African Bargaining Power with China Christina Seyfried,2023-06-26 This book provides a detailed account of the political economy around investment deal negotiations between African governments and private Chinese investors The book draws on evidence from experiments and hundreds of interviews with policy makers and Chinese investors across Nigeria South Africa Kenya Ethiopia and Tanzania It shows that governments of authoritarian or one party dominant states which are among the top receivers of Chinese investments are able to easily and successfully act collectively to impose human capital and technology transfer requirements The book argues that rather than treating African countries as price takers in the face of increasing Chinese influence in the continent we should instead recognise the significant bargaining leverage that many African governments have to influence deal conditions especially with smaller private Chinese companies It demonstrates that several African governments can instead act as price setters and that the success of the rising Chinese presence in Africa and whether this leads to positive or negative development outcomes fundamentally depends on the development strategies that individual African governments decide on In the context of an often polarised debate the original research presented in this book has important implications for the future economic development strategies of African countries As such it will be of interest to researchers working on Chinese and African investment politics institutions business economics and international relations OECD Economic Outlook, Volume 2018 Issue 1
