Nice Men Risk Masculinity Heterosexuality Biopolitics:

Men at Risk Shari L. Dworkin, 2015-12-04 Presents a unique approach to HIV prevention at the intersection of sociological and public health research Although the first AIDS cases were attributed to men having sex with men over 70% of HIV infections worldwide are now estimated to occur through sex between women and men In Men at Risk Shari L. Dworkin argues that the centrality of heterosexual relationship dynamics to the transmission of HIV means that both women and men need to be taken into account in gender specific HIV AIDS prevention interventions She looks at the costs of masculinity that shape men's HIV risks such as their initiation of sex and their increased status from sex with multiple partners Engaging with the common paradigm in HIV research that portrays only women and not heterosexually active men as being vulnerable to HIV Dworkin examines the gaps in public health knowledge that result in substandard treatment for HIV transmission and infection among heterosexual men both domestically and globally She examines a vast array of structural factors that shape men's HIV transmission risks and also focuses on a relatively new category of global health programs with men known as gender transformative that seeks to move men in the direction of gender equality in the name of improved health Dworkin makes suggestions for the next generation of gender transformative health interventions by calling for masculinities based and structurally driven HIV prevention programming Thoroughly researched and theoretically grounded Men at Risk presents a unique approach to HIV prevention at the intersection of sociological and public health research

Contraceptive Risk William Green, 2017-05-02 The story of Depo Provera joins the national struggle over the drug's FDA approval to the state legal issues raised by its contraceptive and criminal justice uses Depo Provera is known as an injectable hormonal birth control method but few are familiar with its dark and complicated history Depo Provera was tested on women since the mid 1960s without their informed consent until it was FDA approved in 1992 but never FDA approved as chemical castration for male sex offenders Contraceptive Risk is William Green's landmark study of Depo Provera Based on a fascinating combination of archival materials and interviews the book is framed as three interconnected stories told by Judith Weisz who chaired the FDA's Public Board of Inquiry on Depo Provera a scientific court by Anne MacMurdo who brought a products liability suit against Upjohn the drug's manufacturer for the deleterious side effects she suffered from the drug's use and by Roger Gauntlett an Upjohn heir who when he was convicted of sexual assault refused to take a dose of his family's own medicine as a probation condition Together these three stories of Depo Provera's convoluted fifty year odyssey call for a paradigm shift in pharmaceutical drug development Contraceptive Risk is a thoroughly researched and engrossing approach to the scientific political and institutional forces involved in health law and policy as well as the multifaceted politics of measuring risk

Biocitizenship Kelly E. Happe, Jenell Johnson, Marina Levina, 2018-08-21 Biocitizenship The Politics of Bodies Governance and Power is a critical study of the relationship between the concept of citizenship and the body

Biopolitics, Materiality and Meaning in Modern European Drama Fraunhofer Hedwig

Fraunhofer,2020-09-21 Arguing that existing modernisation theories have been unnecessarily one sided Hedwig Fraunhofer offers a rewriting of modernity that cuts across binary methodologies nature and culture mind and matter epistemology and ontology critique and affirmative writing dramatic and postdramatic theatre She specifically reworks the biopolitical exclusions that mark modern western epistemology leading up to modernity s totalitarian crisis point Fraunhofer reveals the performativity of theatre in its double sense as theatrical production and as the intra activity of a dynamic system of multiple relations between human and more than human actors energies and affects In modern theatre public and private human and more than human materiality and meaning collapse in a common life

Are Racists Crazy? Sander L. Gilman,James Thomas,2018-09-04 The connection and science behind race racism and mental illness In 2012 an interdisciplinary team of scientists at the University of Oxford reported that based on their clinical experiment the beta blocker drug Propranolol could reduce implicit racial bias among its users Shortly after the experiment an article in Time Magazine cited the study posing the question Is racism becoming a mental illness In Are Racists Crazy Sander Gilman and James Thomas trace the idea of race and racism as psychopathological categories from mid 19th century Europe to contemporary America up to the aforementioned clinical experiment at the University of Oxford and ask a slightly different question than that posed by Time How did racism become a mental illness Using historical archival and content analysis the authors provide a rich account of how the 19th century Sciences of Man including anthropology medicine and biology used race as a means of defining psychopathology and how assertions about race and madness became embedded within disciplines that deal with mental health and illness An illuminating and riveting history of the discourse on racism antisemitism and psychopathology Are Racists Crazy connects past and present claims about race and racism showing the dangerous implications of this specious line of thought for today

