Irish Materialisms Colleen Taylor, 2023-12-08 Irish Materialisms The Nonhuman and the Making of Colonial Ireland 1690 1830 is the first book to apply recent trends in new materialist criticism to Ireland It radically shifts familiar colonial stereotypes of the feminized racialized cottier according to the Irish peasantry's subversive entanglement with nonhuman materiality Each of the chapters engages a focused case study of an everyday object in colonial Ireland coins flax spinning wheels mud and pigs to examine how each object's unique materiality contributed to the colonial ideology of British paternalism and afforded creative Irish expression The main argument of Irish Materialisms is its methodology of reading literature through the agency of materiality and nonhuman narrative in order to gain a more egalitarian and varied understanding of colonial experience Irish Materialisms proves that new materialism holds powerful postcolonial potential Through an intimate understanding of the materiality Irish peasants handled on a daily basis this book presents a new portrait of Irish character that reflects greater empowerment resistance and expression in the oppressed Irish than has been previously recognized

Material Agency Carl Knappett, Lambros Malafouris, 2008-12-15 Agency is a key theme that cross cuts a wide raft of disciplines in the humanities social sciences and beyond yet it is invariably discussed separately behind closed disciplinary doors Within archaeology agency has been characterized as a uniquely human attribute and a means of incorporating individual intentionality into theoretical discourse In other domains however notions of non human and material agency have been finding currency and it is our aim to introduce some of these themes into archaeology and develop a non anthropocentric approach to agency It is anticipated that such a perspective will not only help us achieve more convincing interpretations of the past giving a more active role to material culture but also throw new light on the changing role of artifacts in the present and the future This book is a groundbreaking attempt to address questions of non human and material agency from a wide range of perspectives and disciplines archaeology anthropology sociology cognitive science philosophy and economics The editors and authors demonstrate that a distributed relational approach to agency incorporating both humans and artifacts has understanding of the complex interplay of philosophical socio cultural and literary discourses that shaped British fiction in the later Hanoverian decades Berndt's book demonstrates that novels have conceived the modern individual not in opposition to but in interaction with society continuing Enlightenment debates about how to share the lives and the experiences of others and the case of Patty Hearst Lemov also studies how the idea of mind control has spread across the globe and penetrated courtrooms secret labs military schools and today s digital sites The Instability of Truth offers lessons from mind control episodes past and present Truth is always subject to question in more mundane walks of life than most people believe and Lemov equips us for the increasing challenges we face from social media AI and an unprecedented global form of surveillance capitalism The Instability of Truth develops a rigorous new understanding of both brainwashing s paradoxes and its emotional roots by giving voice to brainwashers the brainwashed and third party observers alike

Jewish, Christian, and Muslim Travel Experiences Susanne Luther,Pieter B. Hartog,Clare E. Wilde,2023-10-04 Travel and pilgrimage have become central research topics in recent years Some archaeologists and historians have applied globalization theories to ancient intercultural connections Classicists have rediscovered travel as a literary topic in Greek and Roman writing Scholars of early Judaism Christianity and Islam have been rethinking long familiar pilgrimage practices in new interdisciplinary contexts This volume contributes to this flourishing field of study in two ways First the focus of its contributions is on experiences of travel Our main question is How did travelers in the ancient world experience and make sense of their journeys real or imaginary and of the places they visited Second by treating Jewish Christian and Islamic experiences together this volume develops a longue dur e perspective on the ways in which travel experiences across these three traditions resembled each other By focusing on experiences of travel we hope to foster interaction between the study of ancient travel in the humanities and that of broader human experience in the social sciences TechnoScienceSociety Sabine Maasen,Sascha Dickel,Christoph Schneider,2020-07-01 This book introduces the term of TechnoScienceSociety to focus on the ongoing technological reconfigurations of science and society It aspires to use the breadth of Science and Technology Studies to perform a critical diagnosis of our contemporary culture Instead of constructing technology as society s other the book sets out to highlight the both complex and ambivalent entanglements of technologies sciences and socialities It provides some tentative steps towards a diagnosis of a society in which individuals and organizations address themselves their pasts presents futures hopes and problems in technoscientific modes Technosciences redesign matter life self and society However they do not operate independently Technoscientific practices are deeply socially and culturally constituted The diverse contributions highlight the ongoing technological reconfigurations of rationalities infrastructures modes of governance and publics The book aims to inspire scholars and students to think and analyze contemporary conditions in new ways drawing on and expanding the toolkits of Science and Technology Studies Transitional Justice and the Politics of Inscription Joseph

Robinson,2017-08-04 Taking Northern Ireland as its primary case study this book applies the burgeoning literature in memory studies to the primary question of transitional justice how shall societies and individuals reckon with a traumatic past Joseph Robinson argues that without understanding how memory shapes moulds and frames narratives of the past in the minds of communities and individuals theorists and practitioners may not be able to fully appreciate the complex emotive realities of transitional political landscapes Drawing on interviews with what the author terms memory curators coupled with a robust analysis of secondary literature from a range of transitional cases the book analyses how the bodies of the dead the injured and the traumatised are written into or written out of transitional justice The author argues that scholars cannot appreciate the dynamism of transitional memory space unless they first engage with the often silenced or marginalised voices whose memories remain trapped behind the antagonistic politics of fear and division Ultimately challenging the imperative of national reconciliation the author argues for a politics of public memory that incubates at multiple nodes of social production and can facilitate a vibrant democratic debate over the ways in which a traumatic past can or should be remembered
