insight into the worst of what humans do and challenging us to imagine a world in which violence is no longer a given Their book is full of surprising insights and intelligent compassion Sarah Leonard co editor of The Future We Want Radical Ideas for the New Century In Violence Brad Evans and Natasha Lennard have created alongside their interview subjects a kaleidoscopic exploration of the concept of violence in terrains expected and not in prose taut and unexpectedly gorgeous Their philosophical rigor provides the reader with an intellectual arsenal against the violence of the current moment Molly Crabapple author of Drawing Blood We would be wise to read this collection with a similar eye toward service and in so doing open ourselves up to the rare mercy of no longer having to stand on our own Alana Massey author of All The Lives I Want The range of interviews with leading academics to filmmakers and artists is impressive at once immediate and relevant but also profoundly philosophical More essentially though the conversations underline the need and suggest ways to resist and organize in a visionary way in the extraordinary times we live in Razia Iqbal BBC News Notable contemporary thinkers and creators give their individual perspectives in this compelling look at violence A provocative volume that challenges humanity to correct its runaway course toward an increasingly violent future by learning from its violent past Kirkus Reviews The purpose of the work is to challenge humanity to create more meaningful solutions when it comes to these kinds of violence or at least to name violence without inadvertently inciting even more anger passion roars through every chapter This book delivers on what it promises which is an achievement Alison Gately The Los Angeles Review of Books If you wish to read the intellectualization of violence Violence is a phenomenal anthology Brad Evans and Natasha Lennard the interviewers and the authors of the anthology have done a remarkable job in bringing together perceptive and intelligent contributors from various fields to scout the reaches of violence Their piercing questions brought out brilliant responses from the interviewees L Ali Khan New York Journal of Books Violence Humans in Dark Times is an intriguing beginning to a much needed sustained intellectual and aesthetic response to the horrors of modern times Zoe Vorsino

Theater after Film

Martin Harries, 2025-05-23 A study of the impact of film and mass culture on drama after World War II In Theater after Film Martin Harries argues that after 1945 as cinema became omnipresent in popular culture theater had to respond to cinema s hegemony Theater couldn t break that hegemony but it could provide a zone of contestation Theater made film s domination of the cultural field visible through hyperbole refusal and other strategies thereby unsettling its power Postwar theatrical experiment Harries shows often channeled and represented film s mass cultural force while knowing that it could never possess that force Throughout the book Harries brings critical theory into contact with theories of performance Although Theater after Film treats the theatrical work of many figures its central focus falls on Tennessee Williams Samuel Beckett and Adrienne Kennedy Discussions of these dramatists consider their ways of addressing spectators the politics of race between film and theater and the place of the theatrical apparatus Readings of these central figures in twentieth century theater exemplify the book s historical engagement with the media surround that drama confronted This confrontation

Harries shows was central to the development of some of the most continually compelling postwar drama Philosophy and Fiction Schuy R. Weishaar, 2022-11-18 Fiction lies in order to tell the truth and seeks reality through shadows Philosophy attempts to dispel false realities it pursues clear understanding of things as they are While the relation of philosophy and fiction is perhaps paradoxical they implicate one another's picture of human experience This book uses fiction to help readers process philosophical themes and the philosophical reflection in turn helps clarify the fiction The study moves through roughly a hundred years of modern fiction from Washington Irving's The Devil and Tom Walker 1824 through James M Cain's Double Indemnity 1936 Several classic works of literary fiction are examined a few largely forgotten stories and several popular novels Reading fiction through the lens of philosophy helps readers perceive the complexity and richness of fiction reinvigorating the pursuit of wisdom that lies just beneath the surface of the words on the page Exploring Text, Media, and Memory Patrizia Lombardo, Lars SAetre, Lars S'tre, Sara Tanderup Linkis, 2018-12-31 Exploring Text Media and Memory investigates the link between memory and media by asking a series of questions pertinent to our time How do individual and collective memories blend How do traumatic experiences from past events and catastrophic projections of the future reveal the human condition in the epoch of frenetic technological reproduction of works of art How is the human body tied to narrations and why A group of international scholars tackle questions like these across art forms media and cultural history In nineteen essays they argue that modern and contemporary literary texts and visual arts show how photography film tape recording television and internet are not just means of storing memory and information but objects that we interact with every day challenging static visions of places and the linear notions of past present and future
