Eco-Homes Doctor Jenny Pickerill, 2016-01-15 It is widely understood that good affordable eco housing needs to be at the heart of any attempt to mitigate or adapt to climate change This is the first book to comprehensively explore eco housing from a geographical social and political perspective It starts from the premise that we already know how to build good eco houses and we already have the technology to retrofit existing housing Despite this relatively few eco houses are being built Featuring over thirty case studies of eco housing in Britain

Spain Thailand Argentina and the United States Eco Homes examines the ways in which radical changes to our houses such as making them more temporary using natural materials or relying on manual heating and ventilation systems require changes in how we live As such it argues it is not lack of technology or political will that is holding us back from responding to climate change but deep rooted cultural and social understandings of our way of life and what we expect our houses to do for us

Quality-of-Life Community Indicators for Parks, Recreation and Tourism Management Megha Budruk, Rhonda Phillips, 2010-11-25 While community quality of life indicators are gaining much needed attention in both scholarly work and practice their application in the areas of parks recreation and tourism management are not as well known The applicability of indicator systems for natural resource and natural resource area management within the parks and recreation arena is very high including urban parks and recreation programs and their influence on quality of life Tourism is also an area that needs much more work in terms of assessing impacts as well as developing indicators for gauging progress in the long term All three areas are an integrated discipline and most programs throughout the developed world are housed jointly There are several researchers across the globe who are conducting innovative work in these areas The editors feel that a volume on the topic will spur additional interests as well as serve to lead the research efforts

This book seeks to investigate how the pedagogic space of schools and classrooms has been defined by the UK government's counter terrorism Prevent strategy most notably through the requirement on teachers not to undermine fundamental British values as part of the Teachers Professional Standards. The term fundamental British values migrated from Prevent to the statutory framework that regulates teacher professionalism and has effectively securitized education practice. The Prevent strategy was conceived in response to the 7/7 bombings in London by so-called home-grown Muslim terrorists. The need for teachers to promote British values is an attempt to forge a cohesive British identity among young citizens within a multiracial, multicultural and multilingual society. However, as the chapters in this book illustrate, the state project to harness education to engender belonging or, as some would argue, civic nationalism whilst simultaneously undertaking surveillance of children and young people from the Muslim community for signs of radicalization has led to the perception of a hierarchy of citizens or conversely insider/outsider citizens. The imperative to promote and not undermine fundamental British values has in some instances transformed the safe space of the classroom where children and young people's right to explore their perceptions of current affairs, citizenship and belonging has been curtailed for fear of surveillance by teachers who may interpret their utterances as either undermining British values or to be signs of radicalization. This book explores these dilemmas for teachers and the implications for their professionalism and examines how racist nativism has pervaded society, educational policy and practice through the promotion of a Britishness perceived by many as a raced, classed and exclusionary discourse. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Education for Teaching. Place Attachment Lynne C. Manzo, Patrick Devine-Wright, 2013-08-15. Recipient of the 2014 EDRA Achievement Award. Place attachments are emotional bonds that form between people and their physical surroundings. These connections are a powerful aspect of human life that inform our sense of identity, create meaning in our lives, facilitate community and influence action. Place attachments have bearing on such diverse issues as rootedness and belonging, placemaking and displacement, mobility and migration, intergroup conflict, civic engagement, social housing and urban redevelopment, natural resource management and global climate change. In this multidisciplinary book, Manzo and Devine Wright draw together the latest thinking by leading scholars from around the globe, capturing important advancements in three areas: theory, methods and application. In a wide range of conceptual and applied ways, the authors critically review and challenge contemporary knowledge, identify significant advances and point to areas for future research. This volume offers the most current understandings about place attachment, a critical concept for the environmental social sciences and placemaking professions. Transgression and Deviance in the Ancient World Lennart Gilhaus, Anja Dorn, Imogen Herrad, Michael Meurer, 2022-09-26. Social coexistence is made possible and regulated by norms. Which actions are labeled and sanctioned as transgressions of norms is the result of social negotiation processes. Transgression and norm deviance can both stabilize and undermine the existing norm system. The contributions to this anthology aim to provide some impulses on the relationship between norm and deviance in ancient societies by means of selected case studies from the Greek classical period to the Roman imperial period and to investigate the role of transgressive acts for the dynamics of social systems In 8 contributions among others on the cult of Artemis on the tragedian Agathon on Cicero Lucan and Tacitus the topic is treated in a model like manner Higher Education, Community Connections and Collaborations Sinéad Gormally, Abigail Maguire, Mike Seal, 2024-12-12 This book innovatively explores the policy practice and pedagogy of community engagement in higher education settings It contributes to the evaluation of adaptive practice and responses in addressing inequalities further exposed by the pandemic and the role of higher education institutions within this By exploring such themes contributors highlight implications for future practice and suggest areas for further pedagogical development The book also includes perspectives on the patterns of change in higher education asking crucial questions pertaining to its role in regeneration and recovery as it seeks to work for within and between communities and constituencies While it foregrounds youth and community work it makes wider and systemic connections between communities and higher education institutions Transgression as a Mode of Resistance Christina R. Foust, 2010-06-22 Since industrialization two major theoretical perspectives have accompanied the vibrant practice of social change The first hegemony emerged as a less deterministic route to revolution from Marxist theory and forms the common sense of social movement today Within hegemonic resistance rhetoric links issues ideas and identities to form a recognizable collective agent whose aim is to transform the status quo into its vision of the world The second major mode of resistance transgression grows from anarchist and autonomous resistance to capitalism Transgression attempts to free individuals uniqueness and creative power by deconstructing authority and explicating the body in resistance Transgression as a Mode of Resistance Rethinking Social Movement in an Era of Corporate Globalization provides the conceptual mapping for scholars students and practitioners to participate in the growing debate between these rich and powerful forces of social change Through a broad perspective on philosophy and history Christina R Foust demonstrates that hegemony and transgression are sometimes conflicting oftentimes inter related practices She responds to critics who believe that without a social change agent resistance appears baseless and naive without a representational economy to cohere and express common interests social movement is impossible Through alternative social relationships and political performances transgressive resisters may reinvent daily life