The Biopolitics of Gender Jemima Repo,2016 This book theorizes the idea of gender itself as an apparatus of power developed to reproduce life and labor From its invention in 1950s psychiatry to its appropriation by feminism demography and public policy the book examines how gender has been deployed to optimize production and reproduction over the past sixty years

To Fix Or To Heal Joseph E. Davis,Ana Marta Gonzalez,2016-02-26 Do doctors fix patients Or do they heal them For all of modern medicine s many successes discontent with the quality of patient care has combined with a host of new developments from aging populations to the resurgence of infectious diseases which challenge medicine s overreliance on narrowly mechanistic and technical methods of explanation and intervention or fixing patients The need for a better balance for more humane healing rationales and practices that attend to the social and environmental aspects of health and illness and the experiencing person is more urgent than ever Yet in public health and bioethics the fields best positioned to offer countervailing values and orientations the dominant approaches largely extend and reinforce the reductionism and individualism of biomedicine The collected essays in To Fix or To Heal do more than document the persistence of reductionist approaches and the attendant extension of medicalization to more and more aspects of our lives

The contributors also shed valuable light on why reductionism has persisted and why more holistic models incorporating social and environmental factors have gained so little traction. The contributors examine the moral appeal of reductionism, the larger rationalist dream of technological mastery, the growing valuation of health and the enshrining of individual responsibility as the seemingly non-coercive means of intervention and control. This paradigm-challenging volume advances new lines of criticism of our dominant medical regime even while proposing ways of bringing medical practice, bioethics and public health more closely into line with their original goals. Precisely because of the centrality of the biomedical approach to our society, the contributors argue, challenging the reductionist model and its ever-widening effects is perhaps the best way to press for a much-needed renewal of our ethical and political discourse. Mattering Victoria Pitts-Taylor, 2016-08-30

Feminists today are re-imagining nature, biology and matter in feminist thought and critically addressing new developments in biology, physics, neuroscience, epigenetics and other scientific disciplines. Mattering, edited by noted feminist scholar Victoria Pitts-Taylor, presents contemporary feminist perspectives on the materialist or naturalizing turn in feminist theory and also represents the newest wave of feminist engagement with science. The volume addresses the relationship between human corporeality and subjectivity, questions and redefines the boundaries of human, non-human and nature, culture, elaborates on the entanglements of matter, knowledge and practice and addresses biological materialization as a complex and open process. This volume insists that feminist theory can take matter and biology seriously while also accounting for power, taking materialism as a point of departure to rethink key feminist issues. The contributors, an international group of feminist theorists, scientists and scholars, apply concepts in contemporary materialist feminism to examine an array of topics in science, biotechnology, biopolitics and bioethics. These include neural plasticity and the brain-machine interface, the use of biometrical identification technologies for transnational border control, epigenetics and the intergenerational transmission of the health effects of social stigma, ADHD and neuropharmacology and randomized controlled trials of HIV drugs. A unique and interdisciplinary collection, Mattering presents in grounded, concrete terms the need for rethinking disciplinary boundaries and research methodologies in light of the shifts in feminist theorizing and transformations in the sciences. Masculinities and the Nation in the Modern World Simon Wendt, Pablo Dominguez Andersen, 2016-04-29 Masculinities and the Nation in the Modern World sheds new light on the interrelationship between gender and the nation, focusing on the role of masculinities in various processes of nation building in the modern world between 1800 and the 1960s. Personalized Medicine Barbara Prainsack, 2017-12-19 Personalized Medicine investigates the recent movement for patients' involvement in how they are treated, diagnosed and medicated, a movement that accompanies the increasingly popular idea that people should be proactive, well-informed participants in their own healthcare. While it is often the case that participatory practices in medicine are celebrated as instances of patient empowerment or alternatively are dismissed as cases of patient exploitation, Barbara Prainsack challenges these views to illustrate how personalized medicine can give rise to a technology focused individualism yet also present new opportunities to strengthen solidarity Facing the future this book reveals how medicine informed by digital quantified and computable information is already changing the personalization movement providing a contemporary twist on how medical symptoms or ailments are shared and discussed in society Provided by publisher

Managing Diabetes Jeffrey A. Bennett, 2019-06-25 A critical study of diabetes in the popular imagination Over twenty nine million people in the United States more than nine percent of the population have some form of diabetes In Managing Diabetes Jeffrey A Bennett focuses on how the disease is imagined in public culture Bennett argues that popular anecdotes media representation and communal myths are as meaningful as medical and scientific understandings of the disease In focusing on the public character of the disease Bennett looks at health campaigns and promotions as well as the debate over public figures like Sonia Sotomayor and her management of type 1 diabetes Bennett examines the confusing and contradictory public depictions of diabetes to demonstrate how management of the disease is not only clinical but also cultural Bennett also has type 1 diabetes and speaks from personal experience about the many misunderstandings and myths that are alive in the popular imagination Ultimately Managing Diabetes offers a fresh take on how disease is understood in contemporary society and the ways that stigma fatalism and health can intersect to shape diabetes s public character This disease has dire health implications and rates keep rising Bennett argues that until it is better understood it cannot be better treated

