New Literacies Colin Lankshear, Michele Knobel, 2003

Lankshear and Knobel's New Literacies Changing Knowledge and Classroom Learning is a savvy and principled analysis of emerging socio cultural conditions of digitization the best take to date on education Post Lyotard Suzanne de Castell Professor Literacy and New Media Studies Simon Fraser University An intriguing book which argues why the use of new media is transforming ways of knowing and making meaning in the digital age Essential reading for anyone who cares about literacy education Associate Professor Ilana Snyder Monash University A good book opens a window onto new vistas an excellent one on the other hand pulls readers through the opening and beyond inviting critical dialogue at every turn New Literacies belongs in the excellent category Donna Alvermann University of Georgia Literacy education continues to be dominated by a mindset that has passed its use by date Education has failed to take account of how much the world has changed during the information technology revolution It proceeds as though the world is the same as before just somewhat more technologised This is the hallmark of an outsider mindset In fact qualitatively new literacies and new kinds of knowledge associated with digitally saturated social practices abound Insiders understand this outsiders do not Yet outsider perspectives still dominate educational directions Meanwhile student insiders endure learning experiences that mystify bemuse alienate and miseducate them This book describes new social practices and new literacies along with kinds of knowledge associated with them It shows what is at stake between outsider and insider mindsets argues that education requires a shift in mindset and suggests how and where pursuit of progressive change might begin

Contemporary Readings in Literacy Education Marva Cappello, Barbara Moss, 2010 Contemporary Readings in Literacy Education is designed to provide students with high quality journal and research articles in literacy education The readings are contextualized with introductions and discussion questions by the editors of the text The text will help instructors to easily integrate the latest research into their course in a meaningful way This reader with edited content and contextualizing material makes the latest research more interesting and accessible to the students of literacy education

Assessing New Literacies Anne Burke, Roberta F. Hammett, 2009 New literacies globally popular among children and adolescents in and out of school contexts are challenging educators and institutions to rethink pedagogies As educators begin to embrace the pedagogical possibilities of multimodal texts and digital practices they are exploring the complexities of assessing these new literacies The essays in this book explore what it means to assess the sophisticated textual engagements of new literacies including reading and writing online social networking gaming multimodal composing and creating virtual identities Chapters offer practical examples of new literacies and examine how assessment provides insight into the diverse ways in which language is conceived valued and used to inform the literate lives of its twenty first century users Scholars and educators will find this collection full of rich understanding of the assessment concerns raised by new communication practices youth culture digital engagements and semiotic diversification

Pedagogy of Multiliteracies Heather Lotherington, 2012-04-23 A CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2012 Based on case studies from public schools in Toronto Canada this book chronicles an inspiring five year journey to develop thinking about and teaching literacy for the 21st century The research which was classroom based and developed by public school teachers in collaboration with university researchers was stimulated by an ethnographic study at Joyce Public School to track children learning to read in an era of multiliteracies Following the kindergarteners interest in Goldilocks and the Three Bears Lotherington asked the principal What would Goldilocks look like retold through the eyes of the children The resulting classroom experiment to transform learning to read a storybook into multimodal collaborative story telling sparked the development of an award winning school university learning community dedicated to the development of multimodal literacies in the culturally diverse urban classroom Pedagogy of Multiliteracies tells the evolving story of teachers trial and error interventions to engage children in multiple modes of expression involving structured play with contemporary media Using the complex texts created the teachers carve spaces to welcome the voices of children and the languages of the community into the English medium classroom

Literacy and Numeracy in Latin America Judy Kalman, Brian V. Street, 2013-05-07 Latin American Literacy and Numeracy Studies LALNS are fairly unknown in other parts of the world This book charts new directions in LALNS and explores the relationship between these studies and international perspectives Calling upon social practice approaches New Literacy Studies sociolinguistics discourse analysis and other paradigms the contributors identify both convergent and divergent literacy and numeracy issues within the region as well as beyond the Latin American context Literacy and Numeracy in Latin America moves the field forward by bringing LALNS into wider focus and helping readers to understand the synergy with work from other perspectives and from other parts of the world and the implications for theory and practice A lack of translated work until now between Latin America and in particular the UK US and Europe has meant that such important overlaps between areas of study have gone unappreciated In this way this volume is the first of its kind a significant and original contribution to the field

