Online Social Story Revised Expanded Anniversary:

New Social Story Book Carol Gray, 2016-07-22 Since the early 90s Carol Gray's world famous Social Stories™ have helped thousands of children with autism spectrum disorders This 15th Anniversary Edition of her best selling book offers ready to use stories that parents and educators have depended on for years with new sections added Additions include how to most effectively use and apply the stories how to improve the lives of younger children and Social Stories™ for teens and adults with autism Developed through years of experience these strategically written stories explain social situations in ways children and adults with autism understand while teaching social skills needed to be successful at home school work and in the community A Social Story™ accurately describes a context skill achievement or concept according to 10 defining criteria These criteria guide Story research development and implementation to ensure an overall patient and supportive quality and a format voice content and learning experience that is descriptive meaningful and physically socially and emotionally safe for the child adolescent or adult with autism The criteria define what a Social Story™ is and the process that researches writes and illustrates it Social Stories™ may be described as an effective and meaningful approach to support social understanding but the ultimate and deeper goal is to empower children and older people by enhancing their understanding of social situations and social encounters in their lives and thereby supporting their ability to be active participants in life's routines and activities The effective use of Social Stories™ goes even further it allows practitioners and parents to build trusting relationships through their support Ultimately the overarching goal of Social Stories™ is this to help people to be self determined confident and competent individuals Storytelling, Special Needs and Disabilities Nicola Grove, 2021-12-30 Now in a fully revised and updated second edition this innovative and wide ranging book shows how storytelling can open new worlds for individuals with special educational needs and disabilities Providing a highly accessible combination of theory and practice the contributors to this book define their own approaches to inclusive storytelling describing the principles and theory that underpin their practice whilst never losing sight of the joy at the heart of their work Topics include therapeutic storytelling language and communication interactive and multi sensory storytelling and technology Each chapter includes top tips and signposts further training for practitioners who want to start using stories in their own work making this book a crucial and comprehensive guide to storytelling practice with diverse learners This new edition has been fully updated to reflect the way in which this field of storytelling has grown and developed uses a broad range of chapters structured in a way that guides the reader through the conceptualisation of a storytelling approach towards its practical application includes an additional chapter sharing the lived experiences of storytellers who identify as having a disability Full of inspiring ideas to be used with people of all ages and with a range of needs this book will be an invaluable tool for education professionals as well as therapists youth workers counsellors and theatre practitioners working in special education Using Storytelling to Support Children and Adults with Special Needs Nicola Grove, 2013 This wide ranging book shows teachers and other educational professionals how to engage in highly creative approaches to the use of story which can be centred around myths and legends personal stories life stories or stories created by children themselves and highlights how storytelling can open new worlds for children with or without special educational needs The Comprehensive Autism Planning System (CAPS) Shawn Henry, Brenda Smith Myles, 2024-08-06 The Comprehensive Autism Planning System for Individuals CAPS is a reflection of its creator In his role as a state and national leader Shawn Henry serves as an advocate for autistic individuals Shawn and co author Brenda Smith Myles clearly describe each element of the CAPS model in a well organized text Throughout the book the authors and expert contributors highlight a variety of evidence based strategies that correspond to each area of the CAPS The CAPS model illustrates their ability to create meaningful change through realistic and practical means It s a simple yet powerful system This innovative approach helps teachers and educational teams plan and implement a student s education across the school including the Individualized Education Program IEP and the curriculum relevant to the student It takes the team through the process of planning out the goals objectives to be targeted in each activity of the day the modifications and accommodations that should be provided to support the student in each activity the sensory supports needed to help the student stay engaged and the communication and social supports for successful learning It shows the type of data to collect for each area and helps to note what reinforcers have been shown to be successful While this system was developed for use with individuals on the autism spectrum it can also be an essential tool for any student regardless of the types of supports and needs they have There are also vocational and transitional formats that are available for students making the transition to work The CAPS has been updated to address current trends in special education instruction and research In this edition emphasis is placed on Inclusion Successful practices that support learning for autistic students Updated evidence based practices and case studies that apply the CAPS system to post secondary education and employment Through the CAPS autistic individuals have access to meaningful instruction that will allow them to reach their potential Success on the Spectrum Emily Wiskera, Anna Smith, Tina Sue Fletcher, Lynda Wilbur, Francis Yong Chen, 2024-01-04 The role of arts and cultural institutions is changing Once viewed as stewards of objects institutions are increasingly upheld as stewards of people spaces where the diversity of human experience is asserted explored and celebrated As such they function as public resources and should be equally accessible to all members of diverse communities Individuals with autism spectrum disorder account for a significant portion of the community Advocates are working to shift attitudes and nomenclature with terms such as neurodiversity and sensory friendly becoming more commonplace With this cultural institutions are putting effort into creating tailored programs and resources to welcome neurodiverse visitors who have historically been excluded from these spaces Despite their desire to connect many cultural workers fear they lack the expertise or resources needed to effectively create inclusive spaces and experiences This book s content is presented by museum educators arts administrators occupational therapists and school psychologists contributors with different expertise and perspectives on the stakes of cultural arts experiences for neurodiverse visitors We offer advice based on what has worked for us and share the sometimes difficult lessons learned along the way However this advice comes with the caution there is no one size fits all solution To be truly successful arts and cultural institutions must respond to their unique community and work within the resources and limitations of their institution Our practical goals for the reader are threefold To understand the value of programming for neurodiverse visitors and effectively communicate this to others To build a toolkit of strategies and resources for neurodiverse visitors to have successful visits to cultural institutions no matter the staff size budget or current stages of accessibility To develop evaluation strategies to gauge the impact of offerings for neurodiverse visitors with results that help the reader improve grow and refine for the future

Seeing and Believing Ellen T. Armour,2023-07-04 Social media platforms are often denounced as bubbles or echo chambers In this view what we see tends to reinforce what we already believe and what we already believe shapes what we see Yet social movements such as Black Lives Matter rely heavily on the widespread dissemination of digital photographs and videos through social media In at least some cases visual images can challenge normative and normalized ways of grasping the world and prompt their viewers to see differently and even bring people together Seeing and Believing marshals religious resources to recast the significance of digital images in the struggle for social justice Ellen T Armour examines what distinguishes digital photography from its analogue predecessor and places the circulation of digital images in the broader context of virtual visual cultures She explores the challenges and opportunities that visually saturated social media landscapes present for users and organizers Despite the power of digital platforms and algorithms possibilities for disruption and resistance emerge from how people engage with these systems Armour offers ways of seeing drawn from Christianity and found in other religious traditions to help us break with entrenched habits and rethink how we engage with the images that grab our attention Developing theological perspectives on the power and peril of photography and technology Seeing and Believing provides suggestions for navigating the new media landscape that can spark what Armour calls photographic insurrection

Coaching and Supervising Through Bereavement Julia Menaul,Maggie João,2022-10-17 This book presents a pragmatic guide for coaches and supervisors working with grief and bereavement providing both useful case studies and practical techniques to aid professionals in embracing the complexity of working with these topics in a coaching context Coaching and Supervising Through Bereavement clearly delineates the boundary between bereavement issues requiring specialist counselling and normal bereavement topics within coaching It addresses how to coach clients through all different forms of bereavement not just through death but also other losses such as job loss and relationship loss and enables coaches to shine a light on their own bereavement journeys for the benefits of themselves and their clients The authors also offer a guide for coaching supervisors to aid the ethical and emotional support required for their own supervisees and themselves This book debunks the myth that bereavement should not be discussed in coaching and so will be a valuable resource for any practicing coach or supervisor of all levels of experience or expertise