Feeling Medicine Kelly Underman, 2020-08-18 Honorable Mention Sociology of the Body and Embodiment Best Publication Award given by the Body and Embodiment Section of the American Sociological Association The emotional and social components of teaching medical students to be good doctors The pelvic exam is considered a fundamental procedure for medical students to learn it is also often the one of the first times where medical students are required to touch a real human being in a professional manner In Feeling Medicine Kelly Underman gives us a look inside these gynecological teaching programs showing how they embody the tension between scientific thought and human emotion in medical education Drawing on interviews with medical students faculty and the people who use their own bodies to teach this exam Underman offers the first in depth examination of this essential but seldom discussed aspect of medical education Through studying teaching and learning about the pelvic exam she contrasts the technical and emotional dimensions of learning to be a physician Ultimately Feeling Medicine explores what it means to be a good doctor in the twenty first century particularly in an era of corporatized healthcare

Gender and Biopolitics Pinar Sarıgöl, 2021-10-18 In Gender and Biopolitics The Changing Patterns of Womanhood in Post 2002 Turkey P nar Sar g l sheds new light on the life spheres of the woman as a means of uncovering neoliberal Islamic thinking with regard to individuals and the population Informed by Michel Foucault s critical perspective the governmental rationality of post 2002 Turkey s Islamic neoliberalism is examined in this volume The tenets and merits of Islamic neoliberalism bring moral and religious practices into the discussion regarding how the social order should be in general and how the ideal woman should be in particular Islam and neoliberalism are well matched here because Islam takes society as a social body in which hierarchies and roles are divinely normalised This book uniquely brings this point to the fore and draws attention to the interplay between the rational and moral values constituting Islamic neoliberal female subjects

Descended from Hercules Robert A. Rushing, 2016-10-15 Muscles six pack abs skin and sweat fill the screen in the tawdry and tantalizing peplum films associated with epic Italian cinema of the 1950s and 1960s Using techniques like slow motion and stopped time these films instill the hero's vitality with timeless admiration and immerse the hero's body in a world that is lavishly eroticized but without sexual desire These sword and sandal films represent a century long cinematic biopolitical intervention that offers the spectator an imagined form of the male body one free of illness degeneracy and the burdens of poverty that defends goodness with brute strength and perseverance and serves as a model of ideal citizenry Robert A Rushing traces these epic heroes from Maciste in Cabiria in the early silent era to contemporary transnational figures like Arnold Schwarzenegger in Conan the Barbarian and to films such as Zach Snyder's 300 Rushing explores how the very tactile modes of representation cement the genre's ideological grip on the viewer

Freezing Fertility Lucy van de Wiel, 2020-12-15 Welcomed as liberation and dismissed as exploitation egg freezing oocyte cryopreservation has rapidly become one of the most widely discussed and influential new reproductive technologies of this century In Freezing Fertility Lucy van de Wiel takes us inside the world of fertility preservation with its egg freezing parties contested age limits proactive anticipations and equity investments and shows how the popularization of egg freezing has profound consequences for the way in which female fertility and reproductive aging are understood commercialized and politicized Beyond an individual reproductive choice for people who may want to have children later in life Freezing Fertility explores how the rise of egg freezing also reveals broader cultural political and economic negotiations about reproductive politics gender inequities age normativities and the financialization of healthcare Van de Wiel investigates these issues by analyzing a wide range of sources varying from sparkly online platforms to heart breaking court cases and intimate autobiographical accounts that are emblematic of each stage of the egg freezing procedure By following the egg's journey Freezing Fertility examines how contemporary egg freezing practices both reflect broader social regulatory and economic power asymmetries and repoliticize fertility and aging in ways that affect the public at large In doing so the book explores how the possibility of egg freezing shifts our relation to the beginning and end of life

