Online Book Snap Matters Well Being Studies Inequality:

SNAP Matters Judith Bartfeld, Craig Gundersen, Timothy Smeeding, James P. Ziliak, 2015-11-25 In 1963 President Kennedy proposed making permanent a small pilot project called the Food Stamp Program FSP By 2013 the program's fiftieth year more than one in seven Americans received benefits at a cost of nearly 80 billion Renamed the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP in 2008 it currently faces sharp political pressure but the social science research necessary to guide policy is still nascent In SNAP Matters Judith Bartfeld Craig Gundersen Timothy M Smeeding and James P Ziliak bring together top scholars to begin asking and answering the questions that matter For example what are the antipoverty effects of SNAP Does SNAP cause obesity Or does it improve nutrition and health more broadly To what extent does SNAP work in tandem with other programs such as school breakfast and lunch Overall the volume concludes that SNAP is highly responsive to macroeconomic pressures and is one of the most effective antipoverty programs in the safety net but the volume also encourages policymakers students and researchers to continue examining this major pillar of social assistance in America

Social Prescribing - E-Book Heather Henry, 2024-08-27 Social prescribing the connection of people to communities services and activities to meet their practical social and emotional needs has become an increasingly important element of healthcare policy As debate intensifies over an appropriate national model this new book provides the first comprehensive overview of the entire concept of social prescribing Social Prescribing Paradigms Perspectives and Practice pulls together arguments evidence and resources to define social prescribing and analyze how it can change lives It considers a range of paradigms for improving health and wellbeing through social approaches and provides real life examples of where the theory has been realized in practice The book is well balanced and easy to understand making it ideal for healthcare practitioners researchers and policy makers who are interested in exploring the potential of social prescribing for improving health and wellbeing Editor Heather Henry is former chair of New NHS Alliance now The Health Creation Alliance CIC which influences national health strategy and policy on health inequalities and wellbeing Her NHS career in primary care as both a practising Queen's Nurse and NHS director combined with her experience of the voluntary community and social enterprise sector ideally qualifies her to curate and interpret a wide range of contributions from household names to seldom heard voices Presents a balanced approach to the current debates and critiques of social prescribing Summarises the main arguments with supporting evidence and resources Covers the history and current policy and provides a detailed analysis of the evidence base around how social prescribing can improve wellbeing Offers different paradigms and models of social prescribing including concepts around power control relationships economics recognizing strengths and assets managing complexity and enabling self organisation Includes perspectives from an impressive list of contributors from eminent thought leaders like Professor Sir Michael Marmot and Lord Gus O Donnell to local leaders citizens and voices from all levels in the system Extends beyond health and care to other sectors that impact the social determinants of health including urgent and emergency services housing and education Uses accessible language throughout suitable for anyone from system leaders to researchers educators practitioners and students Family Policy Matters

Karen Bogenschneider,2024-02-23 This new edition captures the evolving post pandemic landscape of family policy the transformational changes that have occurred within contemporary families and the social economic and racial ethnic disparities that have grown across families The book draws on policies from around the globe to make an evidence based case for family policy and its contributions to families and to society Bogenschneider tackles a significant challenge of our times the polarization of politics including why it occurs and how professionals can bridge the divide Beyond the basics the book provides best practices for turning analysis into action by drawing on cutting edge research and a point of view often overlooked in policy books the voice of policymakers themselves Imbued with hope yet fundamentally realistic

Bogenschneider applies a relationship based and strikingly nonpartisan approach for those who want to make a positive difference for families whether they engage local policymakers in towns cities and counties state national lawmakers or decision makers in businesses nonprofits and philanthropy Accompanied by updated web based teaching materials and a family impact toolkit this is core reading for undergraduate and or graduate courses in family or social policy taught in human development and family studies psychology counseling social work sociology public policy political science and education It is also essential reading for professionals and policymakers interested in pursuing better public policy for families in all their diversity across the lifespan Social Inequality Heather M. Fitz Gibbon,Anne M. Nurse,Charles E.

