Of Hospitality Cultural Memory In The Present:

Materiality and the Modern Cosmopolitan Novel Alan McCluskey, 2015-10-07 In this work Alan McCluskey explores materialism in its many conceptual forms in the contemporary cosmopolitan novel. The author applies a cosmopolitan materialist lens to the novels of Caryl Phillips, J. M. Coetzee, and Philip Roth, three contemporary authors who hail from different parts of the world and produce highly dissimilar novels. "If Then the World a Theatre Present..." Björn Quiring, 2014-08-19 To metaphorize the world as a theatre has been a common procedure since antiquity, but the use of this trope became particularly prominent and pregnant in early modern times, especially in England. Old and new applications of the theatrum mundi topos pervaded discourses, often allegorizing the deceitfulness and impermanence of this world, as well as the futility of earthly strife. It was frequently woven into arguments against worldly amusements, such as the stage. Commercial theatre was declared an undesirable competitor of God's well-ordered world drama. Early modern dramatists often reacted to this development by appropriating the metaphor, and in an ingenious twist, some playwrights even appropriated its anti-theatrical impetus. Early modern theatre seemed to discover a denial of its own theatricality at its very core. Drama was found to succeed best when it staged itself as a great unmasking. To investigate the reasons and effects of these developments, the anthology examines the metaphorical uses of theatre in plays, pamphlets, epics, treatises, legal proclamations, and other sources. Ghost Writing in Contemporary American Fiction David Coughlan, 2016-11-05 This book examines representations of the specter in American twentieth and twenty-first century fiction. David Coughlan's innovative structure has chapters on Paul Auster, Don DeLillo, Toni Morrison, Marilynne Robinson, and Philip Roth, alternating with shorter sections detailing the significance of the ghost in the philosophy of Jacques Derrida, particularly within the context of his 1993 text Specters of Marx. Together, these accounts of phantoms, shadows, haunts, spirit, the death sentence, and hospitality provide a compelling theoretical context in which to read contemporary US literature. Ghost Writing in Contemporary American Fiction argues at every stage that there is no self, no relation to the other, no love, no home, no mourning, no future, no trace of life without the return of the specter that is without ghost writing. Cultural Political Economy Jacqueline Best, Matthew Paterson, 2010-01-21 This book examines the multitude of ways in which the political, the cultural, and the economic interconnect and intersect, and provides case studies focusing on finance, tourism, contemporary business discourse, the war on terror, and migration. (In)Hospitable Encounters in Chicanx and Latinx Literature, Culture, and Thought Maria Antònia Oliver-Rotger, Pere Gifra-Adroher, 2024-10-17 This volume addresses the notion of in-hospitality in the culture, literature, and thought of Chicanx and Latinx in the United States. It underscores those stranger others against whom nativist fear and state violence are directed: undocumented migrants, refugees, and asylum seekers. Critical analyses focus on the topics of immigration and state violence, hospitality in written and visual narratives, and the role of hospitality in the translation of academic and literary works. All essays explore the conditional character of hospitality towards Chicanx and

Latinx and its attending myths and discourses Dwelling on the predicament that individuals and groups face as strangers unwelcome guests and unwilling hosts the essays also explore the ways in which Chicanx and Latinx writers artists and filmmakers may or may not challenge the guest host relationship The ethical concern that runs through the volume considers material history and the institutional disciplinary regulation of the uncertainty of hospitality acts as factors determining the narratives about foreign others

The Stranger and the Chinese Moral Imagination Haiyan Lee, 2014-11-12 In the last two decades China has become a dramatically more urban society and hundreds of millions of people have changed residence in the process Family and communal bonds have been broken in a country once known as a society of kith and kin There has been a pervasive sense of moral crisis in contemporary China and the new market economy doesn t seem to offer any solutions This book investigates how the Chinese have coped with the condition of modernity in which strangers are routinely thrust together Haiyan Lee dismisses the easy answers claiming that this moral crisis is merely smoke and mirrors conjured up by paternalistic overwrought leaders and scholars or that it can be simply chalked up to the topsy turvy of a market economy on steroids Rather Lee argues that the perception of crisis is itself symptomatic of a deeper problem that has roots in both the Confucian tradition of kinship and the modern state management of stranger sociality This ambitious work is the first to investigate the figure of the stranger foreigner peasant migrant bourgeois intellectual class enemy unattached woman animal across literature film television and museum culture Lee s aim is to show that hope lies with a robust civil society in which literature and the arts play a key role in sharpening the moral faculties and apprenticing readers in the art of living with strangers In so doing she makes a historical comparative and theoretically informed contribution to the on going conversation on China s un civil society

In Praise of New Travelers Isabel Hoving, 2001 Approaching postcolonial theory through cultural analysis this book offers an accessible and concrete appraisal of current developments in postcolonial criticism Detailed readings of a range of Anglophone Caribbean migrant women's texts from the late 1980s and 1990s lead to sharp insights into three issues that are crucial to an understanding of the field place voice and silence The discussion of these issues allows us to trace current feminist postmodern and postcolonial debates about the nature of the speaking subject as it is emerging from today's postcolonial cultural practices Postcolonial criticism often understands this subject as hybrid and multiple This book shows how the specifics of this multiplicity must be acknowledged through analysis of the power structures and the violence through which this multiple subject is established The book is also a consistent inquiry into reading positions The argument about the differences between postcolonialist black and Caribbean feminist white feminist and postmodern criticism is conducted as a discussion about the effects insights and blindnesses produced by these different ways of reading Caribbean migrant women's writing Scrutinizing the grain of these texts encourages us to move beyond the kind of general statements for which postcolonial theory has been severely criticized The author also extends her critique of reading positions to issues of methodology using these approaches to direct her interpretation Narratology is supplemented by an analysis of the interdiscursive processes through which texts are created and psychoanalytic concepts are used to explore the ambiguous merits of postcolonial reading Above all In Praise of New Travelers celebrates the vigorous subversive and liberating creativity of an accomplished generation of Caribbean migrant women writers

Milton and the Post-Secular Present Feisal Mohamed, 2011-08-09 Our post secular present argues Feisal Mohamed has much to learn from our pre secular past Through a consideration of poet and polemicist John Milton this book explores current post secularity an emerging category that it seeks to clarify and critique It examines ethical and political engagement grounded in belief with particular reference to the thought of Alain Badiou Jacques Derrida Jürgen Habermas and Gayatri C Spivak Taken to an extreme such engagement produces the cult of the suicide bomber But the suicide bomber has also served as a convenient bogey for those wishing to distract us from the violence in Western and Christian traditions and for those who would dismiss too easily the vigorous iconoclasm that belief can produce More than any other poet Milton alerts us to both anti humane and liberationist aspects of belief and shows us relevant dynamics of language by which such commitment finds expression
