English SATs 3-Step Test Booster Reading: York Notes for KS2 Educating Service Children Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2006-09-06 Frequent moves are a feature of Service life and mobility can have a detrimental impact on children's emotional well being and their educational attainment The Committee's report examines issues relating to the education of the children of armed forces service personnel including Service schools overseas and the performance of the Ministry of Defence's agency Service Children's Education SCE which is responsible for providing these schools as well as issues affecting Service children in UK state maintained and independent sector day and boarding schools The Committee concludes that Service personnel deserve assurance that their children's education will not suffer because of their parent's employment and expresses its doubts that the DfES and the MoD currently take the interests of Service children sufficiently into account Findings include the need for better co ordination between the MoD the DfES and the devolved administrations to ensure continuity of education for children moving between different parts of the UK the DfES needs to undertake work to determine how many Service children are in UK schools and the system for transferring student records between schools needs to be improved particularly for Service children with special needs and the MoD should increase the provision of telephones and internet access for Service personnel on operations so that they can communicate with their children The Times Index, 2011 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement Times educational supplement Scotland and the Times higher education supplement SAT Attack Science Phipps, Lloyd, Cynthia Y. Young, 2004-12 Educational Binds of Poverty Ceri Brown, 2014-12-17 Shortlisted for BBC Radio 4's Thinking Allowed's second Ethnography Awards in partnership with the British Sociological Association Educational Binds of Poverty tackles the assumptions made by many recent social and educational policy initiatives suggesting that the best way to improve educational prospects of children in poverty is through an increased emphasis upon a culture of control discipline regulation and accountability In this book Ceri Brown presents these assumptions against a review of the research literature and an original ethnographic longitudinal study into the lives of children in poverty in order to highlight the gap between policy discourses and the lived experiences of children themselves Through the theoretical concept of a set of binds against educational success the book explores four key areas that children in poverty have to navigate if they are to be successful in school These are material deprivation the cultural contexts of school home and the community friendship and social capital the effects of student mobility through atypical school changes In seeking to characterise and explain what life is like for young school children this book questions why policy makers have a radically different frame of reference in purporting to understand how their policies will change the behaviour of those living in poverty This leads onto a consideration of what lessons may be learned in order to contribute towards a more appropriate policy agenda that attends to the multiple binds that children in poverty have to negotiate
