Mrs. Dalloway said she would buy the flowers herself.

agency, quite dull and trivial - DESIRE

CONTEXT: time

For Lucy had her work cut out for her. The doors would be taken off their hinges; Rumpelmayer's men were coming. And then, thought Clarissa Dalloway, what a morning--fresh as if issued to children on a beach.

What a lark! What a plunge! For so it had always seemed to her, when, with a little squeak of the hinges, which she could hear now, she had burst open the French windows and plunged at Bourton into the open air. How fresh, how calm, stiller than this of course, the air was in the early morning; like the flap of a wave; the kiss of a wave; chill and sharp and yet (for a girl of eighteen as she then was) solemn, feeling as she did, standing there at the open window, that something awful was about to happen; looking at the flowers, at the trees with the smoke winding off them and the rooks rising, falling; standing and looking until Peter Walsh said, "Musing among the vegetables?"--was that it?--"I prefer men to cauliflowers"--was that it? He must have said it at breakfast one morning when she had gone out on to the terrace--Peter Walsh. He would be back from India one of these days, June or July, she forgot which, for his letters were awfully dull; it was his sayings one remembered; his eyes, his pocket-knife, his smile, his grumpiness and, when millions of things had utterly vanished--how strange it was!--a few sayings like this about cabbages.

She stiffened a little on the kerb, waiting for Durtall's van to pass. A charming woman, Scope Purvis thought her (knowing her as one does know people who live next door to one in Westminster); a touch of the bird about her, of the jay, blue-green, light, vivacious, though she was over fifty, and grown very white since her illness. There she perched, never seeing him, waiting to cross, very upright.

For having lived in Westminster--how many years now? over twenty.--one feels even in the midst of the traffic, or waking at night, Clarissa was positive, a particular hush, or solemnity; an indescribable pause; a suspense (but that might be her heart, affected, they said, by influenza) before Big Ben strikes. There! Out it boomed. First a warning, musical; then the hour, irrevocable. The leaden circles dissolved in the air. Such fools we are, she thought, crossing Victoria Street. For Heaven only knows why one loves it so, how one sees it so, making it up, building it round one, tumbling it, creating it every moment afresh; but the veriest frumps, the most dejected of miseries sitting on

Sightings Keith Brown, 2008 Keith Brown's literary essays published at intervals over the course of a long career are marked by their engaging flair and independence from intellectual fashion They often explore aspects of the interaction of craftsmanship and ideas that are unnoticed or ignored in the mainstream of critical debate However the full potential of his approach only emerges when these essays are taken together A notable concern of Brown's critical method is to uncover the latent organising principles naturally as various as the author's intentions that lie beneath the surface of any worthwhile extended literary work His sightings reveal the actual contours of literary landscapes seen dimly before

Narrative Skepticism Linda Schermer Raphael, 2001 Using narrative philosophical and psychoanalytic theory Linda S Raphael investigates the development of skepticism in narrative She argues that as authors explore more deeply the inner life of characters their narratives become more skeptical about pinning down what it means to lead a good life This argument is buttressed through a close examination of Jane Austen's Persuasion George Eliot's Middlemarch Henry James's The Wings of the Dove Virginia Woolf's Mrs Dalloway and Karzo Ishiguro's The Remains of the Day

Virginia Woolf, Literary Materiality, and Feminist Aesthetics Amber Jenkins, 2023-09-01 This book interrogates the relationship between the material conditions of Woolf's writing practices and her work as a printer and publisher at the Hogarth Press In bringing to light her embodied literary processes from drafting and composition to hand printing and binding this study foregrounds the interactions between Woolf's modernist experimentation and the visual and material aspects of her printed works By drawing on the field of print culture as well as the materialist turn in Woolf scholarship it explores how her experience in print book design and publishing underlines her experimental writing and how her literary texts are conditioned by the context of their production This book therefore provides new ways of reading Woolf s modernism in the context of twentieth century print material and visual cultures By suggesting that Woolf s work at the Hogarth Press sensitized her to the significant role the visual aspects of a text play in its system of representation it also considers the extent to which materiality informs both her work as well as her engagement with Bloomsbury formalist aesthetics which often exaggerate the distinction between visual and verbal modes of expression

