Citizenship, Belonging, and Nation-States in the Twenty-First Century Nicole Stokes-DuPass,Ramona Fruja,2017-07-15 Citizenship Belonging and Nation States in the Twenty First Century contributes to the scholarship on citizenship and integration by examining belonging in an array of national settings and by demonstrating how nation states continue to matter in citizenship analysis Citizenship policies are positioned as state mechanisms that actively shape the integration outcomes and experiences of belonging for all who reside within the nation state This edited volume contributes an alternative to the promotion of post national models of membership and emphasizes that the most fundamental facet of citizenship a status of recognition in relationship to a nation state need not be left in the relic galleries of an allegedly outdated political past This collection offers a timely contribution both theoretical and empirical to understanding citizenship nationalism and belonging in contexts that feature not only rapid change but also levels of entrenchment in ideological and historical legacies

Transnational Generations in the Arab Gulf States and Beyond Kyoko Matsukawa,Akiko Watanabe,Zahra R. Babar,2023-12-01 This book examines the recent migration phenomenon in the Arab Gulf states for work and residence It sheds light on the transnationality of diverse groups of migrants from different generations and unpacks how migrants multiple senses of belonging orientations and adaptive strategies have shaped contemporary migration in the Gulf region In turn the analysis presented here shows how the Arab Gulf states citizenship and educational policies affect second generation migrants in particular Through a series of fine grained ethnographic case studies the authors demonstrate the ways in which these second generation migrants construct their identities in relation to their putative home country in the Gulf as well as their complex relationship to their parents countries of origin This is what underpins the deeply transnational character of their lives choices and notions of belonging While migration scholars often situate these groups as temporary this does not in fact capture the reality of temporariness for the migrants themselves their children or their dependants The result is a complex and ongoing construction of identity that shapes the way of life for millions of migrants Relevant to scholars of migration and international studies particularly focused on the Middle East Transnational Generations in the Arab Gulf States and Beyond is also of interest to social scientists researching student mobility in higher education intergenerational families identity politics and globalisation

FULLY HUMAN Lindsey Kingston, 2019-03-06 Lindsey N Kingston critically considers how inequalities related to citizenship and recognition impact one's ability to claim fundamental human rights As a remedy she proposes the ideal of functioning citizenship which requires an active and mutually beneficial relationship between the state and the individual and necessitates the opening of political space for those who cannot be neatly categorized Ultimately Fully Human contends that we uncover limitations built into our current international system but also begin to envision a path toward the realization of human rights norms founded on universality and inalienability

Global Finance in the 21st Century Steve Kourabas, 2021-09-28 Global Finance in the 21st Century Stability and Sustainability in a Fragmenting World explains finance and its regulation after the global financial crisis The book introduces non finance scholars into the wider debate regarding the conduct and regulation of finance to encourage broader discussion on important societal issues that relate to finance The book also explores the ineffectiveness of the current approach to global prudential governance and places this discussion within the more expansive context of global governance and nationalism in the twenty first century The book argues that fragmentation and the growing trend of promoting informality and voluntarism has facilitated a return to nationalism as a primary form of global governance that acts contrary to post crisis reforms that seek to promote stability and sustainability in the conduct of finance As a remedy Kourabas suggests that we need more not less of what we have traditionally conceived as international law treaties and treaty based international organisations In the field of finance this means not only pursuing financial liberalisation through free trade and investment treaties but also the inclusion of provisions in these treaties that promotes systemic financial stability and sustainable development objectives Of interest to legal and non legal academics and students legal professionals and policy makers this book offers a nuanced defence of international law as an approach to global governance in finance and beyond as well as reform of international law to meet the needs of twenty first century society

Immigration Policy in the Age of Punishment Philip Kretsedemas, David C. Brotherton, 2018-04-10 The events of 2016 catapulted immigration policy to the forefront of public debate and Donald Trump's administration has signaled a harsh turn in enforcement Yet the deportation detention and border control policies that North American and European countries have embraced are by no means new In this book sociologists David C Brotherton and Philip Kretsedemas bring together an interdisciplinary group of contributors to reconsider the immigration policies of the Obama era and beyond in terms of a decades long age of punishment Immigration Policy in the Age of Punishment takes a critical interdisciplinary and transnational look at current issues surrounding immigration in the U S and abroad It examines key features of this age of punishment connecting neoliberal governance global labor markets and the national obsession with securing borders to explain critical research and theory on immigration enforcement Contributors document the continuities between presidential administrations and across countries from many perspectives with chapters discussing Canada Australia France the UK the Dominican Republic and Mexico in addition to the U S They offer macro level analyses of deportations and border enforcement analyses of national policy and jurisprudence and ethnographic accounts of the daily life experience of the prison to deportation pipeline the making of deportability and post deportation transitions for noncitizens This book highlights new directions in critical immigration policy and enforcement and deportation studies with the aim of problematizing the age of punishment that currently reigns over borders and those who seek to cross them

Citizenship and Intercultural Dialogue Christine Laton, 2018-07-17 In the wake of tragic terrorist attacks in Western Europe so called parallel communities have come under increased scrutiny and pressure to be engaged and integrated in the politics and society of the country of settlement In this context the tools of intercultural dialogue and citizenship have been proposed to bridge the gap between majority and minority communities Yet how are these concepts understood on the ground This book explores perceptions of citizenship and intercultural dialogue among minority youth in Berlin and London chosen for their contrasting citizenship and immigration policies Germany has a strong ethnic heritage and the presence of a large minority community from Turkey The policies and relationship with the Turkish community have often served to perpetuate cultural and ethnic boundaries their presence overshadowing the numerous other ethnicities living within Germany In the UK the large presence of immigrants of Afro Caribbean and Asian descent often dominates centre stage in a much more territorially defined political context while the needs and demands of smaller communities are not commonly known Nonetheless these smaller communities shape and even offer unique insights into the way that local contexts interact with international and transnational structures. It is argued that in both cities minority youths communicated feelings and experiences of marginalization and contestation generally feeling a sense of belonging to their local neighbourhoods but not to broader society. The book explores the process of valuing the idea that a value is put on an immigrant according to their desirability or undesirability based on ethnicity or skills. Furthermore, it assesses the role of education as a mediator between state and society. By arguing that local engagement has international ramifications and highlighting the importance of the role of youth in international politics, this book offers a new perspective on International Relations and Diaspora Studies.

Beyond Citizenship and the Nation-State Jocelyn M. Boryczka, Sarah M. Surak, 2023-06-05. Beyond Citizenship and the Nation State examines tensions between a push for clear boundaries defining nation states and who legitimately belongs in them and a pull away from citizenship as capturing what membership in a political community looks like in the twenty-first century. Borders signify and represent these physical and metaphorical challenges in a world where anti-migration and anti-refugee rhetoric are central to the production and reproduction of postcolonial and nationalist political discourse and identity formation. With an expansive view of citizenship, authors challenge dominant narratives, explore alternatives to neoliberal frameworks, and link theory and practice through participatory opportunities for non-citizen political participation. In doing so, they present possibilities for reimagining citizenship for a just, more sustainable future. This book will appeal to academics and practitioners working in the disciplines of Sociology, Social Policy, Human Geography, Political Sciences, Citizenship Studies, and Migration Studies. It was originally published as a special issue of New Political Science.
