Reimagining God and Resacralisation Alexa Blonner, 2019-05-14 This book shows that widespread resacralisation has been taking place which is producing new ways of perceiving God and the divine The last century has seen unmistakable changes in religious practices and the concept of spirituality right across the world There was a broad expectation for much of the twentieth century that religious worldviews would eventually succumb to the challenge of secularist materialism but this process of secularisation has yet to occur as predicted The book begins by contrasting theories of secularisation and resacralisation Throughout the book conceptual threads or new religious themes related to this resacralisation are discussed in terms of three main categories reimagining God's nature substance and location reimagining human value and purpose and reimagining modes of redemption Finally the book considers how these threads are moving in various different directions and what the religious future might hold This is a bold examination of contemporary spirituality that will appeal to academics and scholars of religious studies new religious movements and the sociology of religion A-Z of Spirituality

Postcolonial Images of Spiritual Care Emmanuel Y. Lartey, Hellena Moon, 2020-09-23 This anthology is about caring for all persons as a part of the revolutionary struggle against colonialism in its many forms In recognition of the varied ways in which different forms of oppression injustice and violence in the world today are traceable to the legacy and continuing effects of colonialism various authors have contributed to the volume from diverse backgrounds including differing ethnic identities religious and cultural traditions gender and sexual orientations as well as communal and personal realities As a postcolonial critique of spiritual care it highlights the plurality of voices and concerns that have been overlooked or obscured because of the politics of race religion sexuality nationalism and other structures of power that have shaped what discursive spiritual care entails today Postcolonial Images of Spiritual Care presents voices of practical and pastoral theologians academics spiritual care providers religious leaders students and activists working to provide greater intercultural spiritual care and awareness in the areas of healthcare community work and education The volume as such expands the discourse of spiritual care and participates in the ongoing paradigm shifts in the field of pastoral and practical theology Reforming the Monastery Greg Peters, 2013-11-12 Richard Froude wrote in 1833 to John Henry Newman that the present state of things in England makes an opening for reviving the monastic system Seemingly original words at the time Yet monasticism is one of the most ancient and enduring institutions of the Christian church reaching its zenith during the High Middle Ages Although medieval monasteries were regularly suppressed during the Reformation and the magisterial Reformers rejected monastic vows the existence of monasticism has remained within the Reformation churches both as an institution and in its theology

This volume is an examination of Protestant theologies of monasticism examining the thought of select Protestant authors who have argued for the existence of monasticism in the Reformation churches beginning with Martin Luther and John Calvin and including Conrad Hoyer John Henry Newman Karl Barth and Donald Bloesch Looking at the contemporary church the current movement known as the New Monasticism is discussed and evaluated in light of Protestant monastic history

A Constructive Critique of Religion Mia Lövheim, Mikael Stenmark, 2020-02-06 Why do some strategies for critique of religion seem to be more beneficial for constructive engagement whereas others increase intolerance polarization and conflict Through an analysis of the reasons underpinning a critique of religion in institutional contexts of secular democratic societies A Constructive Critique of Religion explores how constructive interaction and critique can be developed across diverse interests It shows how social and cultural conditions shaping these institutions enable and structure a critical and constructive engagement across diverging worldviews A key argument running through the book is that to develop constructive forms of critique a more thorough and systematic investigation of resources for criticism located within religious worldviews themselves is needed Chapters also address how critique of Islam and Christianity in particular is expressed in areas such as academia the law politics media education and parenting with a focus on Northern Europe and North America The interdisciplinary approach which combines theoretical perspectives with empirical case studies contributes to advancing studies of the complex and contentious character of religion in contemporary society

Knox, 2016-05-10 Sacro Egoism The Rise of Religious Individualism in the West discusses the relationship between secularization participation in religious practices and belief and the emergence of radical individualized expressions of faith in the West Using McMinnville Oregon as a case study it presents the data collected and analyzed from several churches denominations and spiritual settings in that unassuming town and compares it to the results of Heelas and Woodhead's Spiritual Revolution project arriving at a provocative conclusion Rather than abandoning Christianity for alternative spirituality practices McMinnville citizens still feel strongly about their Christian faith taking their spiritual walk to a more personal level than ever before in church history Utilizing both quantitative and qualitative research along with personal stories of faith and exploration from McMinnville residents themselves Sacro Egoism The Rise of Religious Individualism in the West tells a story of radical individualists who have become the highest religious authority in their lives even over the church the Bible and traditional Christian society Learning in a Musical Key Lisa M. Hess, 2011-09-15 Learning in a Musical Key examines the multidimensional problem of the relationship between music and theological education Lisa Hess argues that in a delightful and baffling way musical learning has the potential to significantly alter and inform our conception of the nature and process of theological learning In exploring this exciting intersection of musical learning and theological training Hess asks two probing questions First What does learning from music in a performative mode require Classical modes of theological education often founder on a dichotomy between theologically musical and educational discourses It is extremely difficult for many to see how the perceivedly nonmusical learn from music Is musicality a universally human potential In exploring this question Hess turns to the music learning theory of Edwin Gordon which explores music's unique mode of teaching learning its primarily aural oral mode This challenge leads to the study's second question How does a theologian in the disciplinary sense integrate a performative mode into critical discourse Tracking the critical movements of this problem Hess provides an inherited transformational logic as a feasible path for integrating a performative mode into multidimensional learning This approach emerges as a distinctly relational embodied multidimensional and non correlational performative mode theology that breaks new ground in the contemporary theological landscape As an implicitly trinitarian method rooted in the relationality of God this non correlational method offers a practical theological contribution to the discipline of Christian spirituality newly claimed here as a discipline of transformative teaching learning through the highly contextualized and self implicated scholar into relationally formed communities and ultimately into the world

Rediscovering a Ministry of Health Helen A. Wordsworth,2015-02-20 It is not possible to look at the ministry of Jesus without noticing his concern for the poor and the sick He not only had a huge sense of compassion for people who were suffering but sent people out to heal the sick and tell them the Kingdom of God is near them This concern for health and wholeness has inspired Christians through the ages as they have cared for the sick founded hospitals and been at the forefront of public health movements In the nineteenth century the church was one of the major influencers in initiating ministries of health both through the work of its own deaconesses and the involvement of its members as they felt a sense of vocation to nursing and public health work Florence Nightingale was a theologian and statistician as well as being a nurse leader However with the advent of state health provision and private health insurance schemes the role of the local church in health has diminished This book describes a simple way for churches to re engage with health ministry and presents evidence that underlines not only a Biblical authenticity for its place in the mission of a local church but also a compelling rationale for its implementation It will be of interest to church leaders and all those involved in health care
