Reimagining the Judiciary Maria C. Escobar-Lemmon, Valerie J. Hoekstra, Alice J. Kang, Miki Caul Kittilson, 2022-01-13

This book examines the factors that facilitate the inclusion of women on high courts while recognizing that many courts have a long way to go before reaching gender parity. Why did women start appearing on high courts when they did? Where have women made the most significant strides? To address these questions, the authors built the first cross-national and longitudinal dataset on the appointment of women and men to high courts. In addition, they provide five in-depth country case studies to unpack the selection of justices to high courts in Canada, Colombia, Ireland, South Africa, and the United States. The cross-national lens and combination of quantitative analyses and detailed country studies examines multiple influences across region and time. Focusing on three sets of explanations: pipelines to high courts, domestic institutions, and international influences, analyses reveal that women are more likely to first appear on their country's high court when traditional ideas about who can and should be a judge erode. In some countries, international treaties, regional emulation, and women's international NGOs play a role in disseminating and linking global norms of gender equality in decision-making. Importantly, while informal institutions and reliance on men-dominated networks can limit access, women are making substantial strides in their countries' highest courts where the supply grows and often where selectors have incentives to select women. Further, sustained pressure from advocacy organizations at the local, national, and global levels contributes to some gains. Comparative Politics is a series for researchers, teachers, and students of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics. Global in scope, books in the series are characterized by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour. The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research. For more information, visit www.ecpr.net/eu. The series is edited by Susan Scarrow John and Rebecca Moores, Professor of Political Science at the University of Houston, and Jonathan Slapin, Professor of Political Institutions and European Politics, Department of Political Science, University of Zurich.

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J. Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice, whether as judges or litigants. Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks, the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges. This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts. The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers.

The role of Jewish American Organizations in the Rescue, Rehabilitation and Reconstruction of Tunisia's Jewish Community between 1942 and 1967

Maissa Arfaoui, 2025-09-26 This book fills a major historical gap by investigating the role played by Jewish American organizations in the rescue rehabilitation and reconstruction of Tunisia's Jewish population during and after World War Two Using a variety of archival sources to explore the intricacies of this intervention and the dynamics of interactions between these organizations and local Jewish leaders as well as Tunisian government officials this book highlights that Jewish American organizations present in Tunisia during the wartime and postwar periods played a major role not only in the rescue and relief of the country's Jewish victims of war and German occupation but also in their educational vocational and medical rehabilitation which aimed to prepare them for immigration to Palestine

Goliath's Reckoning: Unveiling the Biassed Truth Behind Children's Court that discriminates against Fathers

Salatiso,2024-06-10 Discover a Father s Courageous Fight Against a Biased Legal System and the Struggle for True Equality In Goliath s Reckoning Unveiling the Biassed Truth Behind Children s Court embark on a profound journey through the complexities of South Africa's family courts where one father's unwavering determination to protect his son becomes a powerful stand against state sanctioned gender discrimination. This compelling narrative not only explores the personal sacrifices and legal battles faced by fathers but also serves as a comprehensive guide for navigating a system that often seems rigged against them.

Key Highlights

- A Personal Battle Follow the author's deeply personal story as he confronts a legal system that favors mothers and marginalizes fathers threatening the best interests of children. Inspired by his own experiences and those of other fathers, the author reveals the immense strength required to challenge deeply entrenched biases.
- Legal Strategies and Practical Insights Gain valuable insights and practical strategies for self-represented litigants fighting for their parental rights. This book offers a roadmap for navigating the complexities of family law, empowering parents to advocate effectively for their children.
- Equality Before the Law Explore the critical principle of equality before the law, a cornerstone of justice that empowers every citizen regardless of their background or social standing to hold the government and its institutions accountable. Learn how state sanctioned discrimination, whether based on gender or race, undermines this principle and threatens the future of South Africa's children.
- A Call to Action Goliath's Reckoning is more than a memoir; it is a call to action for all those who have felt powerless against a biased system. The author challenges readers to stand up for what is right, using the power of personal agency and the guiding light of the Constitution to create a fair and just society.

Why This Book Matters In a world where justice and equality are often compromised by well-intentioned but flawed redress policies, this book shines a light on the urgent need for reform. The author argues that true equality before the law must be restored to protect the best interests of the child and ensure that every parent, including fathers, has the opportunity to play an active and nurturing role in their child's life.

Who Should Read This Book Fathers and Parents Seeking to understand their rights and navigate the family court system. Legal Professionals Interested in the impact of gender biases in family law. Social Justice Advocates Committed to fighting all forms of state sanctioned discrimination. Readers Who believe in the power of individual agency and the importance of equality before the law.

Why Don't Women Rule the World? J. Cherie Strachan, Lori M. Poloni-Staudinger, Shannon Jenkins, Candice D. Ortals, 2019-07-12

Why Don't Women Rule the World is unlike other texts in its comparative approach and strong theoretical underpinnings. It has interesting pedagogical features that will resonate with comparative scholars, Americanists, and those who integrate public policy analysis into the course.

Rebecca E. Deen, University of Texas at Arlington

Why don't women have more influence over the way the world is structured? Written by four leaders within the national and international academic caucuses on women and politics, Why Don't Women Rule the World helps students to understand how the underrepresentation of women manifests within politics and the impact this has on policy. Grounded in theory with practical job-related activities, the book offers a thorough introduction to the study of women and politics and will bolster students' political interests, ambitions, and efficacy.
