The new fourth edition which includes 55 new entries and 60 revised entries continues to reflect the growing convergence among the disciplines that influence information and the cultural record with coverage of the latest topics as well as classic articles of historical and theoretical importance.

Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent, 1991-07-19. The Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science provides an outstanding resource in 33 published volumes with 2 helpful indexes. This thorough reference set written by 1300 eminent international experts offers librarians, information computer scientists, bibliographers, documentalists, systems analysts and students convenient access to the techniques and tools of both library and information science. Impeccably researched, cross referenced, alphabetized by subject and generously illustrated, the Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science integrates the essential theoretical and practical information accumulating in this rapidly growing field.

Mapping Curricular Reform in Library/information Studies Education Virgil L. P. Blake, 1995. In this book practitioners and educators outline approaches for ensuring that students of library and information science are better prepared to serve a culturally and ethnically diverse public. Mapping Curricular Reform in Library Information Studies Education emphasizes the special need to assure sensitivity to ethnic cultural minorities on the part of all professionals dealing directly with the library's public. The book helps determine the degree to which the curricula of schools of library and information science may need revisions to better prepare those who will serve a clientele far more diverse than that now encountered by information professionals. It highlights the non-response of most ALA accredited schools to the increasingly diverse nature of American society and provides methods for determining the special needs of the community the library information center serves. Mapping Curricular Reform in Library Information Studies Education contains overviews and specific strategies to help readers understand and resolve issues regarding inclusion of and sensitivity to minorities as library students, practitioners and clients. Diverse chapters discuss the link between public education and public libraries, the meaning of multiculturalism in education and its implications for public service institutions, diversity and the role of the library administrator, strategies to identify unique client groups and their information needs, the complexity of serving the Hispanic community, cultural diversity and curriculum in library and information studies, recruitment and retention of minorities in the library profession, problems in recruiting and retaining minority students, perception of libraries/information centers by minorities. This volume also alerts library administrators to the unique problems facing many paraprofessionals who are working toward their professional degrees and the accommodations that may be required to make certain these students will become professionals ready to serve a diverse public Mapping Curricular Reform in Library Information Studies Education is an informative and helpful guide for library and information science educators as well as professionals in all types of libraries as they strive to provide effective services to all groups of people

Brief Tests of Collection Strength Howard D. White,1995-09-26 For purposes of accreditation resource sharing and institutional mission librarians need to assess the strengths of their collections in particular subject areas This book describes and illustrates a brief test for determining a library s collection strength Though such tests are most often employed in academic libraries the methodology outlined by the author should be useful to all types of libraries in assessing the strength of their holdings In a time of increasing material and limited resources libraries need to be particularly judicious in deciding which works to acquire Oftentimes a library seeks to develop strong holdings in one or more subject areas Such an approach is especially useful for libraries that share their resources with other institutions To plan their acquisitions carefully and to be of greatest use to other consortia members a library needs to gauge the strength of its holdings accurately This volume describes and illustrates a relatively brief test to assign libraries a score for existing collection strength in a subject area Drawing upon expert human judgment and holdings data available from OCLC the test can assist librarians in setting and verifying collection levels on the RLG or WLN Conspectus scales Collection strength is often verified in a labor intensive fashion The brief test presented by the author is an economical alternative to the more typical labor intensive approach to collection analysis