Introducing Gender and Women's Studies Diane Richardson, Victoria Robinson, 2020-04-22 At a time where after decades of progress in gender and sexual rights people in many parts of the world are facing new forms of resistance and opposition to gender equality this timely publication confirms the continuing importance and relevance of gender and women's studies The fifth edition of this best selling textbook provides a comprehensive overview of key issues and debates in gender and feminist theory With fully revised chapters written by specialists across a range of core topics including sexuality race bodies family masculinity methodologies and migration this clearly written but rigorous collection examines contemporary debates and provides helpful examples and questions to consider Furthermore it continues to reflect the shift from women s studies to gender studies incorporating coverage of masculinity throughout as well as discussing live debates such as around global activism transgender rights and the environment It continues to be an indispensable resource for students academics and anyone interested in this lively field New to this Edition A new chapter on gender and migration Expanded discussion of transgender rights as well as masculinity studies Brings seven new contributors to the collection with newly authored chapters on Gender and Environment Gender and Education Gender and Sexuality and Gender and Race Fully revised and updated with new material and new case examples Greater attention to intersectional approaches and international reach

Language and Mediated Masculinities Robert Lawson,2023 From television shows to the manosphere and from alt right communities to fatherhood forums debates about masculinity have come to dominate the media landscape What does it mean to be a man in contemporary society How is masculinity constituted in different media spaces This growing cultural tension around masculinities has been discussed and analyzed both for general audiences and in burgeoning academic scholarship What has been typically overlooked however is the role that language plays in these mediated performances of masculinity In Language and Mediated Masculinities Robert Lawson draws on data from newspapers social media sites television programs and online forums to explore language and masculinities across a range of media contexts The book offers a critical evaluation of the intersection between language masculinities and identities in contemporary society and addresses three key questions How are masculinities constructed in both public and private spheres through linguistic and discursive strategies How does language about masculinity and men affect and recreate gender ideologies in different social political and historical contexts What might the language of men tell us about the state of contemporary gender relations in the twenty first century Lawson furthers our understanding of how language is implicated in re creating gender ideologies and how it shapes contemporary gender relations Against a cultural backdrop of rising neoliberalism ethnic nationalism online radicalization networked misogyny and fractious gender relations this book is an important contribution to charting how language is used to monitor evaluate and police masculinities in online and offline spaces

Heavy Metal Music in Britain Gerd Bayer,2016-04-22 Heavy metal has developed from a British fringe genre of rock music in the late 1960s to a global mass market consumer good in the early twenty first century Early proponents of the musical style such as Black Sabbath Deep Purple Judas Priest Saxon Uriah Heep and Iron Maiden were mostly seeking to reach a young male audience Songs were often filled with violent sexist and nationalistic themes but were also speaking to the growing sense of deterioration in social and professional life At the same time however heavy metal was seriously indebted to the legacies of blues and classical music as well as to larger literary and cultural themes The genre also produced mythological concept albums and rewritings of classical poems In other words heavy metal tried from the beginning to locate itself in a liminal space between pedestrian mass culture and a rather elitist adherence to complexity and musical craftsmanship speaking from a subaltern position against the hegemonic discourse This collection of essays provides a comprehensive and multi disciplinary look at British heavy metal from its beginning through The New Wave of British Heavy Metal up to the increasing internationalization and widespread acceptance in the late 1980s The individual chapter authors approach British heavy metal from a textual perspective providing critical analyses of the politics and ideology behind the lyrics images and performances Rather than focus on individual bands or songs the essays collected here argue with the larger system of heavy metal music in mind providing comprehensive analyses that relate directly to the larger context of British life and culture The wide range of approaches should provide readers from various disciplines with new and original ideas about the study of this phenomenon of popular culture

Schools as Queer Transformative Spaces Jón Ingvar Kjarran, Helen

Sauntson, 2019-10-08 This book explores the narratives and experiences of LGBTQ and gender non conforming students around the world Much previous research has focused on homophobic transphobic bullying and the negative consequences of expressing non heterosexual and non gender conforming identities in school environments To date less attention has been paid to what may help LGBTQ students to experience school more positively and relatively little has been done to compare research across the global contexts This book addresses these research gaps by bringing together ongoing research from countries including Brazil China South Africa the UK and many more Each chapter examines results of empirical research into school experiences of LGBTQ students and the experiences and perspectives of teachers and parents All contributions are theoretically informed by aspects of queer theory and or critical feminist theory with additional insights from psychological sociological and linguistic perspectives Contributing chapters consider how educational workers may question socially sanctioned concepts of normality in relation to gender and sexuality in ways that benefit all students and how they can queer schools to make them less oppressive in terms of gender and sexuality Expertly written and researched this book is an invaluable resource for researchers policymakers and students in the fields of education sociology gender studies and anyone with an interest in gender and sexuality studies

Romancing the Sperm Diane Tober, 2019 In this book Tober explores the intersections between sperm donation and the broader social and political environment in which modern families are created and regulated The book provides information on family and kinship genetics and eugenics and how ever expanding assisted reproductive technologies continue to redefine what it means to be human