Hurst,2019-07-02 Like past editions this tenth edition of Social Inequality Forms Causes and Consequences is a user friendly introduction to the study of social inequality This book conveys the pervasiveness and extensiveness of social inequality in the United States within a comparative context to show how inequality occurs how it affects all of us and what is being done about it This edition benefits from a variety of changes that have significantly strengthened the text The authors pay increased attention to disability intersectionality immigration religion and place This edition also spotlights crime and the criminal justice system as well as health and the environment The tenth edition includes a new chapter on policy alternatives and venues for social change Children of Austerity Bea Cantillon,Yekaterina Chzhen,Sudhanshu Handa,Brian

Nolan,2017-04-07 The 2008 financial crisis triggered the worst global recession since the Great Depression Many OECD countries responded to the crisis by reducing social spending Through 11 diverse country case studies Belgium Germany Greece Hungary Ireland Italy Japan Spain Sweden United Kingdom and the United States this volume describes the evolution of child poverty and material well being during the crisis and links these outcomes with the responses by governments The analysis underlines that countries with fragmented social protection systems were less able to protect the incomes of households with children at the time when unemployment soared In contrast countries with more comprehensive social protection cushioned the impact of the crisis on households with children especially if they had implemented fiscal stimulus packages at the onset of the crisis Although the macroeconomic shock itself and the starting positions differed greatly across countries while the responses by governments covered a very wide range of policy levers and varied with their circumstances cuts in social spending and tax increases often played a major role in the impact that the crisis had on the living standards of families and children

Getting Real About Inequality Cherise A. Harris, Stephanie M. McClure, 2022-01-07 Getting Real About Inequality is a contributed reader for undergraduate courses in Race Class Gender Social Inequality or the Social Construction of Difference and Inequality It gives instructors in these courses a set of materials to help them moderate civil productive and social science based discussions with their students about social statuses and identities Like the book it is modeled after Getting Real About Race it is organized around myths and stereotypes that students might already believe or be familiar with through the media or popular culture A panel of expert contributors were enlisted to write short accessible essays address the same questions What is the myth or stereotype under investigation How do we know that the myth or stereotype is widespread What does the empirical data tell us and provide the same pedagogical features a summary of the research data discussion questions suggestions for further study suggested activities and assignments All of pieces in the book employ an intersectional perspective to help students see the nuanced mechanisms of power and inequality that are often lost in everyday discourse

The Economic Other Meghan Condon, Amber Wichowsky, 2020-09-22 Economic inequality is at a record high in the United States but public demand for redistribution is not rising with it Meghan Condon and Amber Wichowsky show that this paradox and other mysteries about class and US politics can be solved through a focus on social comparison Powerful currents compete to propel attention up or down toward the rich or the poor pulling politics along in the wake Through an astute blend of experiments surveys and descriptions people offer in their own words The Economic Other reveals that when less advantaged Americans compare with the rich they become more accurate about their own status and want more from government But American society is structured to prevent upward comparison In an increasingly divided anxious nation opportunities to interact with the country's richest are shrinking and people prefer to compare to those below to feel secure Even when comparison with the rich does occur many lose confidence in their power to effect change Laying bare how social comparisons drive political attitudes The Economic Other is an essential look at the stubborn plight of inequality and the measures needed to solve it

Government-Citizen Disconnect Suzanne Mettler, 2018-07-03 Americans relationship to the federal government is paradoxical Polls show that public opinion regarding the government has plummeted to all time lows with only one in five

saying they trust the government or believe that it operates in their interest Yet at the same time more Americans than ever benefit from some form of government social provision Political scientist Suzanne Mettler calls this growing gulf between people's perceptions of government and the actual role it plays in their lives the government citizen disconnect In The Government Citizen Disconnect she explores the rise of this phenomenon and its implications for policymaking and politics Drawing from original survey data which probed Americans' experiences of 21 federal social policies such as food stamps Social Security Medicaid and the home mortgage interest deduction Mettler shows that 96 percent of adults have received benefits from at least one of them and that the average person has utilized five Overall usage rates transcend social economic and political divisions and most Americans report positive experiences of their policy experiences However the fact that they have benefited from these policies has little positive effect on people's attitudes toward government Mettler finds that shared identities and group affiliations as well as ideological forces are more powerful and consistent influences In particular those who oppose welfare tend to extrapolate their unfavorable views of it to government in general Deep antipathy toward the government has emerged as the result of a conservative movement that has waged a war on social welfare policies for over forty years even as economic inequality and benefit use have increased Mettler finds that voting patterns exacerbate the government citizen disconnect as those holding positive views of federal programs and supporting expanded benefits have lower rates of political participation than those holding more hostile views of the government As a result the loudest political voice belongs to those who have benefited from policies but who give government little credit for their economic well being seeing their success more as a matter of their own deservingness This contributes to the election of politicians who advocate cutting federal social programs According to Mettler the government citizen disconnect frays the bonds of representative government and democracy The Government Citizen Disconnect illuminates a paradox that increasingly shapes American politics Mettler's examination of hostility toward government at a time when most Americans will at some point rely on the social benefits it provides helps us better understand the roots of today's fractious political climate

