Delirious New Orleans Stephen Verderber, 2009-02-15 Winner Abbott Lowell Cummings Prize Vernacular Architecture Forum 2010 From iconic neighborhoods such as the French Quarter and the Garden District to more economically modest but no less culturally vibrant areas architecture is a key element that makes New Orleans an extraordinary American city Delirious New Orleans began as a documentary project to capture the idiosyncratic vernacular architecture and artifacts vintage mom and pop businesses roadside motels live music clubs neon signs wall murals fast food joints and so on that helped give the city's various neighborhoods their unique character But because so many of these places and artifacts were devastated by Hurricane Katrina Delirious New Orleans has become both a historical record of what existed in the past and a blueprint for what must be rebuilt and restored to retain the city's unique multicultural landscape Stephen Verderber starts with the premise that New Orleans's often overlooked neighborhoods imbue the city with deep authenticity as a place He opens Delirious New Orleans with a photo essay that vividly presents this vernacular architecture and its artifacts both before Katrina and in its immediate aftermath In the following sections of the book which are also heavily illustrated Verderber takes us on a tour of the city's commercial vernacular architecture as well as the expressive folk architecture of its African American neighborhoods. He discusses how the built environment was profoundly shaped by New Orleans's history of race and class inequities and political maneuvering along with its peculiar below sea level geography. Verderber also considers the aftermath of Katrina and the armada of faceless FEMA trailers that have at least temporarily and by default transformed this urban landscape.

Plantations & Historic Homes of New Orleans Jan Arrigo, Laura McElroy, Hurricane Katrina ravaged much of New Orleans in 2005 but thankfully the city's most treasured historic homes survived. Plantations the homes artist Edgar Degas and author William Faulkner lived in during their New Orleans stays and the 1850 House located in the Lower Pontalba building on Jackson Square. Learn about the building's namesake a baroness with a tumultuous family life who managed to escape murder and was also responsible for building the American embassy in Paris. With lavish photographs of exteriors and rooms of special interest gardens and curiosities and detailed information about New Orleans diverse architecture and history this book is both a perfect guide for visitors and natives alike and an enchanting visual tour of one of the greatest cities in the United States.

Vestiges of Grandeur, 1999-10 In an evocative sequel to the acclaimed New Orleans Elegance and Decadence Sexton returns with an in depth visual journey through the hidden mansions some inhabited many now long abandoned of Louisiana's River Road. 200 color photos.

Gardens of New Orleans Jeannette Hardy, Lake Douglas, 2001-02 New Orleans is a gardener's paradise. Fragrant ginger and night blooming jessamine scent the air. Nary a crack in the cement or divot in the wall is free from rogue ferns mosses or draping greenery. For generations residents from wildly varied cultures and sensibilities have been at work creating magnificent gardens throughout the city. New Orleans Gardens explores this rich history and tours public gardens as well as opens the doors to lovingly tended private balcony patio and mansion grounds. Interviews discuss the environmental and cultural forces that shaped the gardens. In photography as sumptuous as his acclaimed New Orleans Elegance and Decadence Richard Sexton vividly illustrates the many traditions interwoven in this bewitching city's landscape heritage.

Building Antebellum New Orleans Tara Dudley, 2021-08-10 The Creole architecture of New Orleans is one of the city's most recognized features but studies of it largely have been focused on architectural typology. In Building Antebellum New Orleans Tara A. Dudley examines the architectural activities and influence of gens de couleur libres free people of color in a city where the mixed race descendants of whites could own property. Between 1820 and 1850 New Orleans became an urban metropolis and industrialized shipping center with a growing population. Amidst dramatic economic and cultural change in the mid antebellum period the gens de couleur libres thrived as property owners developers building artisans and patrons. Dudley writes an intimate microhistory of two prominent families of Black developers the Dollioles and Souli's to explore how gens de couleur libres used ownership engagement and entrepreneurship to construct individual and group identity and stability. With deep archival research Dudley recreates in fine detail the material culture business and social history and politics of the built environment for free people of color and adds new revelatory information to the canon on New Orleans architecture

Captive City Jennie Lightweis-Goff, 2024-12-10 Explores the legacies of slavery in Southern cities along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts Cities are fraught sites in the national imagination turned into identity markers when urban and rural indicate tastes rather than places Cities bring chaos draining the lifeblood of the nation like a tick draws blood from its host to paraphrase Thomas Jefferson's anti urban polemics which might have been written during any election year centuries or months ago Racism and anti urbanism were born conjoined during the Revolution Like their Atlantic coastal counterparts in the US North Southern cities similarly polyglot and cosmopolitan resist the dominant mutually inclusive prejudices of the nation that fails to contain them on its eroding flooding coasts Captive City explores the paths of slavery in coastal cities arguing that captivity haunts the hospitality cultures of Charleston New Orleans Savannah and Baltimore It is not a history of urban slavery but a literary reflection that argues for coastal cities as a distinct region that scrambles time resisting the post in postindustrial and the neo in neoliberalism Jennie Lightweis Goff offers a cultural exploration bound by American literature especially life writing by the enslaved as well as compelling reassessments of works by canonical writers such as Frederick Douglass Harriet Jacobs and Hector St John de Crevecoeur Lightweis Goff reveals how the preserved yet fragile landscapes of these cities are haunted not simply by the ghost tours that are signature stops for travelers in their historic districts but by the echoes of slavery in their economies and built environments