Literary Theory: A Complete Introduction Sara Upstone,2017-05-04 Literary theory has now become integral to how we produce literary criticism When critics write about a text they no longer think just about the biographical or historical contexts of the work but also about the different approaches that literary theory offers By making use of these they create new interpretations of the text that would not otherwise be possible In your own reading and writing literary theory fosters new avenues into the text It allows you to make informed comments about the language and form of literature but also about the core themes concepts such as gender sexuality the self race and class which a text might explore Literary theory gives you an almost limitless number of texts to work into your own response ensuring that your interpretation is truly original This is why although literary theory can initially appear alienating and difficult it is something to get really excited about Imagine you are standing in the centre of a circular room with a whole set of doors laid out around you Each doorway opens on to a new and illuminating field of knowledge that can change how you think about what you have read perhaps in just a small way but also perhaps dramatically and irrevocably You can open one door or many of them The choice is yours Put the knowledge you gain together with your own interpretation however and you have a unique and potentially fascinating response Each chapter in Literary Theory A Complete Introduction covers a key school of thought progressing to a point at which you ll have a full understanding of the range of responses and approaches available for textual interpretation As well as focusing on such core areas as Marxism Modernism Postmodernism Structuralism and Poststructuralism this introduction brings in recent developments such as Eco and Ethical Criticism and Humanisms

Contradictory Woolf Derek Ryan,Stella Bolaki,2012-06-01 Edited collection from acclaimed contemporary Woolf scholars exploring the theme of contradiction in Virginia Woolf s writing

Blake and the Failure of Prophecy Lucy Cogan,2021-05-24 This monograph reorients discussion of Blake s prophetic mode revealing it to be not a system in any formal sense but a dynamic human response to an era of momentous historical change when the future Blake had foreseen and the reality he was faced with could not be reconciled At every stage Blake s writing confronts the central problem of all politically minded literature how texts can become action Yet he presents us with no single or indeed conclusive answer to this question and in this sense it can be said that he fails Blake however never stopped searching for a way that prophecy might be made to live up to its promise in the present The twentieth century hermeneuticist Paul Ricoeur shared with Blake a preoccupation with the relationship between time text and action Ricoeur s hermeneutics thus provide a fresh theoretical framework through which to analyse Blake s attempts to fulfil his prophetic purpose

Returning the Gift Rebecca Colesworthy, 2018-11-10 From debates about reparations to the rise of the welfare state the decades following World War I saw a widespread turn across disciplines to questions about the nature and role of gifts What is a gift What do gifts mean and do Which individuals and institutions have the authority to give Marshalling wide ranging interdisciplinary research Returning the Gift argues that these questions centrally shaped literary modernism The book begins by revisiting the locus classicus of twentieth century gift theory the French sociologist Marcel Mauss s 1925 essay The Gift The Form and Reason for Exchange in Archaic Societies His title notwithstanding the gift Mauss envisions is not primitive or pre capitalist but rather a distinctively modern phenomenon Subsequent chapters offer sustained nuanced readings of novels and nonfiction by Virginia Woolf Jean Rhys Gertrude Stein and H D from the 1920s to 1940s underscoring the ways their writing is illuminated by contemporaneous developments in the social sciences economics and politics while also making a case for their unique contributions to broader debates about gifts Not only do these writers insist that literature is a special kind of gift but they also pose challenges to the gift s feminization in the work of both their Victorian forebears and contemporary male theorists Each of these writers uses tropes and narratives of giving of hospitality sympathy reciprocity charity genius and kinship to imagine more egalitarian social possibilities under the conditions of the capitalist present The language of the gift is not as we might expect a mark of hostility to the market so much as a means of giving form to the society in market society of representing everyday experiences of exchange that the myth of the free market works even now to render unthinkable