Critical Literacy for Information Professionals Sarah McNicol, 2016-04-19 This edited collection explores critical literacy theory and provides practical guidance to how it can be taught and applied in libraries Critical literacy asks fundamental questions about our understanding of knowledge Unlike more conventional approaches to literacy and resource evaluation with critical literacy there is no single correct way to read and respond to a text or resource A commitment to equity and social justice sets critical literacy apart from many other types of literacy and links it to wider societal debates such as internationalization community cohesion and responses to disability The book provides a foundation of critical literacy theory as applied to libraries combines theory and practice to explore critical literacy in relation to different user groups and offers practical ways to introduce critical literacy approaches in libraries Contributed to by international experts from across library sectors the book covers topics including radical information literacy as an approach to critical literacy education critical literacy and mature students physical and digital disability access in libraries teaching critical literacy skills in a multicultural multilingual school community teaching media literacy developing critical literacy skills in an online environment new media and critical literacy Critical Literacy for Information Professionals also contains a series of practically focussed case studies that describe tools or approaches that librarians have used to engage users in critical literacy Drawing on examples from across library sectors including schools public libraries universities workplaces and healthcare these illustrate how critical literacy can be applied across a variety of library settings including online and new media environments Accessible to those with little knowledge of critical literacy while also introducing debates and ideas to those with more experience of the field this book will be essential reading for librarians information professionals and managers in all sectors students of library and information science school and higher education teachers and researchers

Teaching Geography 11-18: A Conceptual Approach Lambert, David, Morgan, John, 2010-01-01 This book provides a practical guide for students and practising teachers as to how concepts can form the basis of geography teaching This is particularly important at this time as the revised national curriculum for Geography which takes effect from September 2008 has greatly reduced the prescribed content to be covered and instead emphasises that geography is underpinned by a small number of key concepts that provide the building blocks for curriculum planning The new national curriculum for geography identifies 7 concepts Place Space Scale Interdependence Physical and human processes Environmental interaction and sustainable development and Cultural understanding and diversity and these areas are reflected in the book's table of contents This focus on concepts represents a significant shift in how geography is to be taught in schools yet there has been little extended discussion of what a concept led approach to teaching and learning would entail This book will provide geography teachers with a theoretically robust and practical approach to curriculum planning based on the concepts that underpin the subject

Reading and Writing in Preschool Renée M. Casbergue, Dorothy S. Strickland, 2015-12-02 This book describes effective engaging ways to build young children's print concepts and alphabetic knowledge which are crucial for both reading and writing development. Presenting shared reading, shared writing, and targeted instructional activities, each chapter features helpful classroom vignettes, a section debunking myths about preschool literacy, and Ideas for Discussion, Reflection, and Action. Strategies are provided for creating print-rich classroom and home environments and differentiating instruction for diverse students, including English language learners. The book also discusses how to assess preschoolers' reading and writing progress. Reproducible checklists and parent handouts can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1/2 x 11 size.

Negotiating Place and Space through Digital Literacies Damiana G. Pyles, Ryan M. Rish, Julie Warner, 2019-05-01. Digital literacy practices have often been celebrated as means of transcending the constraints of the physical world through the production of new social spaces. At the same time, literacy researchers and educators are coming to understand all the ways that place matters. This volume, with contributors from across the globe, considers how space, place, identities, and the role of digital literacies create opportunities for individuals and communities to negotiate living, being, and learning together with and through digital media. The chapters in this volume consider how social, cultural, historical, and political literacies are brought to bear on a range of places that traverse the urban, rural, and suburban/exurban, with emphasis placed on the ways digital technology is used to create identities and do work within social, digital, and material worlds. This includes agentic work in digital literacies from a variety of identities or subjectivities that disrupt metronormativity, urban centrism, and other isms on the way to more authentic engagement with their communities and others. Featuring instances of research and practice across intersections of differences, including but not limited to race, class, gender, sexuality, ability, and language, the contributions in this volume demonstrate the ways that digital literacies hold educative potential.

Critical Mobile Pedagogy John Traxler, Helen Crompton, 2020-11-26. Critical Mobile Pedagogy is an exploration of mobile technologies for designing and delivering equitable and empowering education around the globe. Synthesizing a diverse range of projects and conceptual frameworks, this case-based collection addresses the ambitions, assumptions, and impacts of interventions in under-researched, often disadvantaged communities. The editors and authors provide a nuanced and culturally responsive approach to showcasing indigenous, nomadic, refugee, rural, and other marginalized communities, emerging pedagogies, such as curation, open resources, massive open online courses (MOOCs), and self-directed learning, contextual factors, including pedagogy, ethics, scaling, research methodology, and culture, and consequences of innocuous or harmful implementation and deployment, the nature of participation by global capital, multinationals, education systems, international agencies, national governments, and telecoms companies. Scholars, academics, policymakers, and program managers are increasingly using mobile technologies to support disadvantaged or disempowered communities in learning more effectively and appropriately. This book's diverse research precedents will help these and other stakeholders meet the challenges and opportunities of our complex, increasingly connected world and work with greater
