humankind across time and geography , The Genius of the Beast Howard Bloom, 2010-05-01 Is global capitalism on its last legs Is the era of American leadership over Has the West begun a decline into a new Dark Age Does American civilization deserve to survive These are the unnerving questions raised by the Great Crash of 2009 This book presents a radically new answer insisting that global society has only begun to realize its full potential Author Howard Bloom argues that there's a hidden mandate beneath the surface of capitalism It's struggling to whisper and rumble its message to you and me That hidden imperative can lift us from economic crisis can make us a leader in the next generation economy and can dramatically upgrade our ability to empower our fellow human beings Bloom sees crisis as opportunity opportunity for the whole human race In more than eighty short fast chapters insights appear suddenly like the quick bursts of flashbulbs taking the reader on a sweeping tour of human history from the Stone Age to the present Every chapter conveys a radically new way to see the astonishing mechanism we call Western Civilization Bloom marvels at how humans have turned toxic waste into food and fuel trash into treasure and garbage into gold He shows how we've produced material miracles based on immaterial things passion persistence and fantasy He shows that what many regard as the end is just the beginning The beginning of something you've never before imagined The author explains why the secret to capitalism's next great leap does not lie in new financial tricks but in tapping things right under our noses in radically new ways that is tapping our imagination our desire to feel useful our desire to help others and our desire to be recognized for contributing to the welfare of humanity The key to next generation capitalism lies in a big picture view that's utterly unlike anything you've previously perceived A big picture view that will startle you A big picture view with which you can ignite the world get a new handle on your life and help transform society This brilliant inspirational work of daring ideas and breathtaking research offers more than hope It

Receptor-independent/-associated viral tropism Akio Adachi,Masako Nomaguchi,Mikako Fujita,Yasuyuki Miyazaki,
One of the most important and outstanding characteristics of viruses is their cellular and host tropism As parasitic entities viruses have to compromise with numbers of positive and negative factors present in target cells for their survival In the absence of an appropriate interaction with cells they do not replicate at all Viral tropism can be therefore determined at each replication step from the entry to progeny production in target cells There are two major types of viral tropism that is the receptor dependent and independent tropisms Restriction of viral replication occurs on the cell surface receptor dependent viral entry step and or intracellularly receptor independent post entry replication steps Viruses have acquired some mechanisms through adaptive mutations and or recombinations to counteract a wide variety of cellular restriction factors or to correctly interact with numerous cellular factors necessary for replication They thereby can replicate spread and survive in certain cell lineages tissues organs and finally in host individuals This evolutionary process pressure would have generated profound effects on the biological properties of viruses Recently many cellular anti viral factors with unique action mechanisms in addition to co viral factors have been discovered by extensive studies on molecular genetics of viruses Researches of these factors would lead to the effective clinical applications as well as the increase of basic biological knowledge In this Research Topic we focus on the receptor independent and uniquely associated viral tropism other than the strictly receptor dependent or mediated one By presenting a series of centered articles we describe here the unique properties of various virus species Any types of the tier 1 article would be accepted and included in this Topic The Critic,1898 Critic and Literary World Jeannette Leonard Gilder,Joseph Benson Gilder,1898
