Community Engagement in Higher Education W.

James Jacob, Stewart E. Sutin, John C. Weidman, John L. Yeager, 2015-06-17 There seems to be renewed interest in having universities and other higher education institutions engage with their communities at the local national and international levels But what is community engagement Even if this interest is genuine and widespread there are many different concepts of community service outreach and engagement The wide range of activity encompassed by community engagement suggests that a precise definition of the community mission is difficult and organizing and coordinating such activities is a complex task This edited volume includes 18 chapters that explore conceptual understandings of community engagement and higher education reforms and initiatives intended to foster it Contributors provide empirical research findings including several case study examples that respond to the following higher education community engagement issues What is the community and what does it need and expect from higher education institutions Is community engagement a mission of all types of higher education institutions or should it be the mission of specific institutions such as regional or metropolitan universities technical universities community colleges or indigenous institutions while other institutions such as major research universities should concentrate on national and global research agendas and on educating internationally competent researchers and professionals How can a university be global and at the same time locally relevant Is it or should it be left to the institutions to determine the scope and mode of their community engagement or is a state mandate preferable and feasible If community engagement or community service are mandatory what are the consequences of not complying with the mandate How effective are policy mandates and university engagement for regional and local economic development What are the principal features and relationships of regionally engaged universities Is community engagement to be left to faculty members and students who are particularly socially engaged and locally embedded or is it or should it be made mandatory for both faculty and students How can community engagement be better integrated with the other two traditional missions of the university research and teaching Cover image The Towering Four fold Mission of Higher Education by Natalie Jacob

City Comp Bruce McComiskey, Cynthia Ryan, 2012-02-01 This is the first full length collection in composition studies to tell the story of teaching and writing in urban universities in cities such as Birmingham Pittsburgh Chicago San Francisco Las Vegas Atlanta and Detroit Bruce McComiskey and Cynthia Ryan visit the fascinating history of various urban universities to illustrate how specific writing programs and instructors have engaged in the changing missions and priorities of their institutions The authors address the complex interwoven components of city comp the identities of individuals and institutions that contribute to the writing of verbal visual and spatial texts the spaces that serve as resources for student writing analysis and critique and the curriculum practices implemented in programs that attempt to help students recognize and in some cases transform their understandings of the cities in which they live learn and compose

Handbook of Theory and Practice of Sustainable Development in Higher Education Walter Leal Filho, Constantina Skanavis, Armin da Paço, Judy Rogers, Olga Kuznetsova, Paula Castro, 2016-11-23 This Handbook approaches sustainable development in higher education from an integrated perspective addressing the dearth of publications on the subject It offers a unique overview of what universities around the world are doing to implement sustainable development i e via curriculum innovation research activities or practical projects and how their efforts relate to education for sustainable development at the university level The Handbook gathers a wealth of information ideas best practices and lessons learned in the context of executing concrete projects and assesses methodological approaches to integrating the topic of sustainable development in university curricula Lastly it documents and disseminates the veritable treasure trove of practical experience currently available on sustainability in higher education

Promise and Betrayal John I. Gilderbloom, R. L. Mullins Jr., 2012-02-01 Traditionally institutions of higher education have been viewed as the gateway to a better future despite the fact that so many of the neighborhoods surrounding them have been filled with hopelessness and despair In Promise and Betrayal the authors want nothing less than to start a revolution in higher education calling on partnerships between town and gown to create sustainable urban neighborhoods John I. Gilderbloom and R. L. Mullins Jr. detail how higher education institutions can play an important role in helping to revitalize our poor neighborhoods by forming partnerships with public private and nonprofit groups They advocate leaving the ivory tower and supplying the community with expert knowledge as well as creative and technical resources

Ethnography Unbound Stephen Gilbert Brown, Sidney I. Dobrin, 2012-02-01 These provocative new essays redefine the goals methods and assumptions of qualitative and ethnographic research in composition studies making evident not only the crucial importance of ethnographic research but also its resilience As Ethnography Unbound makes evident critical ethnographers are retheorizing their methodologies in ways that both redefine ethnographic practices and values and at the same time have begun to liberate ethnographic practices from the often disabling stronghold of postmodern critique Showing how ethnography works through dialogic processes and moves toward political ends this collection opens the doors to rethinking ethnographic research in composition studies

Reforming Medical Education Winton U. Solberg, 2009 The University of Illinois College of Medicine has its origins in the 1882 opening of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago In 1897 the College of Physicians and Surgeons became affiliated with the University of Illinois and began a relationship that endured its fair share of trials successes and even a few bitter fights In this fact filled volume Winton U Solberg places the early history of the University of Illinois College of Medicine in a national and international context tracing its origins crises and reforms through its first tumultuous decades Solberg discusses the role of the College of Medicine and the city of Chicago in the historic transformation from the late nineteenth century when Germany was the acknowledged world center of medicine and the germ theory of disease was not yet widely accepted to 1920 by which time the United States had emerged as the leader in modern medical research and education With meticulous scholarship and attention to detail this volume chronicles the long and difficult struggle to achieve that goal Reconceptualizing Faculty Development in Service-Learning/Community Engagement Becca Berkey, Emily Eddins Rountree, Patrick M. Green, Cara Meixner, 2023-07-03 The role of educational developer in the realm of service learning and community engagement S LCE is multidimensional Given the potentially transformational nature for both faculty and students of the experiences and courses in whose design they may be directly or indirectly involved as well as their responsibility to the communities served by these initiatives they have to be particularly attentive to issues of identity values and roles As both practitioners and facilitators they are often positioned as third space professionals This edited volume provides educational developers and community engagement professionals an analysis of approaches to faculty development around service learning and community engagement Using an openly self reflective approach the contributors to this volume offer an array of examples and models as well as realistic strategies to empower readers to evolve their faculty development efforts in service learning and community engagement on their respective campuses It is also a call for recognition that the practice of S LCE needs to be institutionalized and improved The book further addresses the field s potential contributions to scholarship such as the scholarship of teaching and learning SoTL publicly engaged scholarship and collaborative inquiry among others The case studies provide an outline of program models and promising practices including an authentic analysis of the institutional context within which they operate the positionality of the practitioner scholars overseeing them the resources required and the evidence related to both successes and challenges of these approaches The contributed chapters are organized under four themes the landscape of faculty development and community engagement models of faculty development in S LCE challenges and opportunities in pedagogy and partnerships and engendering change in educational development
