Innovative Language Teaching Practices in Higher Education in a Post-COVID Era Androulla Athanasiou, Stavroulla Hadjiconstantinou, Maria Christoforou, 2024-12-18 Innovative Language Teaching Practices in Higher Education in a Post-COVID Era is a comprehensive and timely exploration of how the COVID-19 pandemic, technological advancements, and socio-economic shifts have dramatically altered the landscape of language teaching in higher education (HE). In response to the global COVID-19 pandemic, educators around the world have been forced to re-evaluate and reinvent traditional teaching practices. The shift from face-to-face instruction to online and hybrid learning was swift and transformative, creating both opportunities and challenges for educators, students, and institutions alike. This book critically engages with this new reality, offering insights, research, and strategies that address the evolving needs of language education in HE. The pandemic-induced transition to remote learning has highlighted the resilience and adaptability of educators, as well as the critical role of digital technologies in teaching. The contributors to this volume reflect on these significant changes and investigate how language educators have responded to this new paradigm, exploring key themes including the rise of Computer-Assisted Language Learning (CALL), the integration of Project-Based Language Learning (PBL), flipped classrooms, Virtual Exchange (VE), and reflective practices like journaling. This edited volume underscores the importance of digital literacy fostering autonomy and preparing students for global professional environments advocating for reform in teacher education and intercultural competence building Through a collection of empirical research studies case analyses and practical examples this book presents a wide ranging perspective on the future of language teaching and the integration of innovative practices that will shape HE in the coming years The Adobe Illustrator CS Wow! Lesser-Known Languages of South Asia Anju Saxena,Lars Borin,2008-08-22 The increasing globalization and centralization in the world is threatening the existence of a large number of smaller languages In South Asia some locally dominant languages e g Hindi Urdu Nepali are gaining ground beside English at the expense of the lesser known languages Despite a long history of stable multilingualism language death is not uncommon in the South Asian context We do not know how the language situation in South Asia will be affected by modern information and communication technologies Will cultural and linguistic diversity be strengthened or weakened as they become increasingly prevalent in all walks of life This volume brings together areas of research that so far do not interact to any significant extent traditional South Asian descriptive linguistics and sociolinguistics documentary linguistics issues of intellectual and cultural property and fieldwork ethics and language technology Researchers working in the areas of documentary linguistics and language technology have become aware of each other in the last few years and of how work in the other area could be potentially useful in furthering their own aims Similarly the insights of documentary linguistics are making their way into descriptive linguistics and sociolinguistics However the potential for synergy among these areas of research is almost limitless This volume provides the reader not so much with a do it yourself recipe for applying modern technology to the problem of language shift in South Asia today but rather with some basic knowledge about the problems involved and some directions from which solutions could be forthcoming a toolbox rather than a blueprint for helping to shape the linguistic future of South Asia