Journeys through Emerging Adulthood Alan Reifman, 2022-07-29 Journeys through Emerging Adulthood takes the reader on a tour of contemporary transitions to adulthood reporting on the latest cross national and cross cultural research into young adulthood and separating fact from fiction about this important life phase Alan Reifman shows how today's youth are taking more time to enter traditional adult roles and explores the benefits and disadvantages of this gradual emergence into adulthood This essential textbook navigates the research that reveals the substantial variety in young people's paths to adulthood It covers the spectrum of the young adult experience examining the influence that parents have on their grown children's progress and identity as adults and considering the impact of traditional milestones such as higher education establishing a career forming romantic relationships and becoming a parent It examines key topics including mental health in emerging adults and the likelihood of substance abuse and how young adults might reach out into the community through volunteerism religious involvement and political activism Each section includes examples and studies conducted in a range of countries exploring how the journey to adulthood can vary according to cultural context as well as individual circumstance The book affirms that while there is great variety in how one transitions to adulthood there is no correct path and most people fare well or even thrive in adulthood Featuring end of chapter summaries quizzes and activities Journeys Through Emerging Adulthood provides an accessible yet comprehensive overview of this significant life stage connecting fundamental psychological theories with modern social phenomena Reifman s text is essential reading for both undergraduate and graduate students of psychology human development and sociology as well as students and researchers of any discipline interested in the path to adulthood

Mejias,2019-08-20 Just about any social need is now met with an opportunity to connect through digital means But this convenience is not free it is purchased with vast amounts of personal data transferred through shadowy backchannels to corporations using it to generate profit The Costs of Connection uncovers this process this data colonialism and its designs for controlling our lives our ways of knowing our means of production our political participation Colonialism might seem like a thing of the past but this book shows that the historic appropriation of land bodies and natural resources is mirrored today in this new era of pervasive datafication Apps platforms and smart objects capture and translate our lives into data and then extract information that is fed into capitalist enterprises and sold back to us The authors argue that this development foreshadows the creation of a new social order emerging globally and it must be challenged Confronting the alarming degree of surveillance already tolerated they offer a stirring call to decolonize the internet and emancipate our desire for connection Resources in Education ,2001-04 Should Wealth Be Redistributed? Steven McMullen,James R. Otteson,2022-12-20 A central contested issue in contemporary economics and political philosophy is whether governments should redistribute wealth In this book a philosopher and an economist debate this question James Otteson argues that respect for individual persons requires that the government should usually not alter the results of free exchanges and so redistribution is usually wrong Steven McMullen argues that governments should substantially redistribute wealth in order to ensure that all have a minimal opportunity to participate in economic life Over the course of the exchange the authors investigate a number of important questions Is redistribution properly a question of justice and what is the appropriate standard Has the welfare state been effective at fighting poverty Can we expect government intervention in the economy to be helpful or counterproductive Are our obligations to help the poor best met through government action or through private philanthropy and individual charity The book features clear statements of each argument responses to counterarguments in text definitions a glossary of key terms and section summaries Scholars and students alike will find it easy to follow the debate and learn the key concepts from philosophy politics and economics necessary to understand each position Key Features Offers clear arguments written to be accessible to readers and students without a deep background in economics philosophy or political theory Fosters a deep exchange of ideas with responses from each author to the main arguments Provides in text definitions and a glossary with definitions of key terms Includes section summaries that give an overview of the main arguments and a comprehensive bibliography for further reading

Laboring in the Shadow of Empire Celeste Vaughan Curington, 2024-09-13 Laboring in the Shadow of Empire Race Gender and Care Work in Portugal examines the everyday lives of an African descendant care service workforce that labors in an ostensibly anti racial Europe and against the backdrop of the Portuguese colonial empire While much of the literature on global care work has focused on Asian and Latine migrant care workers there is comparatively less research that explicitly examines African care workers and their migration histories to Europe Sociologist Celeste Vaughan Curington focuses on Portugal a European setting with comparatively liberal policies around family settlement and naturalization for migrants In this setting rapid urbanization in the late twentieth century along with a national push to reconcile work and family has shaped the growth of paid home care and cleaning service industries Many researchers focus on informal work settings where immigrant rights are restricted and many workers are undocumented or without permanent residence status Curington instead examines workers who have accessed citizenship or permanent residence status and also explores African women s experiences laboring in care and service industries in the formal market revealing how deeply colonial and intersectional logics of a racialized and international division of reproductive labor in Portugal render these women hyper invisible and hyper visible as appropriate workers in Lisbon
