

Perpetration-Induced Traumatic Stress: The Psychological Consequences of Killing (Psychological Dimensions to War and Peace)

Since the 2003 war in Iraq has generated another flood of combat veterans who must live with the psychological consequences of having killed people, their loved ones and people in the media have become keenly interested in what those consequences are and how to deal with them. Articles and documentaries have relied on the information gathered in this book to help make sense of it. This volume introduces the concept of Perpetration-Induced Traumatic Stress (PITS), is a form of PTSD symptoms caused not by being a victim or rescuer in trauma, but by being an active participant in causing trauma. Sufferers include soldiers, executioners, or police officers, where it is socially acceptable or even expected for them to kill. Compared to the more widely understood PTSD, there appears to be greater severity and different symptom patterns for those affected by PITS. Obvious differences to be explored for those who kill include questions of context, guilt, meaning, content of dreams, and sociological questions, leading to special implications for therapy, research into the causality of PTSD, and violence prevention efforts. Disciplines including sociology, public policy, history, philosophy, and theology will also find applications for this groundbreaking material.

Why We Kill Nancy Loucks, Sally Smith Holt, Joanna R. Adler, 2013-01-11 Infanticide serial killings war terrorism abortion honour killings euthanasia suicide bombings and genocide all involve taking of life Put most simply all involve killing one or more other people Yet cultural context influences heavily how one perceives all of these and indeed some readers of this paragraph may already have thought But surely that doesn't belong with those others that s not really killing Why We Kill examines violence in many of its manifestations exploring how culture plays a role in people s understanding of violent action From the first chapter which tries to understand multiple forms of domestic homicide including infanticide filicide spousal homicide and honour killings to the final chapter s bone chilling account of the massacre at Murambi in Rwanda this fascinating book makes compelling reading

Post-Conflict Reconstruction Neil Ferguson,2010-10-12 Violence and conflict are two of the greatest challenges the world will face in this millennium Indeed since the turn of the century it is estimated that approximately four million people have died as a result of armed conflict Ending these seemingly intractable conflicts is a priority for global stability However the signing of the peace accord or the ending of formal hostilities does not automatically bring a return to normality in these fractured societies In practice it is more likely that these fractured societies will face a period in the twilight between war and peace a time when the world turns its attention to new problems and seemingly more pressing matters leaving the country to struggle towards peace and a new social order The book s contributors deal with the challenges faced in creating the foundations for the development of a positive peace from a variety of multi disciplinary perspectives such as development studies politics psychoanalysis psychology sports studies and neuroscience This breadth of perspectives offers innovative insights into the grey space between war and peace which is home to millions of people across the globe and explores interventions which aim to create the conditions for positive post conflict reconstruction

Healing Haunted Histories Elaine Enns,Ched Myers,2021-02-01 Healing Haunted Histories tackles the oldest and deepest injustices on the North American continent Violations which inhabit every intersection of settler and Indigenous worlds past and present Wounds inextricably woven into the fabric of our personal and political lives And it argues we can heal those wounds through the inward and outward journey of decolonization The authors write as and for settlers on this journey exploring the places peoples and spirits that have formed and deformed us They look at issues of Indigenous justice and settler response ability through the lens of Elaine s Mennonite family narrative tracing Landlines Bloodlines and Songlines like a braided river From Ukrainian steppes to Canadian prairies to California chaparral they examine her forebearers immigrant travails and trauma settler unknowing and complicity and traditions of resilience and conscience And they invite readers to do the same Part memoir part social historical and theological analysis and part practical workbook this process invites settler Christians and other people of faith into a discipleship of decolonization How are our histories landscapes and communities haunted by continuing Indigenous dispossession How do we transform our colonizing self perceptions lifeways and structures And how might we practice restorative solidarity with Indigenous communities today

The Third Harmony Michael N. Nagler, 2020-03-31 In the latest fruit of a brilliant career Michael Nagler argues that nonviolence not just as a tactic but as a way of being is the only way to unite deeply divided people and enable progressive movements and leaders of all stripes to fulfil their promise and potential So many of the problems that beset us war poverty isolation and the climate crisis have their roots in an old story about the universe we are purposeless matter in a random void and scarcity competition and violence are inevitable Citing the convergence of modern science and the essence of the world s wisdom traditions Michael Nagler argues for a new story the universe is conscious and purposeful humans are spiritual beings and cooperation and collaboration are our natural way of interacting This new story has had other champions but Nagler is the first to realize that a piece is missing For the new story to take hold we have to embrace nonviolence not only as a social change tactic but as a way of life Nonviolence is the only power strong enough to move the heart toward this deep and revolutionary change in worldview Nagler refers to this as the third harmony which is the harmony within and among us to resolve the crisis of the human image Calling on us to realize the urgency of nonviolence for resolving our personal and collective problems Nagler focuses on how to shift to our story on a personal everyday level and then integrate it into the very foundations of our understanding of humanity and community for our sake for the sake of future generations and the sake of nonviolence itself

Killing Jeff Sparrow, 2009-07-01 How hard is it to kill as a hunter on a Kangaroo cull as a worker in an abattoir as an executioner in a prison as a soldier at war Ninety years after World War I police in a Victorian country town uncover the mummified head of a Turkish soldier a bullet ridden souvenir brought home from Gallipoli by a returning ANZAC The macabre discovery sets Jeff Sparrow on a quest to understand the nature of deadly violence How do ordinary people whether in today s wars or in 1915 learn to take a human life How do they live with the aftermath These questions lead Sparrow through history and across Australia and the USA talking to veterans and slaughtermen executioners and writers about one of the last remaining taboos Compassionate
