Ovid, 1957 Crusade and Christendom Jessalynn Lea Bird, Edward Peters, James M. Powell, 2013-04-09 Introduction Crusade and Christendom 1187 1291 The Pope Crusades and Communities 1198 1213 Crusade and Council 1213 1215 The Fifth Crusade 1213 1221 The Emperor's Crusade 1227 1229 The Baron's Crusade 1234 1245 The Mongol Crusades 1241 1262 The Saint's Crusades 1248 1270 The Italian Crusades 1241 1268 Living and Dying on Crusade The Road to Acre 1265 1291 Ovid; the Art of Love Ovid, 1929 Dido's Daughters Margaret W. Ferguson, 2007-11-01 Winner of the 2004 Book Award from the Society for the Study of Early Modern Women and the 2003 Roland H Bainton Prize for Literature from the Sixteenth Century Society and Conference Our common definition of literacy is the ability to read and write in one language But as Margaret Ferguson reveals in Dido's Daughters this description is inadequate because it fails to help us understand heated conflicts over literacy during the emergence of print culture The fifteenth through seventeenth centuries she shows were a contentious era of transition from Latin and other clerical modes of literacy toward more vernacular forms of speech and writing Ferguson's aim in this long awaited work is twofold to show that what counted as more valuable among these competing literacies had much to do with notions of gender and to demonstrate how debates about female literacy were critical to the emergence of imperial nations Looking at writers whom she dubs the figurative daughters of the mythological figure Dido builder of an empire that threatened to rival Rome Ferguson traces debates about literacy and empire in the works of Marguerite de Navarre Christine de Pizan Elizabeth Cary and Aphra Behn as well as male writers such as Shakespeare Rabelais and Wyatt The result is a study that sheds new light on the crucial roles that gender and women played in the modernization of England and France The last taboo Karin Lesnik-Oberstein, 2013-07-19 This is the first academic book ever written on women and body hair which has been seen until now as too trivial ridiculous or revolting to write about Even feminist writers or researchers on the body have found remarkably little to say about body hair usually ignoring it completely It would appear that the only texts to elaborate on body hair are guides on how to remove it medical texts on hirsutism or fetishistic pornography on hairy women The last taboo also questions how and why any particular issue can become defined as self evidently too silly or too mad to write about Using a wide range of thinking from gender theory queer theory critical and literary theory history art history anthropology and psychology the contributors argue that in fact body hair plays a central role in constructing masculinity and femininity and sexual and cultural identities It is sure to provide many academic researchers with a completely fresh perspective on all of the fields mentioned above Essays on Troilus and Criseyde Mary Salu, 1991 Each essay opens up new directions without ignoring past critical trends an important guide for new approaches to the text and meaning of Troilus and Criseyde and as such an important contribution to Chaucerian scholarship CHOICE Are we to take the tone from the ending and read the whole poem ironically Or read it sympathetically and dismiss the ending These interesting pieces share a determination to deal thoroughly with what appear

minor aspects of the poem and see if those offer any guide to the whole TIMES LITERARY SUPPLEMENTContributors

Brault,2010-11-01 Feminist Approaches to Early Medieval English Studies Robin Norris,Rebecca Stephenson,Renee Trilling,2025-10-01 Scholarship on early medieval England has seen an exponential increase in scholarly work by and about women over the past twenty years but the field has remained peculiarly resistant to the transformative potential of feminist critique Since 2016 Medieval Studies has been rocked by conversations about the state of the field shifting from MeToo to WhiteFeminism to the purposeful rethinking of the label Anglo Saxonist This volume takes a step toward decentering the traditional scholarly conversation with thirteen new essays by American Canadian European and UK professors along with independent scholars and early career researchers from a range of disciplinary perspectives Topics range from virginity women s literacy and medical discourse to affect medievalism and masculinity The theoretical and political commitments of this volume comprise one strand of a multivalent effort to rethink the parameters of the discipline and to create a scholarly community that is innovative inclusive and diverse Reach without Grasping Louis A. Ruprecht Jr.,2021-11-17 Anne Carson b June 21 1950 in Toronto Canada is one of the most versatile of contemporary classicists poets and translators in the English language In Reach without Grasping Louis A Ruprecht Jr explores the role played by generic transgressions on the one hand and by embodied spirituality on the other throughout Carson s ambitious literary career Where others see classical dichotomies soul versus body classical versus Christian Carson sees connection Like Nietzsche before her Carson decries the images of the Classics as merely bookish and of classicists as disembodied intellects She has brought religious bodily erotics back into the heart of the classical tradition

Love's Remedies Patricia Berrahou Phillippy,1995 Bakhtin are suitable tools for an examination of the Petrarchan lyric and its recantation while at the same time the nature and value of these critical concepts are interrogated Political Aesthetics Karl Axelsson,2019-08-22 Providing a gateway to a new history of modern aesthetics this book challenges conventional views of how art s significance developed in society The 18th century is often said to have involved a radical transformation in the concept of art from the understanding that it has a practical purpose to the modern belief that it is intrinsically valuable By exploring the ground between these notions of art s function Karl Axelsson reveals how scholars of culture made taste morals and a politically stable society integral to their claims about the experience of nature and art Focusing on writings by two of the most prolific men of letters in the 18th century Joseph Addison 1672 1719 and the third Earl of Shaftesbury 1671 1713 Axelsson contests the conviction that modern aesthetic autonomy reoriented the criticism and philosophy originally prompted by these two key figures in the history of aesthetics By re examining the political relevance of Addison and Shaftesbury s theories of taste Axelsson shows that first and foremost they sought to fortify a natural link between aesthetic experience and modern political society The Value of Time in Early Modern English Literature

Tina Skouen, 2017-10-02 The stigma of haste pervaded early modern English culture more so than the so called stigma of print The period s writers were perpetually short on time but what does it mean for authors to present themselves as hasty or slow or to characterize others similarly This book argues that such classifications were a way to define literary value To be hasty was in a sense to be irresponsible but in another sense it signaled a necessary practicality Expressions of haste revealed a deep conflict between the ideal of slow writing in classical and humanist rhetoric and the sometimes grim reality of fast printing Indeed the history of print is a history of haste which carries with it a particular set of modern anxieties that are difficult to understand in the absence of an interdisciplinary approach Many previous studies have concentrated on the period s competing definitions of time and on the obsession with how to use time well Other studies have considered time as a notable literary theme This book is the first to connect ideas of time to writerly haste in a richly interdisciplinary manner drawing upon rhetorical theory book history poetics religious studies and early modern moral philosophy which only when taken together provide a genuinely deep understanding of why the stigma of haste so preoccupied the early modern mind The Value of Time in Early Modern English Literature surveys the period from ca 1580 to ca 1730 with special emphasis on the seventeenth century The material discussed is found in emblem books devotional literature philosophical works and collections of poetry drama and romance Among classical sources Horace and Quintilian are especially important The main authors considered are Robert Parsons Edmund Bunny King James 1 Henry Peacham Thomas Nash Robert Greene Ben Jonson Margaret Cavendish John Dryden Richard Baxter Jonathan Swift Alexander Pope By studying these writers expressions of time and haste we may gain a better understanding of how authorship was defined at a time when the book industry was gradually taking the place of classical rhetoric in regulating writers activities The Classical Outlook ,1955

The Mirror of Love Alan Murray Finlay Gunn,1952 Books in Print ,1991 Woman in the World of Jesus Evelyn Stagg, Frank Stagg, 1978 Women of the Roman Aristocracy as Christian Monastics Anne Ewing Hickey, 1987 The Classical Weekly ,1926 Books in Series, 1876-1949: Authors ,1982
