Whiplash injuries, and damage to the neck from seemingly little impact.

Back injuries, herniated disks, and especially damage to the lumbar spine.

Broken bones and fractures all over the body, depending on the circumstances of the crash.
