Dawn of Mind James Cooke, 2024-12-03 Although consciousness is at the very center of who we are its exact nature continues to confound modern science From where does consciousness originate At our core are we material bodies or immaterial conscious minds Many assume that consciousness is a product of our complex brains a product of evolution and yet there is no evolutionary reason that a mechanical function of the brain should allow us to enjoy the beauty of a sunrise or become intoxicated with the smell of rain on dry earth If consciousness is not the product of sophisticated human brains might the nonhuman living world be conscious If so where does that place us in relation to the rest of life on Earth and what does this imply about our domination and plundering of the natural world for resources Dr James Cooke is no stranger to intricate and existential questions such as these and he confronts them head on in his compelling inventive revolutionary new book The Dawn of Mind Weaving together cutting edge science and the contemplative insights that arise from mystical experience as occurs with meditation and the emerging therapeutic paradigm of psychedelic medicine Cooke radically redraws our understanding of what it truly means to be who we are Though Cooke approaches the question of consciousness from a rigorous scientific stance his first foray into the study of consciousness was an intensely personal one On a bus ride through Colchester the ancient Roman capital of Britain Cooke spontaneously felt himself feeling intensely and fully connected with the natural world around him his sense of self fell away entirely This transcendent moment inspired years of scientific study and the contemplative exploration of personal mystical experiences leading Cooke to a stunning revelation our sense of self is not an objective fact but an illusion a survival technique we use to try and find order in a disorderly world We each construct a boundary between ourselves and the natural world constantly simulating what will happen around us in order to survive and navigate our surroundings Consider this how long would you make it if you were crossing a busy street and only reacted to an oncoming car reflexively once you felt its touch on your skin Unlike the self however consciousness is no such illusion and is the product of the very same survival process it is the simulation in which our sense of self appears Of course we aren't the only creatures who function in this way According to Cooke consciousness is not complex brain function that only we possess but a deeply embodied phenomenon an essential feature of being a living thing Sure we aren't conscious in the same way as a tree or a worm but as living things we are all conscious just maybe this notion of our dominion over all other life on earth was a ruse all along Understanding consciousness in this way is not just some theoretical exercise As climate change amplifies by the day a growing chorus of voices insists that our fundamental disconnect from nature is at the root of our ecological crisis Healing the divide between nature and consciousness may be the key to extricating ourselves from this dire predicament
