organizing and Community Building for Health and Welfare Meredith Minkler, 2012-07-16 The third edition of Community Organizing and Community Building for Health and Welfare provides new and more established ways to approach community building and organizing from collaborating with communities on assessment and issue selection to using the power of coalition building media advocacy and social media to enhance the effectiveness of such work With a strong emphasis on cultural relevance and humility this collection offers a wealth of case studies in areas ranging from childhood obesity to immigrant worker rights to health care reform A tool kit of appendixes includes guidelines for assessing coalition effectiveness exercises for critical reflection on our own power and privilege and training tools such as policy bingo From former organizer and now President Barack Obama to academics and professionals in the fields of public health social work urban planning and community psychology the book offers a comprehensive vision and on the ground examples of the many ways community building and organizing can help us address some of the most intractable health and social problems of our times Dr Minkler's course syllabus Although Dr Minkler has changed the order of some chapters in the syllabus to accommodate guest speakers and help students prep for the midterm assignment she uses she arranged the actual book layout in a way that should flow quite naturally if instructors wish to use it in the order in which chapters appear

ASSIST, 2005 Just as the American Stop Smoking Intervention Study for Cancer Prevention ASSIST was a major shift in the National Cancer Institute's NCI's tobacco prevention and control research and dissemination efforts this monograph is a significant departure from NCI's previous tobacco control monographs For many the ASSIST project represented a logical progression of NCI's phased research approach to reducing tobacco use For others it represented a controversial and overly ambitious leap in a new direction Similarly this monograph departs from the traditional quantitative evidence review format to emphasize instead the practical hands on experience of program implementation Traditional research investigators who defend the sanctity of the randomized clinical trial many of whom were uncomfortable with ASSIST at its outset will also be uncomfortable with the personal and anecdotal flavor of this monograph Public health practitioners on the other hand as well as those investigators who have immersed themselves in the untidy world of implementation research will appreciate the detailed historical accounts of the complexities politics and outright opposition encountered by the ASSIST team The collective experiences described in this monograph provide a rich understanding of the gritty struggle against the powerful forces of the tobacco industry and its allies For students in public health training programs this work also provides a unique view of the world outside of academia where commercial political and public health interests collide in a struggle to define the policies norms and practices that will affect the health of generations page viii

Making Data Talk David E. Nelson (M.D.), Bradford W. Hesse, Robert T. Croyle, 2009 The demand for health information continues to increase but the ability of health professionals to provide it clearly remains variable The aim of this book is 1 to summarize and synthesize research on the selection and presentation of data pertinent to public health and 2 to provide practical suggestions based on this research summary and synthesis on how scientists and other public health practitioners can better communicate data to the public policy makers and the press in typical real world situations Because communication is complex and no one approach works for all audiences the authors emphasize how to communicate data better and in some instances contrast this with how to communicate data worse rather than attempting a cookbook approach The book contains a wealth of case studies and other examples to illustrate major points and actual situations whenever possible Key principles and recommendations are summarized at the end of each chapter This book will stimulate interest among public health practitioners scholars and students to more seriously consider ways they can understand and improve communication about data and other types of scientific information with the public policy makers and the press Improved data communication will increase the chances that evidence based scientific findings can play a greater role in improving the public's health      Promoting Health Institute of Medicine, Division of Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, Committee on Capitalizing on Social Science and Behavioral Research to Improve the Public's Health, 2000-03-01 At the dawn of the twenty first century Americans enjoyed better overall health than at any other time in the nation's history Rapid advancements in medical technologies breakthroughs in understanding the genetic underpinnings of health and ill health improvements in the effectiveness and variety of pharmaceuticals and other developments in biomedical research have helped develop cures for many illnesses and improve the lives of those with chronic diseases By itself however biomedical research cannot address the most significant challenges to improving public health Approximately half of all causes of mortality in the United States are linked to social and behavioral factors such as smoking diet alcohol use sedentary lifestyle and accidents Yet less than five percent of the money spent annually on U S health care is devoted to reducing the risks of these preventable conditions Behavioral and social interventions offer great promise but as yet their potential has been relatively poorly tapped Promoting Health identifies those promising areas of social science and behavioral research that may address public health needs It includes 12 papers commissioned from some of the nation's leading experts that review these issues in detail and serves to assess whether the knowledge base of social and behavioral interventions has been useful or could be useful in the development of broader public health interventions
