New Media Old News Journalism And Democracy In The Digital Age:

New Media, Old News Natalie Fenton, 2010 In a thorough empirical investigation of journalistic practices in different news contexts New Media Old News explores how technological economic and social changes have reconfigured news journalism and the consequences of these transformations for a vibrant democracy in our digital age New Media, Old News Natalie Fenton, 2010 With massive changes in the media environment and its technologies interrogating the nature of news journalism is one of the most urgent tasks we face in defining the public interest today The implications are serious not just for the future of the news but also for the practice of democracy In a thorough empirical investigation of journalistic practices in different news contexts this book explores how technological economic and social changes have reconfigured news journalism and the consequences of these transformations for a vibrant democracy in our digital age The result is a piercing examination of why understanding news journalism matters now more than ever It is essential reading for students and scholars of journalism and new media New Media, Old News Natalie Fenton, 2010

The Death of Public Knowledge? Aeron Davis, 2017-08-11 A collection of short sharp essays exploring the value of shared and accessible public knowledge in the face of its erosion The Death of Public Knowledge argues for the value and importance of shared publicly accessible knowledge and suggests that the erosion of its most visible forms including public service broadcasting education and the network of public libraries has worrying outcomes for democracy With contributions from both activists and academics this collection of short sharp essays focuses on different aspects of public knowledge from libraries and education to news media and public policy Together the contributors record the stresses and strains placed upon public knowledge by funding cuts and austerity the new digital economy quantification and target setting neoliberal politics and inequality These pressures the authors contend not only hinder democracies but also undermine markets economies and social institutions and spaces everywhere Covering areas of international public concern these polemical accessible texts include reflections on the fate of schools and education the takeover of public institutions by private interests and the corruption of news and information in the financial sector They cover the compromised Greek media during recent EU negotiations the role played by media and political elites in the Irish property bubble the compromising of government policy by corporate interests in the United States and Korea and the squeeze on public service media in the United Kingdom New Zealand and the United States Individually and collectively these pieces spell out the importance of maintaining public shared knowledge in all its forms and offer a rallying cry for doing so asserting the need for strong public financial and regulatory support Contributors Toril Aalberg Ian Anstice Philip Augar Rodney Benson Aeron Davis Des Freedman Wayne Hope Ken Jones Bong hyun Lee Colin Leys Andrew McGettigan Michael Moran Aristotelis Nikolaidis Justin Schlosberg Henry Silke Roger Smith Peter Thompson Janine R Wedel Karel Williams Kate Wright Reporting Global while being Local Saumava Mitra, Chris Paterson, 2021-05-10 International news has long been studied and understood as produced by outsiders foreign correspondents working in exotic international locales This book challenges this established view by putting the spotlight on the insiders working in their own countries producing news for international audiences Western male foreign correspondents who report from areas affected by crises and conflicts for an audience back home have long stood in as visible metaphors of international news production But the understanding of who produces international news is starting to shift as scholars come to take into account the often invisible role played by locally based non Western news workers who have always been part and parcel of international news production The roles and responsibilities of these professional specialised locals within the global flow of news have only increased as falling news industry revenues have meant reductions in non local staff in foreign news bureaus Available research shows that the involvement of local journalists and fixers as well as NGOs as sources of news and information in international news production is marked by economic socio cultural and practice related tensions To shed light on these growing yet relatively less investigated changes happening in international news making this book brings together the latest of studies conducted on this form of journalistic labour around the world This book will contribute to both the breadth and depth of our future understanding of local news work that benefits distant audiences and also help cement the place of such journalistic work as a vital topic of analysis in its own right The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Journalism Studies

A Justice-Based Approach for New Media Policy Amit M.

Schejter, Noam Tirosh, 2016-12-04 In this book distributional justice theories developed by John Rawls and Amartya Sen are applied to the governance of today's media proposing a fresh and innovative assessment of the potential role for media in society Three case studies describe the utilization of new media by marginalized communities in Israel Ethiopian immigrants the Bedouin and Palestinians and set the stage for media policy scholars teachers and students to discuss an analytic framework for media policy that is fresh different innovative and original Departing from the utilitarian principles that dominate Western liberal regimes and that have led to the proliferation of media systems in which control is concentrated in the hands of the few this work proposes an alternative that focuses on redistributing power and voice

Misunderstanding the Internet James Curran, Natalie Fenton, Des Freedman, 2012-03-12 The growth of the internet has been spectacular There are now more 1.5 billion internet users across the globe about one quarter of the world's population This is certainly a new phenomenon that is of enormous significance for the economic political and social life of contemporary societies However much popular and academic writing about the internet takes a technologically deterministic view assuming that the internet's potential will be realised in essentially transformative ways This was especially true in the euphoric moment of the mid 1990s when many commentators wrote about the internet with awe and wonderment While this moment may be over its underlying technocentrism the belief that technology determines outcomes lingers on and with it a failure to understand the internet in its social economic and political context Misunderstanding the Internet is a short introduction encompassing the history sociology politics and economics of the internet and its impact on society The book has a simple three part structure

Part 1 looks at the history of the internet and offers an overview of the internet's place in society Part 2 focuses on the control and economics of the internet Part 3 examines the internet's political and cultural influence Misunderstanding the Internet is a polemical sociologically and historically informed textbook that aims to challenge both popular myths and existing academic orthodoxies around the internet

Digital Media and Reporting Conflict Daniel Bennett, 2013-07-18 This book explores the impact of new forms of online reporting on the BBC's coverage of war and terrorism Informed by the views of over 100 BBC staff at all levels of the corporation Bennett captures journalists shifting attitudes towards blogs and internet sources used to cover wars and other conflicts He argues that the BBC's practices and values are fundamentally evolving in response to the challenges of immediate digital publication Ongoing challenges for journalism in the online media environment are identified maintaining impartiality in the face of calls for more open personal journalism ensuring accuracy when the power of the former audience allows news to break at speed and overcoming the limits of the scale of the BBC's news operation in order to meet the demands to present news as conversation While the focus of the book is on the BBC's coverage of war and terrorism the conclusions are more widely relevant to the evolving practice of journalism at traditional media organizations as they grapple with a revolution in publication
